SO FAR RELATIONS MERELY BROKEN OFF

Washington, Aug. 28.—The possibility that Austria and perhaps other allies of Germany may soon declare war against the United States because of the financial aid given to Italy is recognized by administration officials.

It was fully explained today that there is nothing in the existing situation either diplomatic or military that would cause the United States to take the initiative, but that anomalous state of affairs which may result in broadening the war does exist, was not denied.

Relations of the United States with Germany's allies are defined as still a state of broken diplomatic relations. Officials resitated to describe them as unfriendly, although admitting that they could scarcely be called friendly. The policy of extending aid to the countries fighting certain of Germany's allies, without having declared war against Germany will not be continued and it was admitted that Austria or any other ally might perhaps not improbably construe such assistance as a war-like act.

SILENT ON PEACE ANSWER.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Secretary Lansing in response to questions today would neither affirm nor deny that a reply to Pope Benedict's peace proposals had gone forward from the United States. Mr. Lansing's refusal to discuss the subject, however, was not interpreted as meaning that a reply is on its way, because he previously had taken the position that best interests of the United States would be served by no discussion of the subject in the newspapers at this time. It was generally expected that the subject

CONVICT FINDS WAY TO OBTAIN OIL FROM SHALE

Carson City, Nev., Aug. 28.—The discovery of a new process for extracting oil from shale has won a pardon for A. P. Crane, who was serving a term for burglary in the state prison.

Crane devoted all his spare time to chemistry and recently announced that he had found a process by which oil could be extracted from shale at small cost. The warden of the prison called his process to the attention of the government, which sent an expert to investigate.

Crane was granted a pardon by the parole board yesterday in order that he may perfect his process and superintend the erection of an extracting plant. The federal expert informed the parole board that Crane's method of extracting oil from shale will be of almost incalculable value to the government.

HAS SEVEN SONS IN THE SERVICE OF THE ALLIES

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 28.—With seven sons in the service of the allies Mrs. Wm. J. Tysdall, a widow, whose father fought in the Napoleonic wars, and whose husband in the English army, said today she was proud that each one of her sons was fighting against Germany. The self-sacrifices of the mother so impressed another man, Samuel Tarento, who

The board of inquiry appointed by Moody was to hold its first session late this afternoon. Appeals have been sent out through the newspapers for every person with information to report voluntarily to the board of inquiry. The

Summary of the Day's War News

In Flanders the British effected a considerable local improvement in their position yesterday in an attack east of Lombardtzyde. They advanced their line on a front of more than 2,000 yards, establishing themselves further in the third defense system of the Germans on both sides of the St. Julien-Poelcapelle road.

Berlin conceded the British "insignificant gains" in this sector. The Germans were foiled, London reports, in two efforts to drive the British from their positions in the Inverness copse on the Ypres-Menin road.

The French on the Verdun front have reached a pause in their forward movement. Apparently they are preparing for further attacks in the

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—The submarine problem is not insoluble. For the first time since the beginning of the great war, it is possible to make this statement based upon facts and not upon hopes.

It is difficult to write about the progress that already has been made, and with almost absolute certainty will continue to be made in nullifying the submarine menace, because there are certain military secrets involved which must not even be discussed in private, much less be given general publicity.

But no harm can, and much good may, result from giving the widest publicity to the vitally important fact that in the great struggle between the navies of the allied powers and the submarine arm of the German navy, the allied navies now have the upper hand.

What is of equal or greater importance, the new method or technique by which the allies have gained the upper hand, is still in the early stages of its development.

This method has been worked out and is being developed by most laborious and painstaking processes applied

WARRIOR HAILED AS RUSSIA'S SAVIOR

Moscow, Monday, Aug. 27.—The second general sitting of the national conference was held this afternoon. General Korniloff, the commander-in-chief, entered the hall in company with Premier Kerensky. His appearance was the signal for a prolonged and enthusiastic ovation. All the delegates cheered for Russia, the revolutionary government and the army.

Vladimir Naboukoff, a prominent social democrat, speaking in the name of the first duma, declared that the country aimed at the establishment of a strong and independent power, uninfluenced by political parties; a power which, based on democratic principles, would establish obedience to the law, civil liberty and personal security.

The speaker emphasized the absolute necessity of the independence of the high command of the army from every private influence.

M. Naboukoff said the members of the first duma repudiated, with indignation, all thoughts of a separate peace and that, if they were to have peace, they did not desire it to be the result of German victory, but the consequence of the triumph of Russia and her allies.

M. Alexinsky made the same statement in behalf of the second duma.

Korniloff Exposed Situation. Premier Kerensky then introduced Gen. Korniloff, saying the government had thought it necessary to invite the commander in chief to lay before the conference the situation at the front and in the army. General Korniloff

MILITARY NEWS FROM PETROGRAD TO THE ENEMY

Petrograd, Aug. 28.—At the trial for high treason of General Soukhomlinoff, former minister of war, General Ivanoff, former commander in Volhynia and Galicia, testified yesterday he had information showing that military secrets had been communicated directly from Petrograd to Germany and Austria by way of Warsaw. General Velitchko, deputy director of the engineer corps, said he regarded General Soukhomlinoff as having been principally responsible for the defeats of the Russian army. As soon as he was appointed minister of war, the witness testified, he suppressed various councils created for the purpose of discussing questions of national defense.

SHADLE RESIGNS.

Nickel Plate Yardmaster at Bellevue to Quit.

G. F. Shadle will retire from the office of general yardmaster at Bellevue September 1, because of failing health. He states that he may remain in the service of the company in another capacity, but the condition of his health will not permit him to longer handle the arduous work of general yardmaster. He held that position fourteen years and was in the road train service a long time. His total years service with the company amounting to thirty-one years. He is well known and well liked by all the trainmen running in and out of Bellevue. It is not known outside of official Nickel Plate circles who will succeed Mr. Shadle.

GOING INTO PERMANENT HOME.

The tinsmith department of the General Electric works, of which S. A. Bickel is the foreman, is preparing to move into the basement of the new Wall street building, No. 19, which is being fitted for the permanent home of the department. It recently moved from the basement of the storehouse building, now the rifle target indoor range, to the first floor of building No. 12, and the move next week will probably be the last it will make. Foreman Bickel has thirty-five men now, and with facilities for accommodating more his force will be increased from time to time.

HIRED FIFTEEN MEN.

All of the departments of the General Electric works are expanding, but none is at present making more rapid growth than is the force employed in the transformer department, under Foreman F. S. Walburn, where there are now 275 men on the pay rolls. Saturday and Monday fifteen men were added to the pay rolls. They were P. Towman, C. E. Hudson, Oscar Hinkle, Willis Heiber, Frank Foughty, M. J. Welker, Clifford Freeborn, George Engelking, P. J. Baker, George Pratt, Clyde Mertimore, Glenn Hooper, Harvey Shevington and A. H. Linenmeyer.

LABORERS SCARE EVERY- WHERE.

The efforts of Agent E. H. Kirkland and other Pennsylvania men to secure laborers in other cities to come here to work in the company's warehouse, have practically failed of results, indicating that other cities are as badly in need of this kind of labor as is Fort Wayne. Agent Kirkland says that the Pennsylvania is paying the best wages for freight house help in Fort Wayne in the history of the plant and is guaranteeing good men steady employment. Forty men are needed at the warehouse.

SMASHED A MILK WAGON.

Westbound Broadway limited, on the Pennsylvania, struck and demolished a milk wagon on one of the crossings at Bucyrus, Ohio, this morning. The horse escaped. A witness said that the driver was not in the wagon, being in the act of delivering milk in a nearby house, and that the horse started for the next stop, which happened to be on the opposite side of the railroad. The milkman had just started on the trip and had all his cans and bottles filled with milk. It was spilled over the right-of-way for a half square.

One who wish to preserve your youthful vim and vigor to a ripe old age, you must supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron-Nuxated Iron-just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt.

Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of the City of Chicago, says: "I have taken Nuxated Iron myself and experienced its health-giving and strength-building effect, and in the interest of public welfare I have a duty to make known the results of its use. I am well past my threescore years, and want to say that I believe my own great physical activity is largely due today to my personal use of Nuxated Iron. From my own experience with Nuxated Iron I feel it is such a valuable remedy that it ought to be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician in this country."

Dr. H. Sauer, a Boston physician who has studied abroad in great European medical institutions, said: "Senator Mason is right. As I have said a hundred times over, organic iron is the greatest of all strength builders."

"Not long ago a man came to me who said he was a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of twenty and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact, a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret, he said, was taking organic iron-Nuxated Iron had filled him with renewed life. At thirty he was in bad health; at forty-six he was care-worn and nearly all in. Now at fifty, after taking Nuxated Iron, a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth, iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change your food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how good or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale, and sickly looking; just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jacques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron, I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

NOTE-Nuxated Iron, which was used by Senator Mason with such surprising results and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine and secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists, and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians both in Europe and America. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most palatable and pleasant form of indigestion as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The name is Nuxated Iron.

New York, Aug. 28.—In reference to a published cable dispatch received yesterday from London stating that the Daily Mirror announced the marriage of Miss Gertrude Langtry and Lance Corporal Loquell, of the Canadian army, and describing Miss Langtry as the adopted daughter of Frederick W. Vanderbilt, of New York, denial was made today by Mr. Vanderbilt that Miss Langtry is his adopted daughter. He said he had no adopted daughter and had never heard of Miss Langtry.

Former United States Senator Mason, Pioneer in Pure Food and Drugs Legislation, Father of Rural Free Delivery System Says Nuxated Iron

Increased His Power and Endurance so Much, That He Feels It Ought to Be Made Known to Every Nervous, Run-down, Anaemic Man, Woman and Child.

Opinions of Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author; Dr. Schuyler C. Jacques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York; and Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of the City of Chicago.

What Senator Mason Says

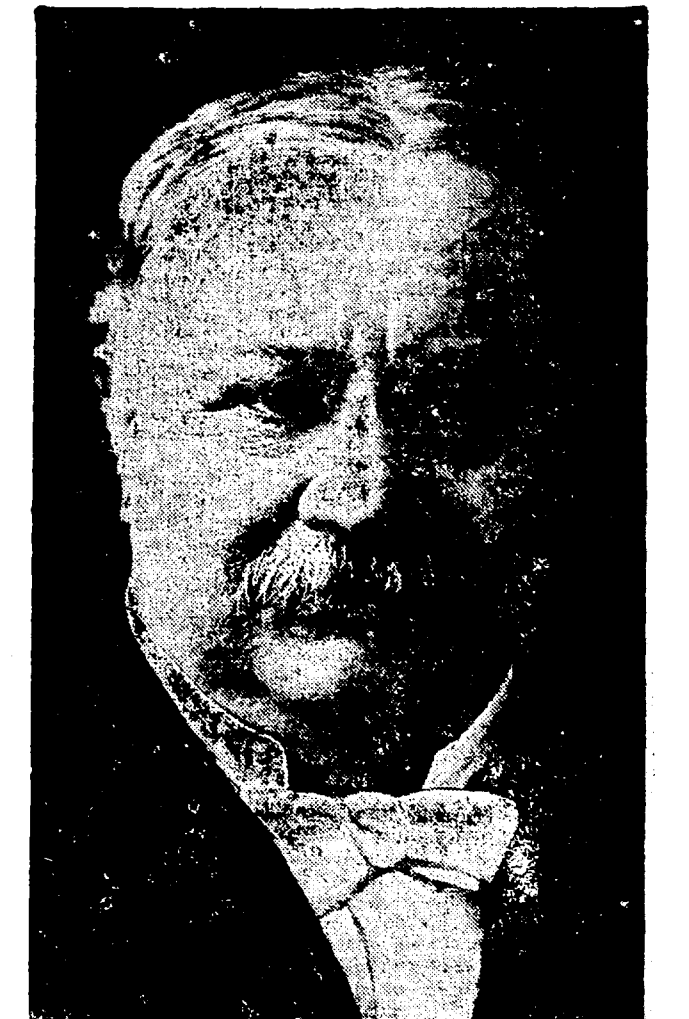

CHICAGO, ILL.

GENTLEMEN:

I have often said I would never recommend medicine of any kind. I believe that the doctor's place. However, after the hardest political campaign of my life, without a chance for a vacation, I had been starting to court every morning with that horrible tired feeling one cannot describe. I was advised to try Nuxated Iron. As a pioneer in the pure food and drug legislation, I was at first loath to try an advertised remedy, but after advising with my medical friends, I gave it a test. The results have been so beneficial in my own case, I made up my mind to let my friends know about it, and you are at liberty to publish this statement if you so desire. I am now 65 years of age and I feel that a remedy which will build up the strength and increase the power of endurance of one at my age, should be known to the world.

Your very truly,

Wm. R. Mason.

Senator Mason's statement in regard to Nuxated Iron was shown to several physicians who were requested to give their opinions thereon.

Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author, said: "I heartily endorse Senator Mason's statement in regard to Nuxated Iron. There can be no vigorous iron men without iron. Pallor means anemia. Anemia means iron deficiency. The skin of anemic men and women is pale; the flesh flabby; the muscles lack tone; the brain fags, and the memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, despondent and melancholy."

One who wish to preserve your youthful vim and vigor to a ripe old age, you must supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron-Nuxated Iron-just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt."

Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of the City of Chicago, says: "I have taken Nuxated Iron myself and experienced its health-giving and strength-building effect, and in the interest of public welfare I have a duty to make known the results of its use. I am well past my threescore years, and want to say that I believe my own great physical activity is largely due today to my personal use of Nuxated Iron. From my own experience with Nuxated Iron I feel it is such a valuable remedy that it ought to be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician in this country."

Dr. H. Sauer, a Boston physician who has studied abroad in great European medical institutions, said: "Senator Mason is right. As I have said a hundred times over, organic iron is the greatest of all strength builders."

"Not long ago a man came to me who said he was a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of twenty and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact, a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret, he said, was taking organic iron-Nuxated Iron had filled him with renewed life. At thirty he was in bad health; at forty-six he was care-worn and nearly all in. Now at fifty, after taking Nuxated Iron, a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth, iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change your food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how good or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale, and sickly looking; just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron."

NOTE-Nuxated Iron, which was used by Senator Mason with such surprising results and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine and secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists, and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians both in Europe and America. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most palatable and pleasant form of indigestion as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The name is Nuxated Iron.

From the Congressional Directory published by the United States Government.—"Wm. R. Mason, Senator from Illinois, was elected to the 50th Congress in 1887, to the 51st Congress in 1889, defeated for the 52d Congress in 1892, elected Senator to the 55th Congress 1897 to 1903."

Senator Mason's championship of Pure Food and Drugs legislation, his fight for the rural free delivery system, and his strong advocacy of all bills favoring labor and the rights of the masses are against trusts and combines make him a national figure at Washington and endeared him to the hearts of the workman and the great masses of people throughout the United States. Senator Mason has the distinction of being one of the really big men of the nation. His strong endorsement of Nuxated Iron must convince any intelligent thinking reader that it must be a preparation of very great merit and one which the Senator feels is bound to be of great value to the masses of people everywhere, otherwise he could not afford to lend his name to it, especially after his strong advocacy of pure food and drugs legislation.

turers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron, and increase their strength 100 per cent, or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance. In ten days' time it is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

YELLED "WHOA!"
Hartford City Man Forgot He Was Driving Auto.

Hartford City, Ind., Aug. 28.—Forgetting that he was driving an automobile, August Votquenne commanded "Whoa!" to his machine as he swerved around a corner and struck a large Maxwell touring car on the side, turning the car completely over in the side-ditch and probably seriously injuring two of the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Riddle, of Albany. Riddle's side was crushed and he is believed to be hurt internally, and Mrs. Riddle is believed to have suffered a fractured skull. They were caught under the machine, the woman being severely cut by glass from the windshield.

Votquenne escaped without a scratch, though his machine is a wreck. The injured persons were on the way to Albany when the accident happened. Votquenne was driving his car at a rapid rate of speed as was Riddle. Votquenne has had the automobile only a short time and it was his second collision with an automobile. Several days ago he ran into a machine while at Votquenne under similar circumstances, yelling "Whoa!" at his machine.

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE.
Escapes of Orville Hodgson Recalled by Suit.

Hartford City, Ind., Aug. 28.—The escapades of Orville Hodgson, Blackford county convict forger, are brought to mind again with the filing of a suit for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Hattie Bainbridge-Hodgson, of Louisville, Ky. Hodgson is now serving an indeterminate sentence in the reformatory at Jeffersonville for forgery. Mrs. Hodgson in her petition says her husband was cruel to her, frequently beat her and that he is a felon. They were married in September, 1912, after a brief courtship. Hodgson represented himself to be wealthy.

His elopement with Hattie Bainbridge set Louisville society circles "humming," but the "humming" ceased with the announcement that Hodgson was a forger. He was caught at Chicago, but escaped. Later he was arrested at Pittsburgh and sent to Frankfort, Ind., where he was convicted. He jumped a bond of $3,000 put up here by his father, George Hodgson, county commissioner.

PAUL REVERE'S RIDE
HELD AT NEW HAVEN

Two Fort Wayne Boys Hold Midnight Ride; One Injured.

Listen, my children and you shall hear Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere, On the eighteenth of April, in Seventy-five;

Hardly a man is now alive Who remembers that famous day and year.

New Haven, Ind., Aug. 28.—Two Fort Wayne young men, John Eifel and Albert Krantz, rehearsed the midnight ride of Paul Revere in New Haven, Saturday night, in a more modern way than the historic event of years ago; equipped with a fiery steed and a phaeton from one of the local livery barns at Fort Wayne, the boys set out on their midnight ride down Broadway. Everything went all right until they attempted to make the turn at State street, at which point the buggy overturned, throwing both occupants to the street as well as the horse. Young Krantz was badly cut about the face and limbs and both received a severe shaking up. About this time Lester Girardot, the town marshal, overtook the young men and both boys under arrest. The boys were both under the influence of liquor, evidence of same being found in the overturned buggy. They were brought before Squire Daily and each given a fine of $5 and costs, Krantz being the only one able to pay. After a severe lecture he turned loose to make his homeward journey afoot, young Eifel being turned over to the local police at Fort Wayne.

Other Speed Demons.
Walter Gellets and Tom Team were the names given by two other speed demons who upon seeing young Krantz and Eifel displaying their horsemanship decided to join them in their pleasure, and a lively race ensued when the above accident happened. They succeeded in evading the marshal, but later returned to the town only to be arrested by the watchful officer. They were also fined $5 each and being unable to pay were taken to Fort Wayne to serve out their time. The boys were forced by the local liveryman to pay $15 damage done to the hired rigs and horses, after which they decided that joy riding on the streets of New Haven is rather an expensive luxury.

COURT NO TROUBLE.

The entire congressional delegation of Texas has petitioned the president that colored troops may be kept out of that state. This overtone is directly inspired, of course, by the bloody events of last week in Houston and may fairly be taken upon its face as expressing the desire of Texans that no further provocation to similar tragedies be permitted. We know of no reason why the request may not be readily and fully complied with. We apprehend many reasons why it should.

The country has plenty of critical matters to engage it without wantonly pursuing trouble. Concentrating negro troops anywhere in the far south is not an insuperable exigency of war. It is not in any sense due to the simplest necessities of the case. Nothing can be more certain than that it is not wise. The Houston affair seems to be an abundant proof of that and the government confirms the view by making haste to get the body of negro soldiers concerned in the revolt far away from the scene of their tragic performance. The slaughter of near a score of white persons in Houston by the colored soldiers wearing the national uniform and with federal arms in their hands has a look that becomes worse the more soberly it is viewed. It is not unnatural that Texans—and the whole south, for the matter of that—should reflect upon it with kindled feeling. The war department has no authority to assert, no position to vindicate by insistence that it will quarter negro soldiers in Texas or in any other state of the south. The merest common sense dictates that they be placed where the least trouble is likely to ensue from their presence. It will hardly be contended that any southern point is such a place.

While it is true that such an outbreak as took place in Houston might have occurred in any northern city—East St. Louis, for instance—it must frankly be recognized that the likelihood of such trouble was greater and will be greater south than north. Moreover, much will depend upon the character of the negro troops themselves. Northern negroes down south become a problem quite different from southern negroes at home or even in the north. In any event, there is no need that colored troops be assembled in parts of the country where trouble is most readily provoked and in this case it was Texas, whose people have had a sore spot in respect of colored soldiers for a good many years that have gone by since the Brownsville affair, in which negro troops "shot up the town" and held forth with red riot for a day or two.

Nothing is to be gained by continuing the practice of assembling large bodies of colored soldiers in southern camps and at southern military posts, whereas much risk is incurred by doing so. It is less of consequence that the people of Texas protest and petition against it, so far as their own state is concerned, than that intrinsically it is not a wise thing to do.

NOT SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

President Wilson has assured the Moscow council of democracy that America stands ready to aid Russia with every material and moral assistance in this republic's power to bestow. Yes, indeed; likewise amen. But let the new democracy get us right. Assistance, aid, help, reinforcement, support, sustenance, succor—what you like or they like—means adding to something, and in this case it means adding to some effort of their own. America already has contributed near three hundred million dollars to the support of Russia in the war. As our ally she had it coming to her, so long as she needed it. What Russia owes in return for what she has received and what she will get is that she will not permit herself to be swerved from her part of the almost universal job of making the world safe for democracy—her democracy as well as our democracy—and that she will forthwith buck up and not allow herself to be overrun by Germans and Austrians and Turks and Bulgarians and put out of business as a factor in the war and a bulwark of freedom. Uncle Sam will do whatever is in mortal power for Mr. Muscovite to make a man of him, that will stand upon his feet and play the game, but he has got to get an early understanding that democracy is not anything like a perpetual motion machine. It has to be run with effort and care and at its best it is rather numerously faulted and flawed with those things which a late American statesman was wont to describe as "d-d barren idealities." Freedom from her mountain height may unfurl her standard to the air and tear the azure robe of night and set the stars of glory there, but down on the lower ground the supplementary proceedings are more primitive, practical and difficult, as the new democracy of Russia is fast finding out, but is exasperatingly slow to appreciate. Congress is about to pump some twelve billions into the war tubs and the New Russia is invited to come with a bucket in each hand so long as she can come deserving. Otherwise, leave us and our much money alone.

NO OCCASION TO HURRY.

Signs of a mild interest in the municipal campaign are apparent. There is no reason why the interest should not for the present remain mild. No occasion to hasten into a local turmoil can be found. Some ten weeks must intervene between now and the day of the elections. A period much less will answer plentifully for the distractions of a campaign that on many accounts should not be distracting. The people here, as elsewhere, have a more serious business in hand than heating themselves over a question of municipal office, and we do not believe that in this community there is any impatience to begin fanning the fires of partisan ardor. The issues of the campaign—if there are any defined issues in the campaign—are not of a radical sort nor complex structure. A few weeks will answer very well for their presentation and discussion, whatever they are. Matters of sumptuary policy and moral restraints no longer are political questions here. The settled practice in the city hall has become that law is law and right is right. Two consecutive administrations have—enduringly, we believe—established that much in Fort Wayne. All parties and all citizens are agreed now upon policies of law enforcement and the maintenance of moral conditions so far as local government can determine them. Nowhere is there even a differentiated difference as to these things. So we have for an issue the necessity to choose as between two very excellent men which is the better for mayor. Are ten weeks of purely created disturbance, incited feeling and partisan heat of the public mind necessary to such a choice? We do not think so; you do not think so. Let 'er simmer for awhile longer.

The American embargo on exports is complete. It includes everything movable, not excepting gold. This is economic control with something of a vengeance, but it establishes early in the war that the United States is in this conflict to obtain what it started out to get and means to become stronger as the days go on instead of becoming weaker. A year hence the people of this nation will scarcely know either themselves or their country. It is inescapable that it should be so. Modern war—as has been said and repeated so much it is grown trite—enlists nations and mobilizes all their resources. America cannot if she would make any exception of herself without paying with disaster for trying to play the piker. Two or three years of conflict will erect the United States into the world's first military power and that is to say the greatest military power in all history, not making exception of our late friend the kaiser's stunning creation.

And any time it occurs to you that the term "Dago" expresses your opinion in general of Italians, just consider that the armies now sweeping over the Alps to Trieste in one of the most spectacular and intrepid military assaults of all history are mainly of the sort that are thought to become "Dagoes" as soon as they land in America. If the annals of war furnish any finer examples of sustained spirit and heroism than have been written by the achievements of the Italian armies in the Alps during the past year, we have overlooked the chapter.

The coal barons have been seen to; the wheat gamblers have been disposed of for the time being. But there remains much else for the food and fuel bureau to look after. For instance, does the government control eggs, or doesn't it—will it or won't it? Eggs were some issue last winter.

Your benevolent Uncle Sam has so far invested $275,000,000 in the prospect that Russia will recover her health, her fighting spirit and most of the ground she has lost. Otherwise the result will be some promissory notes hardly worth trying to collect.

Lost Treasure

UNITED STATES READY TO START A COLOSSAL DRIVE ON INCOME TAX DODGERS

BY BASIL M. MANLY.

The treasury department is about ready to start a colossal drive on the thousands of income and corporation tax dodgers whose frauds and evasions have been uncovered through months of painstaking investigation by hundreds of revenue agents and inspectors.

This drive on the tax dodgers, it is calculated by treasury experts, will bring into Uncle Sam's war chest not less than $300,000,000 which have escaped the tax collector since the income tax law went on the statute books.

The round-up of the tax thieves will not be limited to any particular state or section, but will be nationwide. Into the drag-net will come not only New York millionaires, but hundreds of rich farmers, small-town bankers and business men who have been found by the revenue agents to have been more flagrant defrauders of the treasury than the metropolitan plutocrats who come first to mind when tax dodging is mentioned. Many pillars of the church and philanthropists, it is said, have been caught in the meshes of the treasury's net.

"The secretary of the treasury," I have just been told by a senator who is very close to McAdoo, "now has in his possession complete proofs of frauds on the income and corporation taxes, which will electrify the country when made public. The secretary is not yet ready to institute the hundreds of suits in which the evidence is now regarded as complete, but I can assure you that he will do so very soon, possibly before the revenue bill passes the senate."

It has now become known that ever since the disclosures made in April, 1915, that the federal treasury was being looted of not less than $320,000,000 a year, agents of the treasury, working in conjunction with secret service men from the department of justice, have been quietly conducting a nation-wide probe of tax dodging. In some districts, unknown to the average citizen, they have made a detailed investigation of every person in the community who could be suspected of having an income large enough to be subject to the federal tax. In other districts they have merely investigated those persons whom they had reason to believe were evading all or part of their taxes.

This investigation has been made more comprehensive during the last year by reason of the fact that since the passage of the revenue bill of last autumn all corporations have been required to furnish the treasury with a complete list of all stockholders and the dividends they received.

Although the evidence in hundreds of cases has been complete for months, no suits have been instituted, because it was feared that public action would seal up many of the sources of information on which the revenue agents were relying and result in the destruction of evidence which had not yet come into their possession. It was therefore decided to withhold all action except in minor cases which could be settled out of court until all the important cases were substantially complete.

The treasury is now ready for the "big drive" and sensational disclosures involving prominent citizens, bankers, merchants, manufacturers, lawyers, farmers, doctors and brokers, may be expected any day.

VOLUNTEERS WILL SELL THE SECOND U. S. LIBERTY LOAN

BY MILTON BRENNER.

In building armies Uncle Sam has rejected the volunteer system. However, when it comes to selling bonds, to feed and equip the armies, he is still strong for it. The second and all subsequent Liberty loans are likely to be handled by bankers and bond dealers who volunteer.

The first Liberty loan was handled by the treasury department, acting through the twelve federal reserve district banks and an army of bankers and bond dealers and patriotic citizens. It was an improvised organization. Its skeleton in each federal reserve district will be retained for the coming campaign. The only difference is the committees will be smaller and plans will be changed in conformity with the experience in the first campaign.

For instance, in the Philadelphia district the territory will be so subdivided that every resident will be approached. In New York, on the other hand, a greater effort than before will be made to reach great groups of men through their lodges and labor unions and at their places of employment. In the Cleveland district, even more than last time, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati will be pitted against each other in a great race for patriotic supremacy.

Treasury officials are swamped with letters from bankers, bond dealers and business men volunteering for the coming campaign. Aside from patriotic motives, there are sound business reasons. Bond dealers admit they could hardly compete with the government in bond selling, and so might as well turn in and help Uncle Sam. The training of the mass of the people to buy government bonds will eventually get a great new public use to buying sound securities, just as the French peasants have for years bought English and American industrial and municipal bonds.

COAL PRICE FIXING.

(Newcastle Times.)

The fixing of the price of Indiana coal at $1.35 per ton at the mine is a conviction of the mine operators who have been charging much in excess of that amount. Mine run coal is the standard and more used than any other. Lump coal will be 25 cents higher, while slack or screenings will be sold at 25 cents less than mine run, or at $1.10 per ton. These prices are a dollar less than they have been charged to persons without contracts, and cuts off more than half the profits the operators have been making. Even at the price of $1.35 a coal mine is a bonanza.

A mine worth $50,000 will produce more than 2,000 tons of coal a week operating two-thirds of the time, and a price now fixed will make an average profit of 60 to 75 cents a ton. It can be easily calculated that under the present prices the ordinary mine will make more than 100 per cent profit in a year. If this were true in other lines the grocery man would make $10,000 to $20,000 a year profit and so would every other merchant in Newcastle and even smaller towns. The government has been exceedingly liberal in fixing the price of coal at $1.35 at the mine.

REALIZATION PAINFUL.

(Houston Post.)
It is best for the old guy to dream of the cool, clear swimming hole of way back yonder, for it will seem to be as big and cool and clear as of yore. If you visit it after an absence of forty years you will be pained to see what a little puddle it is.

Unrest is growing in Austria, reports say. A large iron heel on the neck naturally tends to make a country restless and even irritable.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

Asiatic cholera, the greatest of all scourges, is threatening this country. Lawyer E. V. Emrick has purchased a lot on Edgewater avenue in Lakeside.

L. O. Hull and daughter, Clara, returned this morning from Mansfield, Ohio.

E. D. Keefe, of Jefferson street, is suffering from a bullet wound accidentally received.

The extension of the Centlivre street car line to the Driving park is nearly completed and cars will be running this week.

The venerable William H. Bryant, ex-county commissioner, is lying in a precarious condition at his home on West Creighton avenue.

J. E. Graham is critically ill at his residence, corner Creighton avenue and Hanna street. He suffers from an immense carbuncle on the back of his neck.

The constant noise and clanging of the new electric car bells as they pass to and fro by St. Joseph's hospital, especially in the night time, is a constant annoyance to the sick patients.

The contract for equipping the Fort Wayne club room building with call bells, electrical appliances, etc., was awarded to Frank D. Edmunds. There were many bids for the work, but Mr. Edmunds was the lowest bidder.

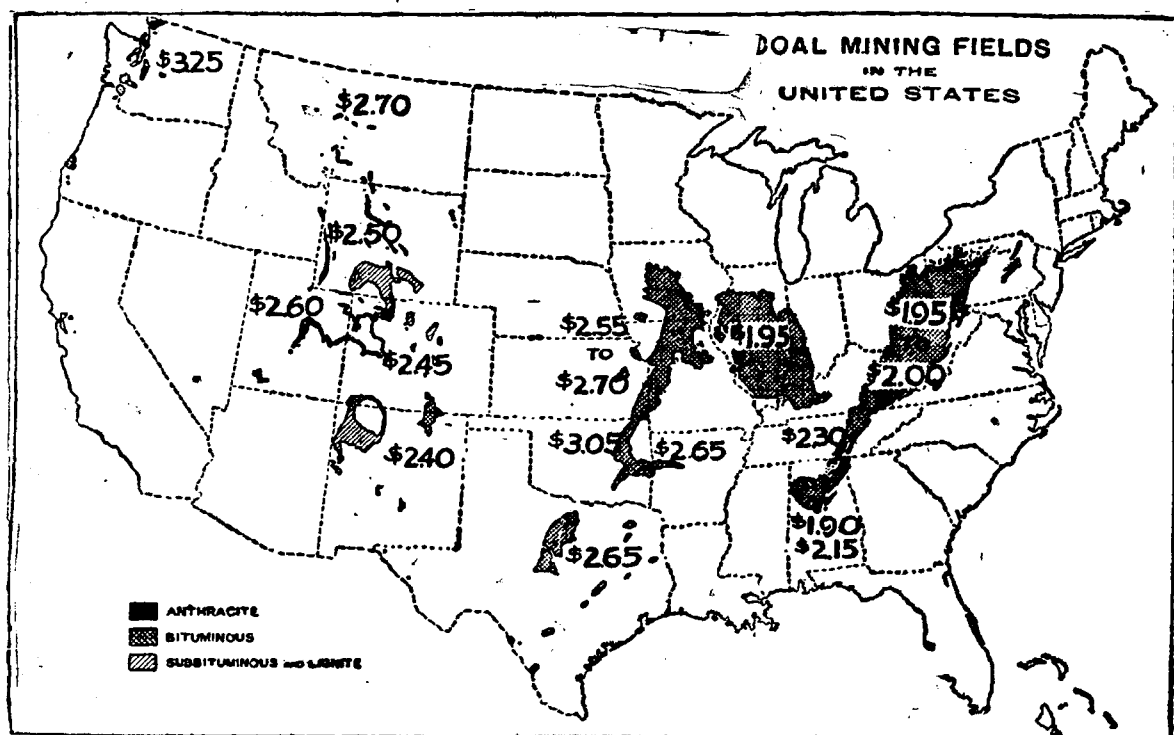

A few nights ago the tenants in Mrs. King's house, on North Cass street, were awakened by a peculiar noise at an outside door. Investigation showed that a burglar had bored a hole near the lock and in a moment would have opened the door.

J. M. Schmetzer, of West Washington street, received a caglegam Friday from his brother, who lives in France, announcing that he will embark for America about September 3. He will visit Mr. Schmetzer's family here and other relatives in this country.

A merry party of picknickers spent yesterday on the banks of the St. Joe, near the paper mills. Those who composed the party were: Misses Clara Rastetter, Bertha Gruber, Clara Hicker, Clara Lapp, Tinnie Gruber, Minnie Gimble, Agnes Schilling and the Messrs. John Collins, James Cox, Phillip Heller, Louis Boley and Albert Stapleford.

Bowser's oil tank factory barely escaped destruction last evening at 7 o'clock. At that hour the dust pan department was discovered to be on fire. S. F. Bowser rushed into the building and with a couple of small chemical extinguishers, kept the flames under control until the department arrived upon the scene. The fire was confined to the paint department, and the loss will probably foot up $1,000, fully insured. The fire department did splendid work in extinguishing the flames and were highly complimented by Mrs. Bowser.

FIND THE PRICE OF YOUR OWN COAL ON THIS MAP HERE'S GRAPHIC CHART OF RATES WILSON FIXED

President Wilson's coal prices at the mines, in each of the great coal areas, are shown in the accompanying map. They are much simpler than they look in the government table.

There are really just four great coal fields:

The Appalachian field supplies the east, south and part of the west. For it the president fixed prices of $1.95 and $2.00, except for Tennessee ($2.30) and Alabama ($1.90 and $2.15) with special prices up to $2.40 for high grade steam coals.

The Illinois-Indiana field, flat prices of $1.95, except for the third vein of Illinois which can charge $2.40.

The Iowa-Missouri-Kansas field, prices from $2.55 to $2.70, with a special price in the Oklahoma district of $3.05.

The Rocky mountain field, prices from $2.40 for New Mexico to $2.70 for Montana, and $2.25 for the small Washington field.

CAUSE OF LABOR WAR STIRRING COLORADO

Small Pay Increases, While Food and Mine Products Are Soaring.

By BENJAMIN E. LING.
(Staff Special.)

Denver, Co., Aug. 23.—(By Mail.)—Industrial unrest and strikes are dotting Colorado, Montana, Utah, Arizona and Washington. Here in Colorado the trouble is uncomplicated by any I. W. W. activities.

At the bottom of it is the struggle of the miner to meet the increased living cost while he sees the mine owner making large war profits.

The miner also wants recognition of his union.

The United Mine Workers of America in the coal fields and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter workers, the old Western Federation of Miners, in the metal mines, are too strongly established for the I. W. W. propaganda to get many converts in Colorado.

Whether the I. W. W. will ever make largely on whether the mine operators progress again in these mines depends make war on the long-organized A. F. of L. organizations.

John McLennan, president of the Colorado State Federation of Labor, sums up the reason for labor's unrest:

"Wage increases to Colorado miners since 1915 have been only between 10 and 20 per cent. In the meantime the cost of living has advanced from 50 to 100 per cent."

To prove that mine operators are making enormous profits and could easily yield wage increases to workers, miners point out that copper has gone up 100 per cent. in value, silver 20 per cent., lead 100 per cent., and zinc 60 per cent.

At Leadville, for example, the mine output last year showed a decrease of 47,000 tons, but the value of the output showed an increase of $7,000,000. Leadville miners to the number of 1,500 recently struck for a $1 a day increase. They pointed out that while their wages in 1915 went up 16 2-3 per cent., coal went up 30 per cent. and food 70 per cent.

The strike ended in a compromise and the average minimum wage now at Leadville is $4 a day for the underground workers.

There have been a number of strikes by meat packers, street car employees and other workers, for higher pay or union recognition.

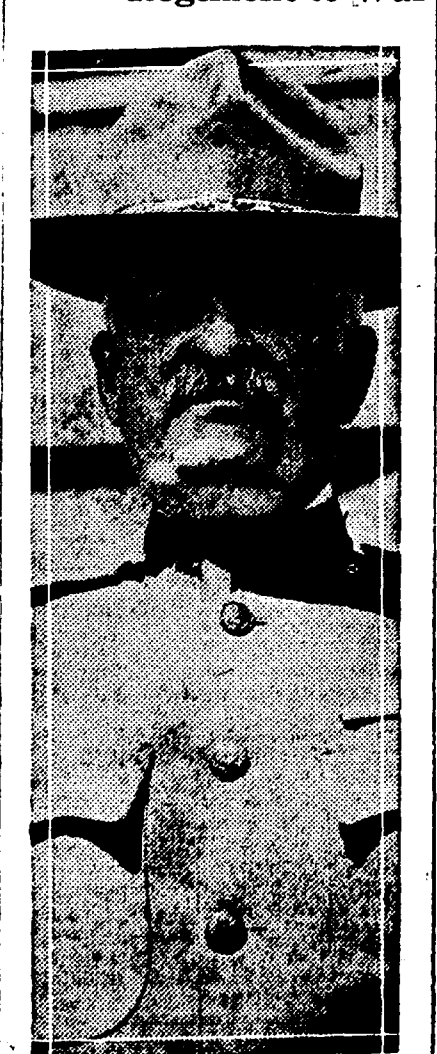

Union labor leaders in Colorado say they do not see why they should cease their fight in war time.

"In an emergency we'll drop everything and line up back of the government to a man, but that emergency hasn't yet arisen," says McLennan.

In fact, Colorado people do not yet fully appreciate their country is at war. The state is too far removed from either coast.

But there is coming gradually a changed feeling between capital and labor in this state. The two are beginning to realize their aims are mutual.

and are meeting on a new, amicable footing.

Officials of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. a fortnight ago met for the first time since the great strike of 1914, with officials of the United Mine workers in a conference.

REVOLVER TALK IS STOPPED FOR GOOD

Girl and Young Man Promise Court to Speak of Rain and Such.

Miss Iva Points, 18, and Carl Piepenbrink, 23, can converse with each other about the weather and the potato crop and the latest successes in camouflage. But they must not discuss firearms.

The trend of their conversation was fixed by Judge H. W. Kerr in police court, Tuesday morning, after he had heard the case in which the girl was charged with carrying a revolver.

Piepenbrink testified that he and the young woman had been "kidding" about shooting each other and that he was horrified when his friend flashed a revolver, while they walked down the street Saturday night. The young man called an officer to take the weapon from Miss Points.

"Don't you ever talk about revolvers again. It is not a 'kidding' subject," said Judge Kerr, when he had heard the evidence.

"I am through with him," said the girl, in reference to Piepenbrink.

"I will not bother her," answered the young man about his friend.

Judge Kerr ordered the pistol, which Miss Points had carried, to be destroyed. He continued the case indefinitely.

Wasted Energy. Arzene Maze and Arthur Ross, a colored couple, only wasted their energy when they made a flying trip to Hillsdale, Mich., on Monday and were married. The action did not prevent them from being fined $15 and costs each on a charge of living together.

The pair were removed from a room when police raided one of the big houses in the former "red light" district of the jail flats, Saturday night. The woman had obtained a divorce from her husband only a few days before. She could not marry before two years, under the Indiana law. The couple went to Hillsdale and were united on Monday.

Ross waved the new marriage certificate before Judge Kerr Tuesday morning, when his case was called. But since the two were not wedded before the raid they were fined for their misconduct.

William Taylor and Alpha Reeco, who were taken in the same police raid, were released from a criminal charge. It was shown that they were not in the same room at the time of their arrest.

Josephine Jackson and Joe Williams, both colored, were each fined $15 and costs because they were released.

YOUNG COUPLE GO TO CAMP TAYLOR

MRS. PAUL F. SCHROEDER.

LIEUT. SCHROEDER.

The wedding of Miss Amber Elizabeth Grosjean and Mr. Paul Frederick Schroeder, lieutenant in the officers' reserve corps, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Schroeder, of East Jefferson street, took place on the evening of August 25, at the residence in Archer avenue, of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Grosjean. Rev. A. J. Folsom, pastor of Plymouth church, read the marriage services at 8 o'clock, in the presence of near relatives. The bride and groom entered the living-room to the wedding music from "Lohengrin," which Miss Dorothy Strobel played and the bridal party stood in front of the fireplace which was banked with ferns and palms, with standard vases of pink gladioli on either side and vases of flowers on the mantel. Miss Velma Grosjean, a cousin to the bride, was bridesmaid and a brother of the bride, Mr. Wade Grosjean, stood with Lieutenant Schroeder. The bride came in with her father and she made a lovely appearance in an embroidered white georgette crepe gown with silver beads and silver lace as well as a sash of silver ribbon forming an elegant trimming. The bridal bouquet was of bride roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in a white crepe de chine with silver trimmings and her bouquet was made of pink rosebuds. After the benediction the pianist began the Mendelssohn wedding march and the bride and groom received the congratulations of the company. Refreshments were served in the diningroom and covered tables placed for thirty. The bride's table

was decorated with a basket of pink roses and silver candlesticks that were tied with fluffy bows of pink tulle and held white candles. The place cards and nut cases were in one of a novel design and they made pretty souvenirs of the wedding. Vases of garden flowers decorated the smaller tables and pink and white cosmos, gladioli and roses adorned all the rooms. Lieutenant Schroeder and his bride left the night of their wedding for Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., where their stay is to be determined by further orders. If in the future Lieut. Schroeder should go to France, Mrs. Schroeder would return here and remain with her parents. For traveling the bride wore a lovely silk skirt with pale pink georgette blouse, a long silk coat and a new fall hat of black velvet with shoes and gloves of mouse color. Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. George A. Stephan and daughter, Dorothy, of Cleveland; Mr. Frank Wolf, of Indianapolis; Lieut. George Rogers, of Decatur, Ill. The bride is a remarkably pretty girl and her natural ability for drawing and painting is marked and has been cultivated until the instructors at St. Augustine's academy declared she had attained their highest degree of advanced skill. The Grosjean home has many evidences of the accomplishment of this only daughter in the way of handsome china and many watercolor drawings of a high order. Lieut. Schroeder spent four years of college life at Con-bordia and then took a position with the Fort Wayne Printing company, which he resigned to enter the army.

Frances Weigant have returned to Wooster, Ohio, after visiting several days with Mr. and Mrs. A. Stentz, of Wildwood avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Voirel and daughter, Miss Evelyn, and Misses Marie and Algina LeNore, of Chicago, and Miss Helen Stahl, have returned from a week's outing at Rome city.

Miss Madeline Ryan, of Pittsburg, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lauer, of 1336 West Creighton avenue. Mrs. Lauer has recently returned from a week's visit in Goshen with her cousin, Dr. Becknell.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Busz, of Albion, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Pressler, of Wefel street, on Monday. Harley Busz accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Busz from Albion to this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Homsher entertained a company of merry people at Shriner lake on Sunday. There were eighteen people who took baskets of various kinds of tempting edibles and spent a delightful day.

Herbert Rust has come home from his studies at the United States naval academy at Annapolis for a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rust, of 1207 Ewing street. This is Mr. Rust's second year in the academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Jones have returned from a few days' outing at Paw Paw lake, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are going to Chicago in a few days to meet their son, DeWitt, who has been in Wyoming for some weeks.

A story by Miss Lillian Blackstone, of this city, appears in the current issue of Motion Picture Classics, and still another article will be found in the September issue. Miss Blackstone is expected home in about two weeks from the east.

Mrs. Charles Tyger has returned from Rome city, where the family has a summer cottage. Miss Louise Tyger, a recent graduate of the Fort Wayne high school, is going to Chicago to take a course in physical culture at the Columbia College of Expression.

Miss Katherine Kamp, another member of the 1917 high school class of graduates, will accompany Miss Tyger and take the same course of work.

Captain Karl Detzer, who arrived from a ten days' outing at Leland, Mich., with his parents and other relatives, on Monday, left Tuesday for Louisville, Ky. Donald Detzer, who is going to France, was still at the lake with his mother and sister, expecting a call to return to Chicago any moment, when his father, A. J. Detzer, and Captain Detzer left for home. Mrs. Detzer and Miss Dorothy will remain two weeks longer.

One of the city's most popular and greatly admired young women, Miss Nellie Monroe Wilt, is to become the bride in October of Burr Clarke Chamberlain, of New York city. Announcement of the engagement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Ward L. Wilt, parents of Miss Wilt, who are soon to make their home in Pittsburg, so this city would not be Miss Wilt's home many weeks more, even if she were not to be married so soon. Mr. Chamberlain is connected with the Baked Chemical company, of New York city, where he and his bride will live. A graduate of Yale and a captain of the college football team when a student at the university, Mr. Chamberlain appears to have met with success in all attainment of which the selection of a bride will be considered as one.

Mr. and Mrs. William Frauentfelder, of 813 Madison street, celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary on Monday evening in company with a party of their friends who called unexpectedly. At least it was unexpected to Mr. Frauentfelder, but it may be that Mrs. Frauentfelder had some inkling of the coming. It was certainly a merry evening with progressive bunco as one feature of the evening, refreshments as another and the presenting of gifts to the two hosts as still another. The last was surely one of the unexpected things. Mr. and Mrs. M. Bullerman, of Huntington, were two of the guests and others of the jolly company were Mr. and Mrs. C. Rodenbeck, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wynne-ken, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rodenbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Holtermann, Misses Louise, Selma and Malinda Rodenbeck, Messrs. E. Serfaski, George Beuchell and Peg Mills.

Klute—Crags.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crags, of Wallace street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Florence, to Mr. Forest Klute, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klute, of Richmond, which took place in Angola, on Saturday afternoon.

Rev. Millard Peck, pastor of the M. E. church, officiated at the ceremony. Mr. Klute is employed in the railroad offices in Richmond but for the present the young couple will make their home in this city. Both bride and groom were staying at Crooked lake when they decided to be married at once, as there were no objections to such a culmination of their engagement. Both bride and groom are worthy of the esteem and confidence reposed in them by their friends and relatives.

DeCamp—Randall.

The wedding of Miss Edna R. Randall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Randall, and Mr. Arthur J. DeCamp, both of Avilla, took place Monday evening at the home of the bride. The officiating minister was Rev. A. L. Lampert, of Goshen, and the bride and groom exchanged rings during the ceremony. A wedding supper was served following the presenting of felicitations by the guests to the bride and groom. The bride received her education in the Avilla schools, a training school course in South Bend and since then has taught with much success in a kindergarten department of the Fort Wayne public schools. The bride is a sister to Mrs. Albert E. Thomas and had many friends here as well as in her home town who admire her for her many beauties of character. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. DeCamp, of Avilla, and is a railway clerk on the New York Central lines. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and children attended the wedding.

Meyers-Roesener.

Miss Emma C. Roesener and Mr. August F. Meyers were married at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride, by Rev. Fred Wambagans. Immediate relatives were present. Mrs. Ray Mettett played the wedding march. Both bride and groom are young people of excellent character. They are beginning housekeeping immediately at 3402 South Harrison street.

A Country Party.

Mrs. Carl Stogdill entertained the members of the I. C. club at her suburban home in Glendale drive on Tuesday afternoon and the members of the club invited their husbands to come to dinner which was served at 5 o'clock. There were many blossoms of gladioli in the rooms and following the dinner a merry time was enjoyed playing games. Music was another detail of pleasure. Prize winners were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Young, Mrs. Arthur Meyers and George Bornuth. The guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stogdill were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kovalski, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Feistkorn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Young, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLeish, Mr. and Mrs. George Bornuth, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Stahl, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meyers.

Venderley Family Reunion.
A. D. Venderley motored to Conroy on Sunday to attend the family reunion of the Venderleys. There were fifty-seven people present, all of whom were from Indiana, Ohio or Michigan. Louis Venderley was chosen treasurer, Jack Venderley secretary. The gathering of the family was held at the home of August Girardot near Edgerton, and a big dinner and general good time were characteristic of the occasion.

Oilcloth in Place of Linen for Table Use

There is a saying that in these days of war prices, only the millionaire's wife can afford to wear gingham and use real linen in her dining room. If the latter is the case, then a great many who are tremendously smart are practicing war economy, or is it extravagance, by substituting hand-painted oilcloth or chiffon for the accustomed lace and linen luncheon sets. Stunning sets in black enamel, oilcloth for the out-of-door English breakfast or porch luncheon are decorated with bunches of brilliant colored fruit. A large center dolly is used, with four each of the medium and small sizes. An ordinary enameled kitchen pie plate painted black and decorated with the same design makes an unique bread or sandwich plate, and a papier mache bowl stained black and decorated with the fruit motif on the outside, filled with luscious grapes and oranges, is the most stunning kind of a centerpiece.

The square luncheon set is rather new, enveloped in tan oilcloth stenciled with field flowers in brilliant blues and reds and yellows. For the more conservative taste, a French gray foundation with a black and white conventional border design is very smart. Delft blue with sprays of small pink flowers or pale green with black and white will make pleasing combinations. Plain white oilcloth decorated in colors and harmonizing with the hangings of the breakfast room or porch creates an effective. Instead of the conventional center and individual plate dollies, two narrow runners crossed at right angles in the center covering four places are particularly good on the small square table. In this case stenciling the ends of the runners of the center and perhaps narrow border design will be all the decorations necessary.

The individual oblong dolly is very popular in white oilcloth stenciled in a conventional fruit or flower pattern. There is room on each one of these for the individual china and silver and a single flower vase holding a gaudy garden over.

The practical value of using oilcloth as a substance for table linen is apparent. After the meal, wipe off the cloth, and your work is done. No wear and tear on the linen and no laundry bill to pay.

No so obvious is the practicability of the fad for using handpainted or stenciled chiffon in place of the more elaborate luncheon linen. Indeed, the fad is not practical at all, except in so far as it saves laundry, for the chiffon can not be washed at all. But there's no denying it's extremely dainty and new, and the height of luxurious extravagance.

The square dollies are finished with broad hems; the round ones with a fine picot edge. Delicate shades of tan, gray and gray are popular. A very lovely ecru one is stenciled in a royal peacock patterns in brilliant blues and greens.

So you see, there is no telling what today, let alone tomorrow, may bring forth. Perhaps the next thing in luncheon sets will consist of delicately embroidered Georgette crepe edged with fur. But this is only perhaps!

MOST STUNNING WRAP AT BIG RITZ FASHION SHOW

BY BETTY BROWN.

Staff Special.
New York, Aug. 28.—Perhaps the most stunning wrap at the Sheldon Looms fashion show at the Ritz Carlton this week in a slip-over evening coat made of white duvety and decorated with Koryak embroidery in soft Oriental colors, designed by Mlle. G. Derant de Sumene.

This garment slips over the head and has a hood which makes a beautiful collar when not used as a hood. At the sleeves and around the bottom it is trimmed with black fox.

This evening garment is an absolutely original made-in-America design, and in both originality and taste it is pushing the Paris designers hard.

shaped to the hips by shirring. The sleeves are set into large loose arm-holes and brought into a buttoned cuff of moleskin. The collar of moleskin is just a wide band that buttons up close around the throat.

FACTS WORTH KNOWING.

In sprinkling clothes, hot water will dampen the garments more evenly than will cold.

Rats can not resist linseed oil. Use linseed oil in linseed oil to bait your rat trap.

Lemon peels should be saved and dried and kept with the cooking sugar. They give the sugar a delightful flavor for cake.

An ounce of alum added to the rinsing water or to the starch will render muslin or cotton goods almost fire-proof.

If you happen to have run out of shoe polish a few drops of lemon juice rubbed briskly on black or brown leather will give it a brilliant polish.

If the oven is too hot you can reduce the temperature immediately by setting a basin of cold water in it.

Charcoal is a capital disinfectant. Keep a dish of it in the ice box or pantry and the food kept there will not quickly taint. The charcoal should be changed every ten days.

An ostrich feather, if held upright, will be seen to be perfectly equal on both sides, the stem dividing it exactly in the center. In other feathers the stems are found to be more or less on one side.

FOR POLISHING SILVER.

A chamois bag filled with powdered magnesia is very useful for polishing all silver articles. An old piece of velvet will prove wonderful for polishing silver, and a broken crocheted pin is a handy contrivance. Covered with a cloth, the flat rounded tip will be most useful in working between the tines of the forks and in moldings that require friction.

Miladi Will Tote a Stick, Just Like This

BY BETTY BROWN.

New York, Aug. 28.—A long walking coat or ulsterette, while very full, has been designed by Brandt of Paris to give the long lines absolutely necessary to the fall's silhouette.

The coat, shown at the Ritz-Carlton fashion show, is made of midnight blue wool material, with an overcoat of white thread, and is trimmed with cording of black and white striped velvet.

No young woman who pretends to be up to date will appear upon the street without a cane or swagger stick. It may be expected that a girl who goes in for the fashions will rival her brother in her collection of walking sticks.

FARM WORK KEEPS CHILDREN AT HOME

In Oklahoma It is Found to Be Main Cause of Absenteeism from School.

New York, Aug. 28.—In rural sections of the country farm work is the most active and inveterate enemy of school attendance, according to the August number of the Child Labor Bulletin, which is devoted mainly to a discussion of the effect of farm work on school attendance in times both of peace and of war. The first study was made in Oklahoma last year and was completed before the United States entered the war. It is part of the broad survey of the employment of children on farms the National Child Labor committee is making and is representative of conditions existing in normal times.

It was found in Oklahoma that farmwork was responsible for more absences from school than all other causes combined—73,121 days of absence being attributed to it and only 44,148 days to illness, the next largest group. "This shows how serious a factor labor is in the breaking down of rural school attendance," says the report, "especially as the total of days absent is much more than a third of the total days present." The result of absence due to farmwork is shown most clearly in the figures for retardation given in the report. 51 per cent of the farmworkers are behind in their grades, while less than 25 per cent of those absent because of illness, distance and bad weather were retarded and only 12.5 per cent of those who attended regularly. "When in connection with the fact that farmworkers progress most slowly it is remembered that they lose more school time than all the other groups combined, we are confronted by a relation showing a logical sequence," says the report. "Children can not do good school work unless they attend regularly and the oftener they are absent the lower their standing will be." To meet the situation the report recommends that the compulsory education law be strengthened by making it apply to the entire term instead of to only two-thirds of it, as is the case at present, and that a larger unit of organization than the local district be adopted as it is impossible to have the law enforced where local officials have to prosecute their own neighbors if they make any attempt to enforce it.

The tendency of war to aggravate the conditions found in normal times is brought out in another article on "The Child's Part in Food Production," based on an inquiry into the extent to which children have been excused from school to engage in agriculture as a patriotic service. Much was said last spring of the necessity for using school children to solve the farm labor problem and many school superintendents acted at once on the suggestion. "There can be no question of the patriotic motives that led the state superintendents of education to advise local officials to excuse children from school for farmwork," says the report, "but there is a grave question whether the action taken by those officials was not short-sighted patriotism which will do the country more harm than good." In most of the states investigated by the committee it was found that children were permitted to leave without any preliminary inquiry into the need for their services, investigation of the places they were to work, provision for keeping track of them to know how many had left and where they were, or physical examination of those who left to see that they were strong enough to do farmwork. As a result few superintendents of education had any idea how many children were excused, where they were, how much they were paid, what conditions they were living under, or whether they would ever return to school. The report points out that if the school officials are permitted to join with the farmer in putting crops before school attendance without any attempt to safeguard the children, conditions found to exist in normal times will be greatly aggravated and at the end of the war the younger generation on whom will fall the burden of carrying on the work of the country will be handicapped by lack of sufficient education and premature labor. In England it was found that wherever adequate wages were offered there were enough adults available to make it unnecessary to use young children on the farms.

THREE FRIENDS FOR AUTO TRIP THROUGH three Battleships as Convoys by S.W. route

ADIRONDACKS GONE TEN DAYS for Havre, France Will sail South

HERE'S KEY TO CODE TRANSLATIONS.

MOTHER—marines.
FATHER—infantry.
Letters in word between "mother" and "father" indicate number of divisions.
For instance, "mother WITH father" would mean four divisions.
ADIRONDACKS—Havre, France.
Word GONE designates route, by code use of initial letter.
TEN DAYS tells time intervening before passage of intercepting point.
EMMY is one of a fixed list of girls' names, all standing for the port of New York, and letters in name indicates present naval protection. Thus GRACE would designate five naval units.
RUSH is code for submarines and DEED is code for Boston.
Number of letters in phrase "I wrote you about so," indicates number of days before departure of troop transports.
$10,000 indicates number of troops.
GOOD PRICE is code for more funds.
SHARE, which might have read "equity" or a number of other words indicate name of German secret agent.
Now compare the message, as rewritten by the censor, with the original message and its code paraphrase, and see how all the dynamite has been taken out.

(Staff Special.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—An apparently innocent personal cablegram can easily signal a German sea and air raid on New York city, and send to death 10,000 American soldiers by prearranging a submarine attack on United States transports off Boston harbor.
This is a concrete possibility of the diabolical German spider web which may well galvanize every American citizen into taking every possible precaution.

You would like to be a United States naval censor? Well, censor this cablegram for yourself.
"To Jorn Uhl,
"Rotterdam, Holland.
"New York, Aug. 24.—Mother and father left today with three friends for auto trip through Adirondacks. Gone ten days. Staying with Emmy till their return. Rush deed I wrote you about so house can be transferred at once. Getting $10,000. Good price. Will send your share.
"GRETCHEN UHL."
An innocent little message from an American girl of Dutch ancestry to her brother or uncle in Rotterdam. Here's what American naval censors say it might easily mean:

"John Uhl,
"German secret agent,
"Rotterdam, Holland,
"Open door to Berlin:
"New York, Aug. 24.—Three divisions of marines and infantry left today with three battleships as convoys by southwest route for Havre, France. Will pass southwest intercepting point in ten days. Port of New York means while protected by navy gun navy.

Good chance for submarine attack. Station submarines off Boston harbor at once to attack in sixteen days 10,000 sailing United States troops. More funds needed. Will report to you by mail through Oscar at Mexico City.

"GRETCHEN UHL,"
"German Spy."
The American censors will play as large a part in winning the war as the Sammie, American wheat, big guns or airmen. Their work is as trying. Here is the harmless message that passes the naval censor:

"Parents on mountain vacation with acquaintances for not over two weeks. Spending their absence with girl friend. Mail papers for house sale without delay. Will forward your portion of $10,000 sale price."
The naval censor transmits the sense, but not the original words, or in their original order.

The stirring patriotic song, "Hooray for Uncle Sam," 15c at Young's.

GIFTS AND MITE BOX HELP RED CROSS FUND

Classes in Home Care of Sick to Be Postponed Until October.

Donations at the Red Cross headquarters Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning reached the sum of $7.67. One of the largest donations of the past week was that of Mrs. Harvey Crane, who gave $6 to the Red Cross cause.

Officials at the Berry street headquarters were surprised Monday evening upon opening the "mite box," the receptacle for spare nickels and dimes of passers-by. The surprise was occasioned not so much from the amount of the contributions, but from the fact that some generous individual had dropped a whole silver dollar into the box. The total donations in the mite box was $1.67. Since last Friday, when the box was stationed in front of the door, the sum of $3.70 has been acquired from this source.

It is announced at headquarters that the classes in the home care of the sick, under Miss Frances Ott, will be dropped for the present, starting again on October 1. In the meantime Miss Ott will take a vacation. Those who wish to enroll in these classes may send in their names at any time.

Headquarters officials say that the gifts of tin foil are helping greatly in the Red Cross work and urge persons to save all their scraps and bring them to the headquarters on East Berry street. The tin foil is rolled together and sold, all the proceeds going to the great fund for humanity.

Shipments are coming in every day at the warehouse on Calhoun street. Tuesday morning shipments were received from South Bend, Morocco and Valparaiso. The lot from South Bend was especially large, containing 45 boxes.

DAUGHTER AND SON OF HERO DOCTOR LOCATED

Friend Recalls Leaving of Dr. J. S. O. Gorrell for the South.

Many telephone calls have followed the publishing on Monday by The Sentinel, of a letter from the Howard association, of Memphis, Tenn., in which the whereabouts of relatives of Dr. J. S. O. Gorrell, were inquired about. There is a daughter and a son of the physician, who gave his life in battling the yellow fever plague in the south, in Fort Wayne.

Elizabeth Gorrell, 533 West Jefferson street, teacher in the Jefferson school, and one of the well known instructors in the city, is a daughter of the man who went to Memphis, in September, 1878, and who succumbed to an attack of the fever a few weeks later.

George Gorrell, employed at the plant of the General Electric company, and whose nickname is "Doc," is the son of the physician.

James Nuttle, a member of the county subscription board, was once a pupil of Dr. J. S. O. Gorrell, when the physician once taught school near New Haven. Mr. Nuttle recalls when the doctor left Fort Wayne for the south. Helen Gorrell, who lives at 912 Washington boulevard east, is a grandniece of the brave physician, who gave himself for the profession. She is a daughter of Will Gorrell, who was a nephew of the doctor.

Gart Shober, well known Fort Wayne band man, was intimately acquainted with Dr. Gorrell in the few years preceding the departure of the physician for the fever zone. Mr. Shober and Dr. Gorrell, both lived at Maple, Allen county, at the time. They both played in the town band, which Shober directed. Dr. Gorrell was just starting his professional life and Shober taught school.

Later the doctor moved to Fort Wayne. He maintained an office above the Ton's drug store, corner of Lafayette and Lewis streets, where the Sulzer block now stands. He had been in practice here for several months when the call for medical help came from the south.

"It is the duty of my profession to make its best efforts in such moments," said Dr. Gorrell, and he insisted in going to Memphis. He had suffered a slight attack of the fever, when in Cuba, a few years before and believed himself immune. He went to the Tennessee city and had been there but a few days before he took the fever. He was one of its many victims.

The letter from the southern city, which was received by Mayor W. J. Hosey on Monday, states that a valuable gold medal had been awarded to the physician for his heroic efforts in fighting the plague. The medal will go to Dr. Gorrell's oldest daughter, Mrs. Charles Merritt, of North Dakota.

FOUR PER CENT GYM BONDS FIND NO BUYER

Law Will Not Allow Higher Rate and Board Gives Up Plan of Building.

Inquiries in bond markets have led the school board of Fort Wayne to believe that there is no ready sale for 4 per cent school bonds and since there has been no buyer for the $40,000 high school gymnasium bonds, it has been found necessary by this body to abandon the plan of building a gymnasium at the present time. The plan will be given up until present building conditions are changed.

It is illegal under the state laws to offer school bonds at a higher rate of interest than 4 per cent. The board did not attempt to fix a date at which time the bonds will be offered for sale again at the meeting held Monday evening.

It was hoped by the board that the gymnasium would be built this fall as it has been the plan of the board and Prof. L. C. Ward to offer a military training course this year in which credits would be given.

The board also discussed the appointment of a successor for Miss Emma L. Armstrong, who has been placed on the retired list. It is said that the board is seeking a man to succeed her.

MAKES DARING ESCAPE FROM VAN WERT JAIL

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Van Wert, O., Aug. 28.—Edward Fisher, alias A. J. Mussel, arrested here last June for stealing automobile tires from automobiles parked about the city, and who was sentenced last Saturday to thirty days in the Toledo workhouse, escaped from the county jail early this morning. His partner, Harry Ballard, arrested at the same time, got fastened in the opening that had been cut in the screening of the outside window and was held prisoner until the arrival of attaches of the jail.

Fisher had sawed his way out of his cell into the corridor and then cut the heavy screen to an outside window, jumping to the ground below a distance of twenty feet. Ballard succeeded in getting out of his cell and out of his partner, but being a larger man than his companion he could not get through the opening that had been made in the window.

Following Fisher's arrest Sheriff J. H. Gunsett had a photograph taken of him, which appeared in the August number of "The Detective." Warden C. C. McClaughry, of the reformatory at Anamosa, Iowa, immediately wired Sheriff Gunsett that Fisher was wanted for escaping from that institution on December 6, 1916.

Sheriff Gunsett has offered a reward of $50 for the arrest and detention of Fisher in any jail. Fisher is 37 years old, weighs 145 pounds and is 5 feet 6½ inches tall. Fisher was well blessed with scars as shown by the description: Scar oblique ¾ in at 2 2/16 inches above root of nose; scar 1 inch long at 9/32 inches back of right wing of nose; scar 7/16 inches long center of upper lip; scar second joint 1 3/16 inches at and above second joint left thumb front; scar from third joint to nail left little finger back.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"Dew Drop Inn" at Majestic Wednesday.

John E. Hazzard has been one of the fortunate authors during the past theatrical year, for in addition to having had two companies playing "Turn to the Right," he also landed a hit in "Dew Drop Inn," the new musical comedy which comes to the Majestic Wednesday evening only.

It was Hazzard's original intention to play the part of "Jack" as a co-star with Percival Knight, who will be seen in the part of "Boney," but former contracts prevented the first named comedian from appearing in "Dew Drop Inn." Percival Knight in addition to being the star of the piece, is also the writer of the lyrics, to which music was set by A. Baldwin Sloane, one of America's foremost composers.

"The 13th Chair" Thursday and Friday. William Harris, Jr., will earn an enthusiastic vote of thanks for himself from local patrons of the theater when he presents "The 13th Chair," by Bayard Veiller, at the Majestic theater Thursday and Friday. No play has been more successful in New York, where "The 13th Chair" ran for one entire year at the Forty-eight Street theater, ever approached the record for success by this mystery melodrama.

For its presentation here Mr. Harris has spared nothing to make it the same success it proved to be in New York. AT THE PALACE

PORTER J. WHITE AT PALACE.

Distinguished Character Actor in Gripping Drama With Comedy.

The distinguished character actor, Porter J. White, is presenting his gripping short story drama, The Visitor, one of those exceptional bits of abbreviated classic that occasionally pops up and goes forever. In this delightful commingling of laughs and thrills Mr. White has a role, that of the new counsel for the defense, that affords him splendid opportunities for the exploitation of his unusual skill. His every gesture and inflection of his voice, his every facial expression and step is the result of years of careful study of effects on audiences, while the lines themselves are exemplary of the best in English.

William A. Hanlon, the king of the chalk face comedians, is presenting a typical Hanlon production, The Railroad Hotel, as the super feature offering. In this production Mr. Hanlon has revived some of the effective hits of Superba and Fantasma, but has relied for the real punch on some latter day ideas. Wright and Earl, the singing and dancing team; Viola Lewis and her juvenile entertainers, in songs, dances and chatter; Fisher, Luckie and Gordon, the singing three, and Britt Wood, the harmony harmonist, with a dressing of dancing and singing numbers, rounds out this bill.

EDITH STOREY AND EARL WILLIAMS AT THE GRAND TOMORROW.

Rex Beach Novel Is a Strong Film Portrayal.

"The Vengeance of Durand," favorite film feature, reflects all the strength of situation and character that is found in the famous novel by that name, by Rex Beach, from which it is adapted. The novel, admittedly one of the most popular by that author, is favored in being portrayed by six of the greatest screen stars now before the cameras. It is the story of a father training his only daughter from childhood to lure to his death a famous artist, held guilty by the parent of having won the love of his wife. The father's quest for vengeance ends in his death in the ruins of his burning chateau and his daughter is saved to become the wife of the artist. Earle Williams and Edith Storey are featured in the "Vengeance of Durand," which will appear in the Grand theatre tomorrow, and which is replete with tense climaxes. Four other screen stars, all of the first magnitude, are in the cast—L. Rogers Lytton, Julia Swayne Gordon, Harry Northrup and E. K. Lincoln.

INSTRUCTIONS ARE LACKING

Local Boards Have Received No Orders as Yet as to First Five Per Cent.

MAY BE SELECTED IS THE BELIEF First District in City to Certify List of Men in a Few Days.

With the certification of the names of soldiers from the second and third districts of the city, the next problem that confronts the board members will be the selection of the first 5 per cent of men who are to leave or Camp Taylor Sept. 5. Instructions as to the manner in which this small percentage is to be selected are lacking. According to newspaper dispatches, however, the first 5 per cent of men will not be taken in their liability order but will be selected by the board from the entire list of men who have been certified.

The belief is that the first 5 per cent of men from each district will be men who have had some experience in military work, and bakers and cooks. The first district board of the city will be ready to announce its certified list within the next few days. The country district, however, will not be ready to make the announcement for several days as the board is busy examining and passing on exemption claims.

The Indiana district board still has a stupendous amount of work before them and it will be at least a week or ten days before they will be able to see their way clear. No action has been taken on city claims.

RECEIVES NO ORDERS YET

Company E Will Not Leave the City for Several Days.

OFFICERS LEAVE FOR LOUISVILLE
Company B, Signal Corps, Safely Housed in Lincoln School.

No orders have been received for Company E to leave for Fort Benjamin Harrison, according to announcement made Tuesday by Captain Ray McAdams. The announcement was made necessary because of a published report that the company had been ordered to leave at once.

Captain McAdams further emphasized that anyone who possessed a modicum of understanding about troop movements would readily see that it would be impossible for the company to leave today even if orders had been received Monday evening.

He asks that parents of the members of the company to not be alarmed over an announcement of this kind, as he says he will give the official announcement as soon as the orders to report are received. It is his opinion that the orders will be received in a few days and that the company including Company B will be at Fort Harrison by the first of next week.

Newly designated officers of the officers' training camp left at 1:25 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on a special car over the G. R. & I. for Louisville, Ky., where they will assume their new duties and prepare for the coming of the first conscript army.

Commissioned officers who left Tuesday for Camp Taylor at Louisville were the following: Homer P. Miller, Frank W. Landenberg, Robert H. Kiehn, Thomas T. Pontius, Charles S. Cherry, James Ewing Bond, Herbert H. Koelg, James M. McKay, Elmer E. Cross, Percy Cooper, William O'Rourke, Lewis P. Baade, Alvin W. Egan, Clem Stegmeyer, Hugo D. Wyneken, Paul G. Stevens, Harry H. Landes, Charles E. Meredith, Stout, Steve E. Burns, Edward O'Rourke, Godfrey J. Gladbach, Samuel D. Jackson, Carl W. Schmidt, George A. Street, Karl Detzer, Carl S. Hoffman, Wm. Reed.

At Lincoln School. Company B, signal corps, is safely housed at the Lincoln school, north of the city and on account of unfavorable weather no reports by means of flag signals could be conveyed to the city Tuesday morning.

Fifteen men were sent from the local regular army recruiting station to Fort Thomas, Ky., Monday evening.

Ice Cream Social Postponed. Members of the B. of B. club girls will give an ice cream social for the benefit of the Red Cross on Wednesday evening at Lakeside park, instead of Tuesday evening, on account of the rain.

Ordered to Report. Dr. Willis W. Carey, of 2525 South Calhoun street, has received orders to report for six weeks' training at John Hopkins university at Baltimore, Md. Dr. Carey was commissioned as a lieutenant in the medical reserve corps. The local physician will leave in the next week or ten days.

Sign Pay Roll. Happy were the members of Company E, Tuesday morning. Their happiness consisted of two things. First, they did not have to drill, due to the unfavorable weather conditions and, secondly, they signed their first month's pay roll. It is not believed, however, that they will be paid in Fort Wayne.

Will Get Transportation. The local recruiting office of the navy will remain open next Sunday to arrange transportation for men who are here awaiting orders, according to information received Tuesday by A. G. Kattan, local recruiting officer. The navy is still in need of men contrary to the general opinion, according to Kattan, and enlistment of men who have not yet been called up in the draft is asked. The services of cooks, bakers and radio men is especially desired.

AMERICAN EXPLORERS IN ANDES STILL SAFE

Having Hard Time and Yet Have Many Difficulties to Overcome.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—Anxiety of friends here for the safety of Daniel M. Wise and Bradley Jones, who were reported in a letter received in San Francisco, Sunday, as being in danger of death in a jungle in South America, has been relieved by a later letter which, though telling of hazardous adventures, expressed the hope that the two men would be able to push through the mountains to Peru to the coast.

Wise and Jones, it was learned today, set out on an expedition to South America on September 30, 1916, and are connected with the department of terrestrial magnetism of Carnegie institute of Washington, D. C., instead of the Carnegie institute of Pittsburgh, as previously reported. The later letter was mailed at Uchiza, Peru, and was written by Wise while they were on the river Quillogus, a branch of the Amazon.

At the time of writing the party had not eaten bread for more than three weeks and had been subsisting on green bananas, either boiled or baked. A number of valuable scientific instruments and their entire supply of money was lost a few days before the letter was written when their canoe struck a snag and capsized.

To reach the coast, Wise wrote, they would have to cross two ranges of the Andes and pass through several belts where malignant fevers and diseases are common.

RAIL EQUIPMENT HAS BEEN SAVED FOR WAR SERVICE

Norfolk Va., Aug. 28.—President Harahan, of the Seaboard Air line, and chairman of the southeastern department of the railroads' war board, announced today that the roads in his department up to August 15, had eliminated 116 passenger train schedules as a part of the movement for increased efficiency in handling troops, ammunition, supplies and foodstuffs. This has resulted in releasing 91 locomotives and 426 men for other service, and will result in a coal saving of 233,764 tons a year. Permission has been asked of the corporation commissions of the various states for authority to discontinue thirty additional passenger trains.

WANT ADVANCE PAYMENTS. Washington, Aug. 28.—Advance payments for supplies for the army and navy as yet undelivered, have been asked by contractors, and the treasury department is considering making such payments to enable the contractors to go ahead with their work. In most instances contractors are operating on insufficient capital to enable them to turn out supplies in the volume needed by the government.

SPEED KINGS ENTERED. Providence, Aug. 28.—Louis Chevrolet, Ira Vail and Peter Henderson are among the entrants for the 100-mile derby automobile race to be held on the Narragansett park speedway on September 1. Four other races will be run, including one of twenty-five miles.

WILL DRILL AT BLUFFTON. Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 28.—Members of Company A, Decatur, will come here in automobiles and drill on the streets this evening, it was announced by Captain Dunn.

WOMEN OF NATIONS TO MEET. Stockholm, Aug. 28.—An international conference of women from both belligerent and neutral countries will be held here Sept. 16-18. The conference will be of a semi-official nature.

CAN NOT KNIT FOR SOLDIERS

Teachers Are Distracted from Institute Work, Says County Agent.

But Not While Sessions Are in Progress—Superintendent Ill.

Knitting socks for soldiers, tatting, or other war relief work which other women are feverishly pursuing now days, together with Red Cross and other philanthropic enterprises, may be all right in the right places, but they won't do for those attending sessions of the Allen County Teachers' institute, so County Agent A. J. Hutchins, who is substituting for County Superintendent D. O. McComb, told the assemblage Tuesday morning at the high school. The superintendent is ill and unable to attend the sessions of the institute.

The women were told that they would not allow anything to go on in the school room which would distract attention from school work and that it was not proper that anything of the sort should take place in the meetings of the institute, whereupon a small flurry of excitement ensued. One specimen of the work being done was held up for the teachers to view. Mr. Hutchins' idea was objected to strenuously in some quarters as not being in line with the spirit of the day in subordinating everything else to the importance of war work.

Large Attendance. The high school auditorium was well filled for the second day's institute program despite the fact that the inclement weather kept many from attending. The rain worked a particular hardship on many who wished to attend from outside the city.

Dr. Gordy's subject was "Some Suggestions on Recitation." He dwelt particularly on the importance of putting the personal touch in history teaching in fifth, sixth and seventh grades where it is often a case of mere memorization. He declared that inasmuch as history itself was made of men's lives that a more intimate relationship should be established between the pupils and the subject being studied.

Dean William F. Barr continued his subject of Monday with his talk on "School, Surveys and Their Lessons." Singing by the teachers under the direction of Prof. Stophar was one of the features of the day's program as was a mandolin solo, "Spring Song," from Mendelssohn, by Artemus Higges. Doris Slon Smith, daughter of Dr. J. S. Smith, was on the program for a recitation in the afternoon under the direction of Miss Philley, teacher of expression, who gave recitations from Burns.

Wednesday's program follows: Invocation.....Rev. J. A. Nipper "Testing Pupils and Teachers".....Dean Barr Music.....Prof. Stophar Mardolin Solo.....Artemus Higges "Geography, the Physical Basis of History".....Dr. Gordy

Afternoon. "Geography, the Physical Basis of History".....Dr. Gordy Music.....Prof. Stophar Readings.....Miss Philley "Testing Pupils and Teachers".....Dean Barr

RAIN BRINGS SLUMP IN REGISTRATIONS

Less Than Forty Sign for City Vote on Tuesday Morning.

Ardor of citizens who would register for a ballot in the coming city election was dampened by the rainfall Tuesday morning. Less than forty had prepared for their votes at noon. Registering at the drug stores and other business points about the city, on Monday night, was also light in most sections.

Arrangements have been made for registration to be carried on at the following stores on Tuesday evening, between 7 and 9 o'clock:

Joe Hutzell drug store, 1402 West Main street.

Zimmerman drug store, Lewis and Lafayette.

Weihe's drug store, 1936 Calhoun.

COUNCIL HOPES TO SETTLE ON BUDGET

Garbage Question Will Be Principal Subject for Talk.

Council members hope to settle the matter of the city budget for 1918 at the regular session Tuesday night. The drawback to settling the financial topic for next year is the matter of garbage disposal. Councilmen expect to have a definite report which will allow them to cut down the garbage figures by $7,000.

It is understood by city officials that an efficiency expert on the matter of garbage reduction is on his way to the city and should be at the council session. The man is driving to Fort Wayne from Cleveland by automobile. He is expected in the city in time to meet members of the board of works and to aid in settling the contract between the city and the Fort Wayne Rendering company. If the expert is in the city on Tuesday evening he will probably be called upon to address the council members.

Mayor W. J. Hosey is expected to have something to say to the council. He wishes to urge upon the lawmakers that they should not lose sight of the value of establishing a piggery for caring for city garbage. He wants councilmen to save a part of the money to be gained by the rendering company contract, for the purchase of hogs for stocking a city farm, for using at least a part of the garbage.

CITY GETS PARK. Brookview Company Donates Strip of Seven Acres.

Seven acres of beautiful park land has been added to the city park property by a gift by the Brookview Realty company. The strip of wooded land extends from the point where Clinton street crosses Spy Run avenue and goes northwesterly through the entire Brookview addition, west of the Centlivre brewery.

The new park property was formally accepted for the city by the board of park commissioners in their Monday afternoon session. Members of the park board later took a tour of inspection over the new city property. They state that they believe it a most valuable addition to the city park system. The land is dotted with large trees and follows the winding course of the Spy Run creek. There are several natural "swimmin' holes" along the stream and a number of excellent sites for other bathing pools.

Deed for the land will be made within a week. It is stated that a similar gift is expected when the Centlivre park, north of the Brookview addition, is opened next year. If the gift is made the city will have a continuous strip of park ground from Lawton park to Vesey park.

GETTING TOGETHER. Wabash and Pennsylvania Companies Talk Elevator.

Final plans for the construction of the Wabash and Pennsylvania companies' elevator at the intersection of the two streets, near the Centlivre park, will be discussed at a meeting of the board of works, Tuesday evening.

streets should be completed within a week, city officials have been told. Arrangements for drawing up the last prints were discussed by officers of the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads on Monday afternoon, in the local offices of the Pennsylvania company.

Problems of working out plans for arranging network of tracks in the south yards was the main point of discussion. The Wabash and Pennsylvania tracks cross and recross each other many times in making the approach to the Lafayette street region. Simplifying the arrangement of the industrial courses is being prepared by the separate railroad corporations, who hope to have their print ready within a week.

Timber Ordered. Timbers for the roof of the reservoir have been ordered, the board of works has been told. It is understood that the planks for covering the basin are to come from St. Louis. The lumber will be bought at a figure much above that signed for the original shipment of timbers, which have been taken by the government.

Birth Record. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morrison, 2010 Warsaw street—a boy.

To Mr. and Mrs. Albert Platt, 130 East State street—a girl.

To Mr. and Mrs. Michael Krock, 1028 East Wayne street—a girl.

Wall Less Than $11,000. The Moellering Construction company was granted the contract for building the retaining wall along the St. Joe river, from the State street bridge to the Centlivre brewery. The wall will be built for $10,617. The Indiana Engineering company bid $11,725 on the job of erecting the big wall.

On Vacations. Clifford Smith, clerk in the waterworks office, and Harry Bradley, draftsman in the same office, are enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

Building Permit. A building permit was issued to Jacob Westrick for remodeling a frame dwelling at 2413 East Woodlawn avenue at a cost of $325.

Postpone Concert. The park board concert scheduled for Tuesday evening at Lakeside park will be given Wednesday evening, Aug. 29. The grounds in the park are too wet to give the concert Tuesday night.

Will Meet in Indianapolis. Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 28.—The annual meeting of the County Commissioner Association of Indiana will be held in Indianapolis instead of at Terre Haute, as it had been planned. The convention will meet Sept. 25, 26 and 27. Announcement to that effect was made here today.

GERMANY OUT OF SCHOOLBOOKS. Amsterdam, Aug. 28.—The supply of schoolbooks in Germany will soon be exhausted, according to the Voelische Zeitung. Publishers of schoolbooks have been notified that they may use what stocks of paper they have on hand, but they will not be allowed to print any more schoolbooks.

Leaders Return Home and Win Hitting Contest From Chiefs

Siegfried and Glockson Both Get Credit for Circuit Smashes.

Grand Rapids, Aug. 23.—In a game in which both clubs had the upper hand frequently, Grand Rapids finally won out 9 to 5 and started the series of home games with a victory after being out for a long road trip. It was a contest featured by some heavy hitting on both sides. Siegfried got in some big stick work for the Chiefs, knocking out on circuit smash and at another time a three-base swat.

Faeth had his hands full from the very start, and before he got going strong, the Chiefs had put over three markers, and it looked like a disastrous proposition for the home outfit. Glockson booted a costly one, however, which resulted in four runs being scored against the Chiefs which seemed to take the heart out of them, and from that juncture the league leaders had things pretty well in their own hands.

In the second inning Siegfried connected with one of Faeth's offerings for his long one which, with the aid of a strong wind, was carried over the centerfield fence. Kelly tripped to center and scored on Vandagriff's bunt.

In one big inning the Michiganans took things into their own hands and did some scoring which did not allow the Chiefs to recuperate. Jantzen and Devormer got singles. Tannehill flew out to Wilcox and Faeth walked, filling the bases. Alcock drove a liner at Glockson which bounced off the plate, crossed the plate while Alcock drew up at third. Mathies flew out to Kelly, ending the scoring for the period.

Grand Rapids scored three more runs in the seventh when they hammered out five hits and ended by some slow fielding, practically put the game out of reach of the Chiefs. The Fort Wayne score was augmented by one more run in the eighth when Glockson gave the pill a mighty slash which sent him around the four bags for a circuit drive. As in Siegfried's homer, the ball went over the short fence.

NOTRE DAME TO HAVE FOOTBALL AS USUAL

Coach Will Face Handicap Because of Athletes in the Army.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 23.—With every school shorn of its prominent athletes by the recently announced army commissions and the workings of the conscription act, the caliber of this year's teams is bound to be below the standard of other seasons. Coaches everywhere are going to be hard put for material, but they will have an unprecedented opportunity to show their ability to develop green material.

Notre Dame plans merely to continue her policy adopted at the outbreak of the war, and go on with athletics as in time of peace. Not a school in the country has lost more football players in the last twelve months than the local institution, but nevertheless she plans to go through with the schedules. Of last year's team Coffell, Bachman, Miller, Baujan, Ward, Dorais, Frantz and Jones were lost by graduation. Bergman, Slackford, Fitzpatrick, Grant, McInerney, Murphy and O'Hara have received army commissions. Coughlin and Malone have volunteered, and King and DeGree have lined up with the second officers' reserve training corps.

That the coaches of this part of the country are alive to the situation before them may be seen from the following expressions of opinion by some of the best known athletic leaders.

Coach Harper, of Notre Dame, says: "You know the situation we will be up against. All of last year's men are in some department of the service, and we will be lucky if we have two or three veterans on our football team. Of course we will make players out of men that have not come out for football before. Every man in college who has not been conscripted and who by any stretch of the imagination can be made into a football player will have to be made so. Of course we may lose games, but forget that. Athletes make the best soldiers, and Notre Dame is going to make some more athletes. Notre Dame would be foolish to abolish the freshman rule."

WESTERN METEOR BURNS UP COURTS IN NATIONAL PATRIOTIC TENNIS SINGLES

JOHN R. STRACHAN

John R. Strachan, who is burning a meteor-like career across the eastern courts may bring back to California the tennis honors taken from the westerners by R. Norris Williams, national champion of 1916, eliminated from the 1917 championship by N. W. Niles of Boston.

Strachan possesses the bullet speed of Maurice McLoughlin, although he is not so rugged as the great Californian.

The coast star was practically unknown in the east until his invasion this year in which he has been particularly successful.

"YOUNG" KLENKE, LOCAL BOXER, SEEKS OFFICER'S COMMISSION

CORPORAL AUG. C. KLENKE.

This is a picture of Corporal Aug. C. Klenke, of Battery D, First Indiana Field Artillery, a well known boxer. He will be well remembered by local fight fans.

Corporal Klenke was born on August 21, 1893, and was educated at the Concordia parochial school, International Business college and the International Correspondence school. He enlisted in Battery D, First Indiana Field Artillery, April 9, 1917. He was made corporal on June 8 and has been selected for admission to the second officers' reserve training camp.

Klenke was the only one selected from the Fort Wayne batteries. He passed three examinations, two physical tests and one mental. The first physical examination was very strict. The second was before a colonel, majors, captains and their assistants. The third examination was the same as the first, but by different doctors who checked the first doctor's report.

Klenke has fought in nearly every city in the central states and has a good record as a fighter throughout the country. He was handicapped on account of weight, being too heavy for a lightweight and too small for a middweight. Welterweight, the class under which he would come, doesn't pay much money. In order to get in the money, however, Klenke weighing 141 to 145 pounds in condition, has fought several middleweights and has always given a good account of himself. He was never knocked out in his life and has only lost two newspaper decisions, which were against much heavier men than himself. He was never whipped by any man he fought.

Klenke is a lad that realizes that his future depends upon the next three months and he will without a doubt take advantage of this opportunity.

IMPROVED CONDITION

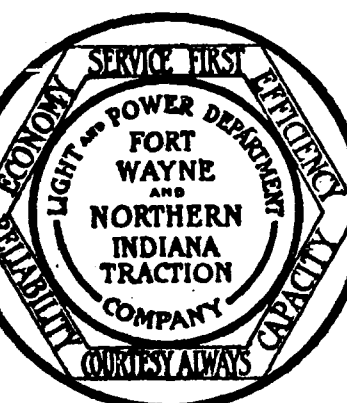

IMPROVED CONDITION BRINGS HIGH PRAISE FOR IRONATED HERBS WITH PEPSEIN.

People in nearly every line of business are daily praising Ironated Herbs with Pepsin and telling of the great benefit which they have derived from its use. Among those who have made statements in regard to the new preparation is R. L. Brickey, proprietor and manager of the Doxey Hotel, Anderson, Ind. Mr. Brickey said: "Ironated Herbs with Pepsin means a great deal to me, for I really believe this new medicine has kept me from being a real sick man. Before I began taking Ironated Herbs, I suffered with severe stomach trouble. In fact, I was all rundown and very weak. I hardly felt that I had strength enough to tend to my business at times. My appetite was poor and my food did not seem to give me the proper nourishment. I did not sleep well and when I got up in the morning, I felt just as tired as if I had not been to bed at all. I heard about Ironated Herbs through a friend of mine who had taken it for a similar trouble and obtained fine results. Taking my friend's advice, I bought a bottle of Ironated Herbs with Pepsin and began taking it. Now I feel like a new man. My appetite has improved and I seem to have new strength and energy. I sleep like a log every night and get up feeling fresh and ready for a good day's work. I can surely recommend Ironated Herbs to anyone who is suffering as I was and will be glad to tell everyone who asks me, what a great remedy it is."

Ironated Herbs with Pepsin (liquid form), that did so much to improve the health of Mr. Brickey, is daily bringing new strength and vigor to nervous, rundown men and women, puts good blood in the veins. The organic iron which it contains, bringing strength and vitality, the pepsin aids digestion and the herbs tone up the liver.—Advertisement.

THE ALASKA FASHION MIGHT WORK WITH DEADBEATS FARTHER SOUTH

Chief Sennehart of the Thlinkets.

(Staff Special.)
Sitka Alaska, Aug. 28.—Here's a hunch from a big Thlinket Indian chief on how to get even with your enemies. The chief and his tribesmen had just finished building a handsome war canoe. Hollowed it from a gigantic log, patiently, laboriously. It had been painted with grotesque designs, indicative of the Thlinkets' prowess in battle, their wisdom and their general excellence over all other folks.

And then Sennehart, the accused southwest wind, came howling in from the Pacific. In a moment it had piled the splendid war canoe up on the rocky beach, smashing it to kindling. A frightful hate lashed the old chief. Terrible vengeance shook him. He would put an everlasting curse upon the southwest wind.

And so he got even by assuming the name Sennehart.

Today when it comes stealing in to spoil man's handiwork, to pile ships on the reef, the wind advertises its own shame. Men jeer at it. Women spit in its teeth. Children do not fear it. For it is a nameless wretch.

Do you get the idea? Here's how it works in a human way:

Among the Thlinkets a debt is a sacred obligation. Failure to repay is blackest disgrace.

Occasionally, however, a father cannot discharge an obligation. Then his son assumes it—his son's son, if need be. But even so there are occasions when a debt remains unpaid.

Then the aggrieved Thlinket takes upon himself the name of his creditor, so that all men may know the latter's shame. It is a terrible thing among the tribe thus to lose one's identity.

No wonder the southwest wind yammers unendingly for Sennehart to lift his subtle curse. It can never repay him for his war canoe.

ONE MAN APPEALS TO THE PRESIDENT

C. Guy Crowell, of Whitley County, Claims Exemption on Agricultural Grounds

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Aug. 28.—The Whitley county exemption board was busy Monday working on the names of those discharged for physical reasons during the draft examinations made last week. Although the local board has received no instructions to the following effect, it is not believed the letter of President Wilson to Secretary of War Baker, regarding exemption of married men with no children will be any effect on the local certification to the district board, in view of the fact that the local board, in certifying married men made allowance for married men whose wives would be thrown upon charity in case their husbands were called. Of the two young men certified to the state conscription agent from Whitley county, so far C. Guy Crowell, who was married last spring, and resides with his father, Henry Crowell, near Raber, has petitioned to the president of the United States to obtain exemption on agricultural grounds. The district board at Fort Wayne recently turned down his petition filed with them.

GARFIELD, COAL HEAD, HAS PUNCH AND WILL NEED IT

He's Square-Jawed, But Coal Baron's Opposition Will Be More Concentrated Than Food Hogs—Don't Expect Sudden Drop in Prices at Once.

By HARRY B. HUNT.
(Staff Special.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—Dr. Harry A. Garfield, who made good as chairman of the president's special wheat price committee and now has taken the reins as federal coal administrator, is a square-jawed man who looks physically able to take care of himself in any sort of scrap.

Further, he radiates personality. Before you have spoken with him you know behind the clear eyes and expressive mouth is a mind as vigorous as his body.

The outstanding impression Garfield leaves is of vigor, decision and fairness. It would be a waste of time to attempt to mislead him. If he didn't already know the facts he would find them out.

These assets will stand Garfield in good stead as coal administrator. For the coal barons' opposition will be more concentrated and hostile than Hoover has found in food administration.

Garfield is 54, but looks like a man in his early forties. He is the eldest son of former President Garfield. Although a lawyer by profession, he has spent most of his life as an educator. He has been professor of law and politics in Western Reserve and Princeton universities, respectively, and president of Williams college since 1908.

As coal administrator he will work in close touch with the federal trade commission to give the consumer relief. That is the only program. It is general. The thousand complicated details will be worked out as they are reached.

Judge Lovett's priority board order that all coal in the Ohio and adjacent fields be given right-of-way to the lake ports and up the lakes is an example of the method to be employed.

A lot of people who expect the price on their stove coal to drop from $9 to $2, and even business men who buy in large quantities, will be disappointed in the immediate effects.

The law will not affect coal for which contracts have been made, and certainly more than half the coal mined and consumed is subject to contracts running from one month to five years ahead.

CHINA OFFERING LARGE ARMY TO ASSIST ALLIES

Peking, Thursday, Aug. 23.—(Delayed)—Generals Lo Pei-Ching, Lung Chi-Kwang and Ku Chin-Tan, commanding 50,000 troops of Yunnan, Kwei-Chow and Kwang-Tung provinces, have offered forces for service in Europe. The provisional governors of Yunnan and Kwang-Tung have given official recognition of Peking's declaration of war against Germany, apparently having been reconciled to the government of the acting president, Gen. Feng Kow Chang. The hostile movement in the southern provinces is now plainly a fiasco. Eighteen provinces have approved the program for a national council, which probably will be established within a fortnight. The press generally is urging China to present an undivided front to the enemy.

HE ATTACKS FOUR HOSTILE PLANES AND SAVES LIFE

Somewhere on the French Front, Sunday, Aug. 26.—Lieut. Raoul Lufberry, of the Lafayette escadrille, saved his colleague in a patrol flight, Sergt. Robert Soubrian, of South Boston, from probable death today, when Soubrian was suddenly attacked by four German machines of the Albatross type while he was flying at a low altitude. The German machines were over Soubrian, attempting to down him, when Lufberry, seeing his companion's plight, darted at the enemy aviators, scattering them and allowing Soubrian to escape. Lieutenant Lufberry was warmly praised by the officers and men of the command for his bravery in attacking single-handed four enemy machines.

AUTO BANDITS CLEAN UP A LARGE PAYROLL

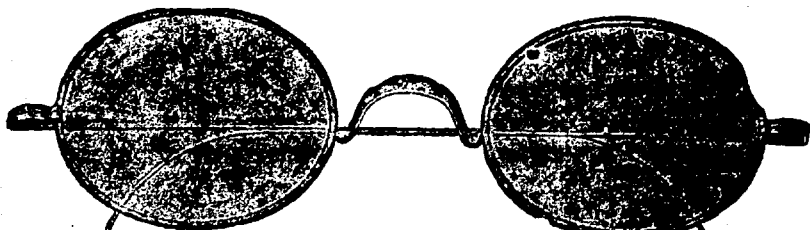

Chicago Desperadoes Kill Two Men and Get Away With $8,000.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 28.—Two men carrying $8,100, the pay roll of the Winslow Brothers Iron works, were shot to death in front of the plant today by five bandits who escaped with the money in an automobile.

Louis Oesenberg and Barton Allen, the slain pay roll messengers, were returning from a bank in an automobile. As they stopped in front of the entrance of the iron works a car containing the robbers drew up. Three of the bandits leaped from the machine and opened fire with revolvers. Oesenberg and Allen fell with bullets in their heads. The bandits fired more than twenty shots. A score of persons witnessed the killing.

No lives were lost, White said, the ship being sunk by gunfire after the crew had taken to lifeboats. They were picked up by a French cruiser and landed at Saloniki.

SENATE HAS WAR TAX UP

LaFollette Has Amendments for Profits Rate from 76 Per Cent Down.

Senator Weeks Discusses the Tax on Publishing Business.

Washington, Aug. 28.—In resuming consideration today of postage sections of the war tax bill, the senate by a vote of 39 to 28 struck out the provision levying a one cent tax on letters and postcards designed to raise $50,000,000 in revenue. A provision giving American soldiers and sailors abroad the privilege of mailing letters free was retained.

Eight amendments to the war tax bill, providing levies and war profits ranging from 76 down to 48 per cent, were introduced today by Senator LaFollette.

The entire section levying taxes on first class mail was eliminated on motion of Senator Hardwick, of Georgia. The senate then proceeded to the periodical tax provisions.

Senator Smoot announced that he would seek later to reconsider elimination of the letter tax section.

Senator LaFollette said he would first offer the amendment for the highest—76 per cent rate, and if it was rejected would ask consideration of the next in order until one was accepted. The bill as it now stands would make an average tax of 26 per cent.

Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, opened debate on the publishers' tax, advocating their elimination. He also urged rejection of the Hardwick and McKellar substitutes.

"Nobody denies that second-class mail is carried at a loss. But whose fault is it? Congress established and maintained the rates. This is a most inopportune time to punish—not tax—the publishers. Having permitted a great business to be developed under this condition is it fair or reasonable to take the time when the industry is laboring under the heaviest possible burdens to commerce to change it?"

New Fall Coats

Wonderful, indeed, are the luxurious new Coatings—cashmere, suede, bolivia, pom pom, silver velour, broadcloth, burella, crystal cloth, duvet de laine, silk plush and velours—all find fitting adaptations in the new styles.

Beautiful, indeed, are the many distinctive fancy linings and the rich fur trimmings on many of the individual models make an especial appeal.

The short waist line is featured on many of the smart misses' models. The new Coats for motor-ing, travel or utility wear have many important distinguishing features of design or material which render them delightfully interesting.

Those who take advantage of the present introductory prices will make important savings. Later prices for similar qualities must necessarily be much higher. Wonderful values at

$19.75, $25, $35, $39.50

New Fall Dresses and Costumes

Georgette crepes are much favored in combination with crepe meteor and satin. The simpler frocks cling to the long straight lines, but the fluffy draped Skirts are shown on the more elaborate costumes. Black, navy, dark brown, beige are the favored colors.

Street Dresses are especially interesting when developed in fine men's wear serges or in serge and satin combinations. Navy serge with black satin is the popular combination. Straight lines are most favored in these. Many are embroidered, and buttons and stitchings are used for adornment.

Assortments are now so unusually complete and prices so low, as compared with later prices, that tomorrow would be an opportune time to make selection. Price range from $12.50 to $100

NEW FALL SUITS

Smart tailoring and individuality are their outstanding characteristics. A decided change in the skirts is noted—very much more narrow and slightly longer. Sleeves are frequently long and tight, closing snugly around the wrist. The great variety of soft, beautiful fabrics employed, their rich Autumn colorings, ranging from sombre to gay—and the wide variety of distinctive new styles offer opportunity for women to express their individuality in dress this season as never before.

Misses' Suits are subtly youthful and smart—many are extremely tailored and for those requiring larger than ordinary sizes there are many specialized models designed to give that grace and charm of style rarely attained except in the smaller regular sizes.

The early prices are moderate, starting as low as $19.75 and going up to $135, with a wonderful collection at $29.50, $35, $49.50 and $65.

OFFICERS ARE ASKED TO JOIN IN CHORUS

"Sing Fruit Drying Wherever You Go," They Are Told.

Fort Wayne health officers have been asked to join the crusade for the inducing of housewives to dry fruits and vegetables.

"Sing the song of conversation everywhere you go," requests the bulletin from the United States department of agriculture, which was delivered at the health board office, Monday.

"Whenever you visit a home tell the housewife the following pointers, which she ought to know," instructs the federal bulletin.

The pointers which wife ought to know are as follows:

"There is no difficulty about home drying fruits and vegetables. Sun drying of fruit was a common enough home industry a few years ago.

"A few trays bent out of coarse wire netting and fitted like removable shelves into a lath frame are all you need to dry over your range or gas stove or before an electric fan.

"Yes, There have been recent improvements in grandmother's successful method." It has been found that currents of air are better than heat in removing surplus water.

"Water is all that is taken out; flavor, texture and food value are not impaired. Soaking and cooking restore the succulent quality so important in the winter diet.

"Dried products can be kept in paper containers."

Hundreds of tons of peach and apricot seeds, which have been thrown away every season heretofore by the canning factories in the great fruit districts of California, are now sold as fuel and bring $2.50 a ton retail. Formerly the seeds were considered too hard for fuel, but recently it was found that when heated in a stove burning hard coal they soon pop open and ignite, after which they burn with an intense glow like that of anthracite, and are practically smokeless, besides holding a fire well.—Popular Mechanic.

entente allies. M. Pachitch had before him the formal proclamation of this state—a sort of new declaration of independence—which had been agreed on after lengthy councils between the various ministers, the president of the Serbian parliament, the king and regent now at Saloniki and all the other elements affected.

What New Nation Will Embrace.
M. Pachitch first took a large map of the Balkans and pointed out the sweep of territory included in this new Slav kingdom.

"It embraces," he said, "the territory over which the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes are distributed through the western Balkans. They are all essentially one race, with one language, which has been kept broken into small groups by the political policy of Austria-Hungary. We now propose to bring these scattered groups together again and give them a democratic government based on the noble principles defined by the United States. Pointing to the map M. Pachitch drew a large circle to include Serbia, Montenegro, Bosnia, Herzegovina, Dalmatia, Croatia, Slavonia and the eastern part of Istria, back of Trieste, where the Italians are heading. These together make an imposing area—double or triple Spain or any of the secondary powers of like area of population and approximating some of the great powers. It would be a great sea power as well and the premier pointed with satisfaction to the long sea front on the Adriatic, giving access thence to the Mediterranean, the Atlantic and the commerce of the world.

Now Mass of Rivalries.
This is the country which Austria has long split into little rival communities, trusting that their internal discords would keep them from uniting. "Here we propose to establish a united Slav nation," M. Pachitch went on "with a government having these essential points: A monarchy based on democracy and the rights of the people to be consulted; with a constitutional system, a parliament and a responsible ministry. Elections will be by universal and equal suffrage, secret ballot. All titles of nobility, baron, count, etc., will be abolished. The ancient form of a monarchy is retained in deference to tradition and in recognition of the ancient service of the Karaorovich dynasty, which will be at the head of the new state. Complete freedom of religion will be guaranteed. While there will be but one king for the united nation, yet each state, Croatia, Dalmatia, etc., will be autonomous and self governing, on

ous sections of the socialist and labor parties. The conference is to consult and if possible agree on the policy to be followed in regard to the international socialist conference at Stockholm. If it proves to be impossible to reach an agreement the various sections will put forward their own views at Stockholm.

The chief subject for consideration by the conference, however, is the war aims of the allies. A report on the matter has been drawn up by the executive committee of the British labor party, as well as by the French labor party and an effort will be made to reach an agreement.

The sessions of the conference will be private. Reports of each day's proceedings will be issued.

PRICELESS ART TREASURES ARE TAKEN IN RUSSIA

Petrograd, Aug. 28.—Art treasures and pictures valued at 5,000,000 rubles have been stolen from the great historical museum of the late Grand Duke Michael Nikolaevich. A painting by Corregio, valued at 500,000 rubles, was among the articles taken. The police have searched 150 houses but have found no trace of the booty. The robbery is one of a series that have taken place recently. Early this month six armed robbers stole silver statues and antiques, valued at 1,500,000 rubles from the senate building.

region of their last success on the edge of the Beaumont village, east of the Meuse, for considerable artillery activity is reported today from the Beaumont sector. In the Aisne region General Potain's guns stopped short two attacks by the crown prince in the Calonne plateau and Chevreux regions.

Further news of General Cadorna's successful operations against the Austrians along the Isonzo and Carso fronts is being awaited with eagerness. The reports of yesterday covering Sunday's operations which indicated the successful progress of the great campaign for Trieste, have not as yet been supplemented. Signs of disaffection on the Russian front keep cropping out at points along the line. Another instance is given in today's official report from Petrograd. The voluntary retreat is announced of Russian forces in the region east of Czernowitz, near the Bessarabian border. The Austrians moved up their infantry and occupied the position when the Russians gave way.

Berlin reports this advance as the result of an attack which gave the Teutonic forces possession of important positions of Czernowitz with more than one thousand prisoners and six guns.

Russia's national conference in Moscow heard General Korniloff, commander-in-chief of the armies, present the military needs of the nation. He emphasized the necessity of an army regenerated by drastic measures and assured of adequate support from the country.

"The situation at the front was still bad," General Korniloff reported, but he expressed confidence in the army's ultimate rehabilitation. He was given a tremendous ovation.

GETTING GUARDS AT FORT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 28.—Companies of the First and Fourth Indiana infantry regiments, which have been encamped in and near Indianapolis moved to Fort Benjamin Harrison today in compliance with a recent order to mobilize the Indiana national guard there. Other companies of the two regiments will report at Fort Harrison as soon as possible. No orders relative to the Second and Third Indiana regiments have been made public.

FRENCH AND BRITISH OFFICERS COME HERE

Seasoned Soldiers Will Instruct Americans in Modern Art.

Washington, Aug. 28.—A group of French and British army officers, specialists in various details of trench warfare, will be attached to national guard and national army camps under plans worked out by the war department to expedite training troops for special conditions they will meet at the front. French and British officers have been asked to detail officers and probably eight or ten will be assigned to each of the thirty-two camps.

The foreign officers will not come in direct touch with the American troops. The training will be done entirely by the American officers of the companies, regiments or brigades but the American will have the opportunity of consulting with their foreign associates who have had actual experience at the front with control of artillery fire, bombing attacks, machine guns and co-ordinating movements of infantry units in attack or on defensive operations.

There will be men who have learned under fire the lessons of maintaining telegraph or telephone communications. Others whose specialty has been co-ordination of airplane observation with the movements of the infantry. Others who have been highly trained in observation balloons and on through the list of highly specialized military subjects that have been developed in three years of trench warfare.

Learning these lessons of co-ordination of forces is vital to the efficiency of the American troops when they face the grounds across No Man's land.

HOUSTON IS PROBING IT

board wishes, it has announced, to acquaint Houston citizens with "all phases of the disturbance and to establish a record for the future." Generally said this morning he would not permit any officer or man under his command to testify at the city investigation. "Of course," he added, "if the permission of the war department can be obtained I shall have no objection."

Major K. W. Snow, former commander of the raiding negro soldiers, has received instructions from Washington that he could testify. The board had telegraphed Washington to let him be a witness.

ANARCHY RULES RANKS OF SLAVS SAYS KORNILOFF

said the death penalty, restoration of which he had asked, together with other measures, constitutes only a small part of what was necessary in an army stricken with the terrible evils of disorganization and insubordination.

In the present month, General Korniloff said, soldiers had killed four regimental commanders and other officers and ceased these outrages only when they were threatened with being shot. "Q. What is the result of the revolts of Siberian rifles which had fought so splendidly at the beginning of the revolution, abandoned its positions on the Riga front. Nothing except an order to exterminate the entire regiment availed to cause it to return to its positions.

Anarchy in the Army.
"Thus we are in a predicament fighting anarchy in the army," the commander continued. "Undoubtedly it finally will be repressed, but the danger of fresh debacles is weighing constantly on the country.

"The situation on the front is bad. We have lost the whole of Galicia, the whole of Bukovina and all the fruits of our recent victories. At several points the enemy has crossed our frontiers and is threatening our fertile southern provinces. He is endeavoring to destroy the Rumanian army and is knocking at the gates of Riga. If our army does not hold the line, the whole of Riga, the road to Petrograd will be opened wide.

"The old regime guaranteed to Russia an army which despite all the defects in its organization was animated by a fighting spirit and was ready for sacrifice. The whole series of measures taken by those who are completely foreign to the spirit and needs of the army has transformed it into a collection of individual groups which have lost all sense of duty and only tremble for their own personal safety.

Army Alone Can Save Russia.
"If Russia wishes to be saved the army must be regenerated at any cost. We must immediately take measures such as I have referred to which have been approved in their entirety by the acting minister of war."

General Korniloff then outlined the most important of these measures, in addition to restoration of the death penalty, which are:

First, restoration of discipline in the army by the strengthening of the authority of officers and non-commissioned officers.

Second, improvement of the financial position of officers who have been in a very difficult position in the recent military operations.

Third, restriction of the functions of regimental committees which, although managing economic affairs of the regiments, must not be permitted to have any part in decisions regarding military operations or the appointment of leaders.

General Tells the Needs.
"The strength of every army depends upon conditions in the district in its rear," General Korniloff continued. "The blood which will inevitably flow during the restoration period may be shed in vain if the army having been reorganized and prepared for battle, remains without food, clothing and fresh supplies of projectiles and equipment. I therefore think it indispensable that the measures taken at the front should also be applied in the rear."

The commander went on today that according to information at his disposal, the conditions of the railways was such that by November the army would not receive any more supplies. In support of his statement he quoted a telegram from the commander-in-chief of the southern front saying that the shortage of bread and biscuit on this front amounted almost to famine. General Korniloff said he read figures relating to the production of war materials which he said had decreased compared with the period from October, 1916, to January, 1917, by sixty per cent. for guns and shells and eighty per cent. for airplanes.

CHIEF HAILED SAVIOR.

Moscow, Sunday, Aug. 26.—(Delayed)—A conflict at the national conference between Premier Kerensky, backed by the moderate socialists, and a majority of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates, and the constitutional democrats and other non-socialist parties, the Moscow Industrial group and that part of the army which stands for ruthless army discipline, is approaching.

The opposition to the premier looks to General Korniloff, the commander-in-chief of the Russian army, as its champion.

The lineup of the delegates to the conference is indicated in interviews the Associated Press has had with members of all groups represented at the conference.

In this connection the newspapers remark that Petrograd is being brought into sharp opposition with Moscow. This opposition is emphasized by the fact that the Moscow "committee of public work" which met temporarily to organize Moscow's representation at the conference today declared that it intends to sit permanently.

Name On Every Tongue.
At present the name of Gen. Korniloff is on every tongue. His coming was awaited with something akin to fear by the extreme left, which still incites against discipline in the army, and with open exultation by the opposition group.

The latter group today made the general's arrival the signal for a demonstration seldom accorded even to a general victorious in battle. The import of the demonstration is emphasized by the fact that not one member of the cabinet was at the railway station but instead there was an imposing display of the military and civilian admirers of Gen. Korniloff.

Gets Tremendous Reception.

At the station when the Russian commander-in-chief arrived was Gen. Verkhovskiy, commander-in-chief of the Moscow military district; Mayor Rudneff, with a deputation of the Moscow municipality, a group of socialist members of the conference headed by M. Rodicheff, the veteran member of the duma as well as leaders of Moscow's industries.

The sole subject of conversation appeared to be the necessity of supporting Gen. Korniloff's demand for strong measures, including capital punishment among the forces of disorder in the rear of the fighting army.

The station was filled with deputations of Cossack regiments, of honor, the chief guard of honor being composed of the much decorated cavaliers of St. George, youths from a military academy and Cossacks. Every man of the guard of honor following the Russian army practice, when welcoming a specially loved commander held a rose and another flower.

Boy Volunteers Greet Him.
There was also present a group of seven boy volunteers, none over 16 years old, all of whom had fought since the beginning of the war, and a girl volunteer who had been wounded twice on the field of battle.

Gen. Korniloff alighted from the train soon after noon followed by a bodyguard of Terak Cossacks, gigantic Asiatics in prime colored caftans, leather belts and vast, shaggy sheepskin bushes.

Gen. Korniloff, who is of Cossack parentage, resembles a Japanese. He is below middle height and of medium size. He has small black eyes and a sharp Tartar beard. His manner was grave and modest as he inspected the guard of honor. He spoke to some of the soldiers and each soldier threw a flower under his feet as he passed.

Hailed as Russia's Savior.
Mayor Rudneff welcomed Gen. Korniloff on behalf of the city of Moscow. The mayor declared that the general was not only the destined victor at the front but the savior of Russia from ruin at home.

DR. MICHAELIS MAY GO SOON

German Opinion is That New

Chancellor Will Have

Brief Tenure.

NOT LARGE ENOUGH

FOR TRYING PLACE

Fails to Come Up to the Critical Needs of the Hour

Says Press.

Copenhagen, Aug. 28.—The possibility of another change in imperial chancellors in Germany is discussed by Georg Bernhard in the Vossische Zeitung.

He says that it is plainly evident that the appointment of a minor official like Dr. Michaelis, without general political experience, was a great mistake and that the results desired are not apt to be reached under the leadership of the new administration.

Parliament, he argues, must take the matter of internal reforms and peace into its own hands. Herr Michaelis still hopes that Chancellor Michaelis will see the error of his ways and avoid the necessity for another change in the chancellery.

Theodor Wolff, of the Tageblatt, dismisses the new bundesrats-reichstag as a "committee of public work" to soothe the cry of the German people for popular control of the government. "Herr Wolff attacks Dr. Michaelis' reasons for sidetracking parliamentary reform until after the war and says that the truth is that parliamentarism not only does not exist because it would impose real control upon the government and end the domination of secret influences.

BRITISH MAKE FRESH GAINS

back the British from their positions in the Inverness cove on the Ypres-Menin road, were frustrated and prisoners were taken from the attacking forces. The statement reads:

"As the result of our attack yesterday we have advanced our line, after heavy fighting, on a front of more than 2,000 yards astride the St. Julien-Poelcapelle road and are established in the latter positions of the German trench system in this area.

"Early last night the enemy twice attacked our positions in Inverness cove on the Ypres-Menin road. On both occasions he was repulsed, we securing a few prisoners."

ITALIANS PROGRESS.

Rome, Aug. 28.—The Italians made further progress yesterday on the Bainsizza plateau, on the front north of Gorizia, the war office announces. The Austrians made violent counter attacks, but failed to recover positions taken by the Italians.

FLEE BEFORE ATTACK.

Petrograd, Aug. 28.—Russian infantry left its trenches before an enemy attack in the Boyany region and is retreating eastward, the war office announces.

The retreatment was occasioned by the beginning of an offensive in the region east of Czernowitz, Bukovina, yesterday by the Germans and Austrians. The troops retreated without waiting for the attack on their trench, which were occupied by the enemy.

The statement reads: "Western front—There were fusillades and scouting.

"Rumanian front—Yesterday the enemy began an offensive from the region of Czernowitz against Novoselica, (on the Bessarabian border). Since morning the enemy artillery has been firing against the sector of our positions between the Rakitna and the Pruth. Near Boyany our infantry without waiting for the enemy to attack, left their trenches under pressure of the artillery fire and retired to the reserve of this sector scattered. The enemy occupied the position. Following the retirement of our units, the Austrians moved forward their infantry. In the evening our troops were engaged in battle to the east of Likhtchewy."

LOCAL MARKETS

THREATENING WEATHER CUTS RECEIPTS DOWN

Not a Single Load of Grain Weighed on City Scales
This Morning.

Heavy rain, starting Monday night, and continuing Tuesday morning, had its effect on the local markets Tuesday. Not a load of grain appeared on the city scales, an unusual occurrence for the time of year.

Local millers made very little change in their grain quotations Tuesday, evidently expecting better weather to cause a fluctuation in the markets. One dealer cut down the quotation on barley from $1.00 to 1.10 to 90c@1.00. Wheat, corn and oats quotations remained stationary.

Farmers say that the supply of old hay is nearly exhausted. One or two loads have been weighed at the city scales every day for the last two weeks. The new crop is coming in in great quantities and gives encouragement for the new crop.

Potatoes are holding their strength, wholesale dealers quoting a price of $1.05 to $1.05 per bushel for the various grades. Retail dealers give a price of 40c per peck.

EMBARGO TO WARD NATION

President Lays Restraint of Universal Kind on Export Trade.

GOLD NOT EXEMPT FROM OPERATION
Executive Order Designed to Save All Resources
for the War.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—Sweeping embargo to all the world, designed to give the United States absolute control of its exports for the period of the war has been proclaimed by President Wilson.

The embargo order absolutely prohibits after August 30 the export of all articles of commerce to enemy and neutral countries. It is planned to look after the needs of neutrals by licensed exportations in so far as the United States can do so after caring for its needs and those of its allies at war against the central powers.

A separate list of commodities includes additions to the original embargo order of July 9, which shall be withheld from all nations, allied and friendly countries included, except under licensed shipments. In this list is included fats of all kinds, other foods, construction materials and other articles necessary to the successful prosecution of the war by this government.

Seeks to Conserve Gold.
The problem of conserving the huge store of gold accumulated by the United States since 1914 is believed to have been met in part by the addition of gold, bullion, currency, and evidences of indebtedness to the list of commodities requiring licenses for export to European countries.

Regulations for the licensing will be promulgated by the secretary of the treasury and enforcement probably will be placed in the hands of treasury employees.

The effect of restriction on gold exports, it is believed, will be to depress still further, temporarily at least, the value of the dollar in international exchange, especially in the neutral countries of Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland, Spain and Switzerland, where foreign exchange is against American money.

Low Value Mystifies.
Reasons for the comparatively low value of the dollar in these money markets have not been explained entirely to the satisfaction of officials here by the ordinary balance of trade. In the case of Spain the balance of trade is in favor of the United States, yet the exchange rate is heavily in favor of the Spanish peseta.

While the total gold exported to Spain has not been great, it has been sufficiently large to cause an inquiry by officials into the situation and close scrutiny of all transactions involving the shipment of gold to that country.

British and other allied officials have been working with treasury and federal reserve board for some time past to devise a method of conserving the American gold supply. Japan, which is withdrawing gold from this country in large shipments from San Francisco, had not been a party to these conferences in the past, but with the arrival here of the Japanese mission it is understood steps were taken to include its representatives in the informal discussions.

The President's Explanation.
In a statement accompanying the dramatic order President Wilson makes it plain that the embargo is not an absolute prohibition against exports. The president says:

"The purpose and effect of this proclamation is not export prohibition but merely export control. It is not the intention to interfere unnecessarily with our foreign trade, but our own domestic needs must be adequately safeguarded and there is the added duty of meeting the necessities of all the nations at war with the imperial German government."

"After these needs are met it is our wish and intention to minister to the needs of the neutral nations as far as our own resources permit. This task will be discharged without other than the very proper qualification that the liberation of our surplus products shall not be made the occasion of benefit to the enemy, either directly or indirectly."

Control All Articles.
"The two lists have been prepared in the interests of facility and expediency.
The first list, applicable to the enemy and his allies, and to the neutral countries of Europe, brings under control practically all articles of commerce, while the second list, applicable to all the other countries of the world, makes only a few additions to the list of commodities controlled by the proclamation of July 9, 1917. It is obvious that a closer supervision and control of exports is necessary with respect to these European neutrals within the sphere of hostilities than is required for those countries farther removed."

"The establishment of these distinctions will simplify the administrative processes and enable us to continue our policy of minimizing the interruption of trade."

"No licenses will be necessary for the exportation of coin, bullion, currency and evidences of indebtedness until required by regulations to be promulgated by the secretary of the treasury in his discretion."

Clothing for next year will be much higher. However, Patterson-Fletcher

WOLF & DESSAUER

Wolf & Dessauer Announce the Readiness of Fall Apparel for Misses, Women, Children

To the woman who prides herself on being the first to sponsor the new in fashion, this authentic showing of autumn modes offers a wealth of opportunity to see the correct things.

For here are presented the new styles—only those with the undoubted authority of fashion leaders—first, and we believe, the Most Complete Variety of New Fashions Now to Be Seen in Fort Wayne.

THE NEW SUITS

—Are either hip length or longer, the skirts scander in fullness, and add but little, if any, in length. Most of the models for early fall wear are made without fur, although the more elaborate ones are fur-trimmed.

The materials most used are Silverton, a deep pile fabric with a silver thread commingling with the dark colors; reindeer, a wonderfully soft, smooth weave, and suede cloth, a woolen well described by its name. The most popular of the season's colors are beetroot and Pekin blue, closely followed by lovely browns, such as clove, rose taupe, beaver, nutria and army brown.

—Starting at $22.95, prices range upward to $200.00.

THE NEW COATS

—In the new Coats one finds fullness without flare, richness in fabric and color and as to line—a return to a sort of Moyer age or diametrically opposite a short bodice line.
One may choose a straight loose model, or select a style made swaggy by its belt.

The materials are wonderful bolivias, new suede cloth, chamois cloth and exquisitely soft velours in beautiful tones.

—Starting at $20.00, prices range upward to $195.00.

The New Dresses

—Serge, satin and dechameuse are the "rule of three" by which leading designers interpret the fashion in early fall street dresses.

Manifold rows of flat, shiny braid are much in favor, and one particularly clever frock is of navy serge, crossed with half-inch silk braid over the entire garment.

White satin vests and collars serve to relieve the sombre navy and black in many instances.

Vari-colored embroidery is as popular as ever, and applied in many unique ways. Skirts are straight and simple—or pleated and draped as one may choose.

Special Displays of New Fall Modes for School and College Wear

It's choosing such frocks, middies and smart separate skirts as are here that reconciles youth to the passing of Summer!

For in these Sections are clothes selected for their smart appearance, as well as comfort and turdy wearing qualities.

There are captivating middy blouses that young girls will want the minute they see them.
Of wash cottons and heavy flannels—just like Jack Tar himself wears, with all the emblems and trappings of the Navy to make them fascinating—$1.00@5.00.

The separate skirts may be had to match the blouses, and the ever popular Middy dress, the ideal school attire, is liberally represented.

For younger girls are charming little wash frocks of fast-color ginghams, at $1.00@5.00, and serge dresses come in sizes for girls and juniors.

Another picnic and outing for Fort Wayne lodge, No. 155, Benevolent Processful that the members were eager for another.

Besides the local Elks, a big delegation is expected from neighboring towns. The number that each lodge is expected to send is as follows: Kendallville, 75 Elks; Defiance, 150 Elks;

HOLLAND CHEERED BY PROSPECT OF GRAIN

Washington's Permission is Hailed With Glee by Netherlands.

The Hague, Monday, Aug. 27.—The news from Washington that thirty or more Dutch vessels will be permitted to sail from the United States with grain owned by the Netherlands government, has been received with satisfaction here, although uncertainty still prevails as to the nature of the arrangements. It is learned authoritatively that the cargoes of all the Dutch ships in question amount to some 190,000 tons. The American authorities intimated their willingness to release something more than 100,000 tons of cargo on condition that cargo in part should go to Belgium, and this is believed to be the arrangement which has now been agreed upon. The passage of the released ships through the North sea is now regarded as comparatively safe. The Belgian relief commission's portion of the cargoes is likely to be extremely welcome, as its provisioning is much behind, and

LIST OF TEACHERS TO BE ANNOUNCED MONDAY

Announcement of the teachers for the Fort Wayne public schools and their respective charges for the ensuing term, will be announced next Monday afternoon at the meeting of all the members of the faculties of all the schools. Until that time no information will be given out by the members of the board. One member of the board states that if any announcement is made previous to that time that it will be unofficial and incorrect. Prof.
Justin N. Study is slowly improving and it is thought he will be able to endorse the list of teachers which will be compiled by the board the latter part of this week.

SUBMARINE PROB- LEM IS SOLVED

by a group of scientific geniuses who have toiled at it unrelentingly for many months. It is being applied by the allied naval officers and men in the fighting ships, principally destroyers, in a manner which is increasingly effective.

When the history of the greatest of all wars is written, not the least important or thrilling chapter will be the one which will tell how a group of American scientists accepted the challenge of the German admiralty and in the face of obstacles which at times seemed insurmountable won the combat.

It is not permissible, for reasons that are obvious, to go into details as to the character of the anti-submarine device which has been developed and which is very rapidly attaining greater and greater perfection. It may be said, however, that its development is beyond the theory or laboratory stage, and that it is being tested and its effectiveness proved every day in the great submarine hunt which has now spread over every sea where the submarines operate.

No submarine, submerged or on the surface, can approach within striking distance of any ship outfitted with this apparatus without its presence and location being known. It is only the question of a short time when every naval vessel engaged in the submarine hunt will be so outfitted.

This does not mean that from now on the submarine will not continue to take a great toll of shipping, or that at any time in the near future the tor-pedoing of ships will absolutely stop.
In other words, the apparatus or device or method, or whatever name we call it, will never be 100 per cent effective.

But even the least scientific or strategically minded layman can understand what a long step has been taken toward eliminating the submarine as a vital factor in the war when he realizes that once a destroyer "gets in touch" with a submarine it can keep in "touch" until the submarine rises. And every submarine must rise at intervals to change its electric batteries.

No submarine is a match for a destroyer in a surface fight.

There have been no surface fights between destroyers and submarines during the past month than in any month since the submarine war started. And there are certain to be more and more of these fights, the number increasing in direct proportion to the number of destroyers fitted with the "ears" that not only will enable them to hear the submarines, but to know exactly where they are.

By no possibility can the Germans build enough submarines or build them powerful enough to keep on equal terms with the great and powerful allied destroyer fleets now on the oceans, under construction or projected.

It would not be permissible even to hint at the size of these destroyer fleets, if we had the figures; but it may be said that if the war continues for another year, the submarine zones, so-called, will be covered with powerfully armed destroyers capable of express train speed, against which the subma-rine's ability to submerge will be a defense only while it is submerged.

When it rises to "breathe," as it must sooner or later, it will in most cases be in range of a five-inch destroyer gun.
Behind these guns will be the best naval marksmen in the world, all specially trained to "get" submarines.

Unless every naval officer who has studied the submarine problem is absolutely wrong in his calculations, long before another year rolls around the American, British, French and Japanese destroyer fleets will have taken such a terrible toll of German submarines that the loss of tonnage by torpedoing will have been reduced to a point where it will not equal the new tonnage built.

When that point is reached the submarine, while it may continue to be an annoyance or even a danger, will cease to be such a menace as to jeopardize the cause of the allies.

The knowledge that a device and a method of defeating the submarines have been worked out has greatly heartened all allied statesmen and military leaders.

It has spurred them on to greater activity in the building of both destroyers and merchant ships. They realize that the German autocrats' control over the German people has dependent latterly upon the seeming success of the submarine.

Starving England with the submarines has been the great and last hope of the German people. This is the hope that has sustained them through all the bitter trials of the past six months.

The sooner it is proven to them that the submarine is doomed the sooner they will break under the terrific strain and sooner they will admit defeat and make possible the ending of the war which can end in no other way.

ROMANIAN EITHER HURT OR GOOD ACTOR

Police Alarmed by State of Man Attacked by Countrymen.

John Glizer, 40, either suffers excruciating pains from injuries inflicted by his fellow Romanians, or he is a talented actor. His manner lead the police to think that he was dying Tuesday morning, and he was rushed from the city jail to the St. Joseph hospital.

Dr. Frank Dinnen, in charge of the case insists that the man is not hurt beyond severe bruises and that his action is probably to escape incarceration.
The physician states that the man will cry from pain when one part of his anatomy is touched at times, and will later shift the seat of pain to another part of his body.

Glizer speaks eleven languages, namely Hungarian, Rumanian, Slavic, Serbian, Bulgarian, Dalmatian, Bohemian, Croatian, Polish, English and German. He states that he was attacked by four Romanians when he was in his room on Holman street, Monday night. He says the men knocked him down and kicked him.
He was apparently in a weakened state when the police entered his room in answer to a call from the landlord of the house.

The man was taken to the hospital where Dr. Dinnen ordered him locked in jail on a drunk charge. Glizer was unable to be seated when brought from his cell in the city jail, Tuesday morning, and his attitude lead the police to think that he was about to die.
He was returned to the hospital where the physician again announced that his injuries are not serious.

day, Sept. 3. A chicken supper will be served and many other attractions will be the features of the day. All interurban cars (Bluffton division) will stop at stop No. 16, from where conveyance have been arranged for to the picnic grounds. Everybody invited.

The South Wayne branch of the W.
C. T. U. will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. S. Welch, 344 West Woodland avenue.

The social of the Trinity M. E. church, which was to be held Tuesday night, has been postponed to a later date.

of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Cloud, 1441

chanan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Buchanan, 629 Anderson avenue, whom it is thought have gone to Michigan, where they were married. The parents have not been advised of their mar-

The license was not issued here be-

UNCLE SAM MAY SOON HAVE NEW ENEMIES

ALLIES OF GERMANY LIKELY TO DECLARE WAR ON THIS NATION

Lending of Money to Italy May Be

Austria and Turkey.

SO FAR RELATIONS MERELY BROKEN OFF

Washington, Aug. 28.—The possibility that Austria and perhaps other allies of Germany may soon declare war against the United States because of the financial aid given to Italy is recognized by administration officials.

It was fully explained today that there is nothing in the existing situation either diplomatic or military that would cause the United States to take the initiative, but that anomalous state of affairs which may result in broadening the war does exist, was not denied. Relations of the United States with Germany's allies are defined as still a state of broken diplomatic relations. Officials resisted to describe them as unfriendly, although admitting that they could scarcely be called friendly. The policy of extending aid to the countries fighting certain of Germany's allies, without having declared war against Germany will not be continued and it was admitted that Austria or any other ally might perhaps not improbably construe such assistance as a war-like act.

SILENT ON PEACE ANSWER.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Secretary Lansing in response to questions today would neither deny nor affirm that a reply to Pope Benedict's peace proposals had gone forward from the United States. Mr. Lansing's refusal to discuss the subject, however, was not interpreted as meaning that a reply is on its way, because he previously had taken the position that best interests of the United States would be conserved by no discussion of the subject in the newspapers at this time. It was generally expected that the subject

CONVICT FINDS WAY TO OBTAIN OIL FROM SHALE

Carson City, Nev., Aug. 28.—The discovery of a new process for extracting oil from shale has won a pardon for A. P. Crane, who was serving a term for burglary in the state prison.

Crane devoted all his spare time to chemistry and recently announced that he had found a process by which oil could be extracted from shale at small cost. The warden of the prison called his process to the attention of the government, which sent an expert to investigate. Crane was granted a pardon by the parole board yesterday in order that he may perfect his process and superintend the erection of an extracting plant. The federal expert informed the parole board that Crane's method of extracting oil from shale will be of almost incalculable value to the government.

HAS SEVEN SONS IN THE SERVICE OF THE ALLIES

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 28.—With seven sons in the service of the allies Mrs. Wm. J. Tyndall, a widow, whose father fought in the Napoleonic wars, and whose husband in the English army, said today she was proud that each one of her sons was fighting against Germany. The self-sacrifices of the mother so impressed another man, Samuel Tarento, who Houston, Texas, Aug. 28.—The city of Houston today was subject to begin what Acting Mayor D. M. Moody termed the development of the "real story" of the horror of last Thursday night, when 100 negro soldiers of the Twenty-fourth infantry shot down fifteen whites. The board of inquiry appointed by Moody was to hold its first session late this afternoon. Appeals have been sent out through the newspapers for every person with information to report voluntarily to the board of inquiry. The

In Flanders the British effected a considerable local improvement in their position yesterday in an attack east of Lombaertzyde. They advanced their line on a front of more than 2,000 yards, establishing themselves further in the third defense system of the Germans on both sides of the St. Julien-Poelcapelle road.

Berlin concedes the British "insignificant gains" in this sector. The Germans were foiled, London reports, in two efforts to drive the British from their positions in the Inverness course on the Ypres-Menin road.

FIRST PICTURE OF THE FORMER CZAR AS PRISONER!

This historic picture of Nicholas Romanoff (formerly Nicholas II, czar of all the Russians) was taken in the gardens of the prison palace of Tsarskoe-Selo, shortly before the ex-autocrat was transferred to Siberia. With a guard of Russian soldiers in the background, the former czar is seen sitting disconsolately on a stump.

SUBMARINE PROBLEM IS SOLVED BY AMERICAN INVENTIVE GENIUS.

Apparatus Being Perfected Enables Vessels to Know Exact Location of Peril as Long as It Stays Under Water—Number of Surface Conflicts, in Which U-Boat is Always Bested, Has Greatly Increased.

BY H. N. RICKEY, Staff Special.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—The submarine problem is not insoluble. For the first time since the beginning of the great war, it is possible to make this statement based upon facts and not upon hopes.

It is difficult to write about the progress that already has been made, and with almost absolute certainty will continue to be made in nullifying the submarine menace, because there are certain military secrets involved which must not even be discussed in private, much less be given general publicity.

But no harm can, and much good may, result from giving the widest publicity to the vitally important fact that in the great struggle between the navies of the allied powers and the submarine arm of the German navy, the allied navies now have the upper hand.

What is of equal or greater importance, the new method or technique by which the allies have gained the upper hand, is still in the early stages of its development.

This in effect is the appearance of a new state in the sisterhood of nations.

And it is no dream of enthusiasm, for it is the careful work of all the political leaders of the various Slav nations, and has besides the powerful support of the

WARRIOR HAILED AS RUSSIA'S SAVIOR

Moscow, Monday, Aug. 27.—The second general sitting of the national conference was held this afternoon. General Korniloff, the commander-in-chief, entered the hall in company with Premier Kerensky. His appearance was the signal for a prolonged and enthusiastic ovation. All the delegates cheered for Russia, the revolutionary government and the army.

Vladimir Naboukoff, a prominent social democrat, speaking in the name of the first duma, declared that the country aimed at the establishment of a strong and independent power, uninfluenced by political parties; a power which, based on democratic principles, would establish obedience to the law, civil liberty and personal security.

The speaker emphasized the absolute necessity of the independence of the high command of the army from every private influence.

M. Naboukoff said the members of the first duma repudiated, with indignation, all thoughts of a separate peace and that, if they were to have peace, they did not desire it to be the result of German victory, but the consequence of the triumph of Russia and her allies.

M. Alexinsky made the same statement in behalf of the second duma.

Korniloff Exposes Situation.

Premier Kerensky then introduced Gen. Korniloff, saying the government had thought it necessary to invite the commander in chief to lay before the conference the situation at the front and in the army. General Korniloff

MILITARY NEWS FROM PETROGRAD TO THE ENEMY

Petrograd, Aug. 28.—At the trial for high treason of General Soukhomlinoff, former minister of war, General Ivanoff, former commander in Volhynia and Galicia, testified yesterday he had information showing that military secrets had been communicated directly from Petrograd to Germany and Austria by way of Warsaw.

General Volichko, deputy director of the engineer corps, said he regarded General Soukhomlinoff as having been principally responsible for the defeat of the Russian army. As soon as he was appointed minister of war, the witness testified, he suppressed various councils created for the purpose of discussing questions of national defense.

New York, Aug. 28.—Word of the first casualties to an officer in General Pershing's staff forces in France was received here today by the marine corps in a cablegram announcing the death in a motorcycle accident of Second Lieutenant Frederick Wahlstrom, of the marine corps.

Copenhagen, Aug. 28.—Pope Benedict's peace note will be the principal subject at a meeting in Berlin at which Imperial Chancellor Michaelis, members of the parliament and representatives of Prussia, Bavaria, Saxony and Wurttemberg will participate.

Reports from the German capital added Dr. Michaelis will leave for Belgium, immediately after the meeting where he will have a conference with the governor general, Baron von Falkenhause.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

WILL DISTRIBUTE A BONUS OF $23,500

Monthly Gifts of General Electric to the Shop Employees Increases.

The next monthly bonus distributed among the employees at the General Electric works will take place next Tuesday, September 4, and will be much larger than any of the monthly bonus distributions that preceded it. The amount will be $23,500 and 3,923 men and women will participate in it. This distribution is entirely voluntary on the part of the company and it indicates the management's disposition to share the general prosperity with the people who work for them. The amount covers the period between August 4 and September 4.

SHADLE RESIGNS.

Nickel Plate Yardmaster at Bellevue to Quit.

G. F. Shadle will retire from the office of general yardmaster at Bellevue September 1, because of failing health. He states that he may remain in the service of the company in another capacity, but the condition of his health will not permit him to longer handle the arduous work of general yardmaster. He held that position fourteen years and was in the road train service a long time, his total years service with the company amounting to thirty-one years. He is well known and well liked by all the trainmen running in and out of Bellevue. It is not known outside of official Nickel Plate circles who will succeed Mr. Shadle.

GOING INTO PERMANENT HOME.

The tinmith department of the General Electric works, of which S. A. Bickel is the foreman, is preparing to move into the basement of the new Wall street building, No. 19, which is being fitted for the permanent home of the department. It recently moved from the basement of the storehouse building, now the rifle target indoor range, to the first floor of building No. 12, and the move next week will probably be the last it will make. Foreman Bickel has thirty-five men now, and with facilities for accommodating more his force will be increased from time to time.

Hired Fifteen Men.

All of the departments of the General Electric works are expanding, but none is at present making more rapid growth than is the force employed in the transformer department, under Foreman F. S. Walburn, where there are now 275 names on the pay rolls. Saturday and Monday fifteen men were added to the pay rolls. They were P. Townman, C. E. Hudson, Oscar Hinkle, Willis Heiber, Frank Foughty, M. J. Welker, Clifford Freeborn, George Engelking, P. J. Baker, George Pratt, Clyde Mortimore, Glenn Hoover, Harvey Sherington and A. H. Linemeyer.

LABORERS SCARCE EVERYWHERE.

The efforts of Agent E. H. Kirkland and other Pennsylvania men to secure laborers in other cities to come here to work in the company's warehouse, have practically failed of results, indicating that other cities are as badly in need of this kind of labor as is Fort Wayne. Agent Kirkland says that the Pennsylvania is paying the best wages for freight house help in Fort Wayne in the history of the plant and is guaranteeing good men steady employment. Forty men are needed at the warehouse.

MASTER MECHANICS HAVE MEETING.

The master mechanics of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, were summoned here today to confer with T. W. Demarest, superintendent of motive power, on matters connected with the department. SMASHED A MILK WAGON.

Westbound Broadway limited, on the Pennsylvania, struck and demolished a milk wagon on one of the crossings at Bucyrus, Ohio, this morning. The horse escaped. A witness said that the driver was not in the wagon, being in the act of delivering milk in a nearby house, and that the horse started for the next stop, which happened to be on the opposite side of the railroad. The milkman had just started on the trip and had all his cans and bottles filled with milk. It was spilled over the right-of-way for a half square.

Charles Dunkelburg, since the closing of the schools last June a clerk in the warehouse of the General Electric work, retires from that position next Friday. Dunkelburg is interested extensively in some oil territory that is now being developed in Texas, and which promises great returns.

Loitering.

Sloth is to be beard in its den. Policemen have orders to invade every poolroom and saloon about the city and to demand that all men found loafing about the places either go to work or march to jail. The crusade against idleness was launched Tuesday afternoon. The order had been given to but half the patrolmen when four men were brought to the station.

"It is not conservation of energies for war time help when spend their days in a den of loafers," said Police Chief Lenz in commenting on the order which he issued at noon Tuesday.

A call for fifty men to work for the Pennsylvania railroad in the city is a contributing cause for the stringent edict. The railroad company states that it can employ in the freight house and for track work in the city a half hundred workmen at once.

Chief Lenz states that he has received many calls during the past few days asking for laborers. He has made the rounds of several poolrooms and saloons and finds scores of loafers, he says. The law and the jobs must get together, Chief Lenz orders.

Loitering charges have been placed against all men brought to the station on Tuesday. Judge Kerr will be asked to give the men a lengthy sentence at road work if they refuse to accept employment when given the chance by officers.

Fort Wayne's peace army in war time must not be a host of work slackers, says the chief.

ATTEMPT TO OPERATE MINES IN KENTUCKY

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 28.—Although fired upon yesterday an effort is being made by a number of the coal mines in southeastern Kentucky and northern Tennessee to operate their mines with non-union labor today, according to dispatches from Middleboro, received here.

A mass meeting of striking miners at Stony Fork and Mingo Hollow has been called for today, with the object in view of starting co-operative stores at each camp, which will handle nothing but union made goods. YELLED "WHOA!"

Hartford City Man Forgets He Was Driving Auto.

Hartford City, Ind., Aug. 28.—Forgetting that he was driving an automobile, August Votquenne commanded "Whoa!" to his machine as he swerved around a corner and struck a large Maxwell touring car on the side, turning the car completely over in the side-ditch and probably seriously injuring two of the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Riddle, of Albany. Riddle's side was crushed and he is believed to be hurt internally, and Mrs. Riddle is believed to have suffered a fractured skull. They were caught under the machine, the woman being severely cut by glass from the windshield.

Votquenne escaped without a scratch, though his machine is a wreck. The injured persons were on the way to Albany when the accident happened. Votquenne was driving his car at a rapid rate of speed as was Riddle. Votquenne has had the automobile only a short time and it was his second collision with an automobile. Several days ago he ran into a machine while at Muncie under similar circumstances, yelling "Whoa!" at his machine.

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE.

Escapades of Orville Hodgson Recalled by Suit.

Hartford City, Ind., Aug. 28.—The escapades of Orville Hodgson, Blackford county's convicted forger, are brought to mind again with the filing of a suit for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Hattie Bainbridge-Hodgson, of Louisville, Ky. Hodgson is now serving an indeterminate sentence in the reformatory at Jeffersonville for forgery. Mrs. Hodgson in her petition says her husband was cruel to her, frequently beat her and that he is a felon. They were married in September, 1912, after a brief courtship. Hodgson represented himself to be wealthy.

His elopement with Hattie Bainbridge set Louisville society circles "humming," but the "humming" ceased with the announcement that Hodgson was a forger. He was caught at Chicago, but escaped. Later he was "arrested" at Pittsburgh and sent to Frankfort, Ind., where he was convicted. He jumped a bond of $3,000, put up here by his father, George Hodgson, county commissioner.

PAUL REVERE'S RIDE HELD AT NEW HAVEN

Two Fort Wayne Boys Hold Midnight Ride; One Injured.

Listen, my children and you shall hear Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere, On the eighteenth of April, in Seventy-five;

Hardly a man is now alive Who remembers that famous day and year.

New Haven, Ind., Aug. 28.—Two Fort Wayne young men, John Eifel and Albert Krantz, rehearsed the midnight ride of Paul Revere in New Haven, Saturday night, in a more modern way than the historic event of years ago; equipped with a fiery steed and a phaeton from one of the local livery barns at Fort Wayne, the boys set out on their midnight ride down Broadway. Everything went all right until they attempted to make the turn at State street, at which point the buggy overturned, throwing both occupants to the street as well as the horse. Young Krantz was badly cut about the face and limbs and both received a severe shaking up. About this time Lester Girardot, the town marshal, overtook them in an auto, placing both boys under arrest. The boys were both under the influence of liquor, evidence of same being found in the overturned buggy. They were brought before Judge Daily and each given a fine of $5 and costs, Krantz being the only one able to pay. After a severe lecture he was turned loose to make his homeward journey afoot, young Eifel being turned over to the local police at Fort Wayne.

Other Speed Demons.

Walter Gellerts and Tom Team were the names given by two other speed demons who upon seeing young Krantz and Eifel displaying their horsemanship decided to join them in their pleasure, and a lively race ensued when the above accident happened. They succeeded in evading the marshal, but later returned to the town only to be arrested by the watchful officer. They were also fined $5 and costs, and being unable to pay were taken to Fort Wayne to serve out their time. The boys were forced by the local livery men to pay $15 damage done to the hired rig and horses after which they decided that joy riding on the streets of New Haven is rather an expensive luxury.

COURT NO TROUBLE.

The entire congressional delegation of Texas has petitioned the president that colored troops may be kept out of that state. This overtone is directly inspired, of course, by the bloody events of last week in Houston and may fairly be taken upon its face as expressing the desire of Texans that no further provocation to similar tragedies be permitted. We know of no reason why the request may not be readily and fully complied with. We apprehend many reasons why it should.

The country has plenty of critical matters to engage it without wantonly pursuing trouble. Concentrating negro troops anywhere in the far south is not an insuperable exigency of war. It is not in any sense due to the simplest necessities of the case. Nothing can be more certain than that it is not wise. The Houston affair seems to be an abundant proof of that and the government confirms the view by making haste to get the body of negro soldiers concerned in the revolt far away from the scene of their tragic performance. The slaughter of near a score of white persons in Houston by the colored soldiers wearing the national uniform and with federal arms in their hands has a look that becomes worse the more soberly it is viewed. It is not unnatural that Texans—and the whole south, for the matter of that—should reflect upon it with kindled feeling. The war department has no authority to assert, no position to vindicate by insistence that it will quarter negro soldiers in Texas or in any other state of the south. The merest common sense dictates that they be placed where the least trouble is likely to ensue from their presence. It will hardly be contended that any southern point is such a place.

While it is true that such an outbreak as took place in Houston might have occurred in any northern city—East St. Louis, for instance—it must frankly be recognized that the likelihood of such trouble was greater and will be greater south than north. Moreover, much will depend upon the character of the negro troops themselves. Northern negroes down south become a problem quite different from southern negroes at home or even in the north. In any event, there is no need that colored troops be assembled in parts of the country where trouble is most readily provoked and in this case it was Texas, whose people have had a sore spot in respect of colored soldiers for a good many years that have gone by since the Brownsville affair, in which negro troops "shot up the town" and held forth with red riot for a day or two.

Nothing is to be gained by continuing the practice of assembling large bodies of colored soldiers in southern camps and at southern military posts, whereas much risk is incurred by doing so. It is less of consequence that the people of Texas protest and petition against it, so far as their own state is concerned, than that intrinsically it is not a wise thing to do.

NOT SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

President Wilson has assured the Moscow council of democracy that America stands ready to aid Russia with every material and moral assistance in this republic's power to bestow. Yes, indeed; likewise amen. But let the new democracy get us right. Assistance, aid, help, reinforcement, support, sustenance, succor—what you like or they like—means adding to something, and in this case it means adding to some effort of their own. America already has contributed near three hundred million dollars to the support of Russia in the war. As our ally she had it coming to her, so long as she needed it. What Russia owes in return for what she has received and what she will get is that she will not permit herself to be swerved from her part of the almost universal job of making the world safe for democracy—her democracy as well as our democracy—and that she will forthwith buck up and not allow herself to be overrun by Germans and Austrians and Turks and Bulgarians and put out of business as a factor in the war and a bulwark of freedom. Uncle Sam will do whatever is in mortal power for Mr. Muscovite to make a man of him, that will stand upon his feet and play the game, but he has got to get an early understanding that democracy is not anything like a perpetual motion machine. It has to be run with effort and care and at its best it is rather numerously faulted and flawed with those things which a late American statesman was wont to describe as "d-d barren idealities." Freedom from her mountain height may unfurl her standard to the air and tear the azure robe of night and set the stars of glory there, but down on the lower ground the supplementary proceedings are more primitive, practical and difficult, as the new democracy of Russia is fast finding out, but is exasperatingly slow to appreciate. Congress is about to pump some twelve billions into the war tubs and the New Russia is invited to come with a bucket in each hand so long as she can come deserving. Otherwise, leave us and our much money alone.

NO OCCASION TO HURRY.

Signs of a mild interest in the municipal campaign are apparent. There is no reason why the interest should not for the present remain mild. No occasion to hasten into a local turmoil can be found. Some ten weeks must intervene between now and the day of the elections. A period much less will answer plentifully for the distractions of a campaign that on many accounts should not be distracted. The people here, as elsewhere, have a more serious business in hand than heating themselves over a question of municipal office, and we do not believe that in this community there is any impatience to begin fanning the fires of partisan ardor. The issues of the campaign—if there are any defined issues in the campaign—are not of a radical sort nor complex structure. A few weeks will answer very well for their presentation and discussion, whatever they are. Matters of sumptuary policy and moral restraints no longer are political questions here. The settled practice in the city hall has become that law is law and right is right. Two consecutive administrations have—enduringly, we believe—established that much in Fort Wayne. All parties and all citizens are agreed now upon policies of law enforcement and the maintenance of moral conditions so far as local government can determine them. Nowhere is there even a differentiated difference as to these things. So we have for an issue the necessity to choose as between two very excellent men which is the better for mayor. Are ten weeks of purely created disturbance, incited feeling and partisan heat of the public mind necessary to such a choice? We do not think so; you do not think so. Let 'er simmer for awhile longer.

The American embargo on exports is complete. It includes everything movable, not excepting gold. This is economic control with something of a vengeance, but it establishes early in the war that the United States is in this conflict to obtain what it started out to get and means to become stronger as the days go on instead of becoming weaker. A year hence the people of this nation will scarcely know either themselves or their country. It is inescapable that it should be so. Modern war—as has been said and repeated so much it is grown trite—enlists nations and mobilizes all their resources. America cannot if she would make any exception of herself without paying with disaster for trying to play the piker. Two or three years of conflict will erect the United States into the world's first military power and that is to say the greatest military power in all history, not making exception of our late friend the kaiser's stunning creation.

And any time it occurs to you that the term "Dago" expresses your opinion in general of Italians, just consider that the armies now sweeping over the Alps to Trieste in one of the most spectacular and intrepid military assaults of all history are mainly of the sort that are thought to become "Dagoes" as soon as they land in America. If the annals of war furnish any finer examples of sustained spirit and heroism than have been written by the achievements of the Italian armies in the Alps during the past year, we have overlooked the chapter.

The coal barons have been seen to; the wheat gamblers have been disposed of for the time being. But there remains much else for the food and fuel bureau to look after. For instance, does the government control eggs, or doesn't it—will it or won't it? Eggs were some issue last winter.

Your benevolent Uncle Sam has so far invested $275,000,000 in the prospect that Russia will recover her health, her fighting spirit and most of the ground she has lost. Otherwise the result will be some promissory notes hardly worth trying to collect.

Lost Treasure.

BY BASIL M. MANLY.

The treasury department is about ready to start a colossal drive on the thousands of income and corporation tax dodgers whose frauds and evasions have been uncovered through months of painstaking investigation by hundreds of revenue agents and inspectors.

This drive on the tax dodgers, it is calculated by treasury experts, will bring into Uncle Sam's war chest not less than $300,000,000 which have escaped the tax collector since the income tax law went on the statute books.

The round-up of the tax thieves will not be limited to any particular state or section, but will be nationwide. Into the drag-net will come not only New York millionaires, but hundreds of rich farmers, small-town bankers and business men who have been found by the revenue agents to have been more flagrant defrauders of the treasury than the metropolitan plutocrats who come first to mind when tax dodging is mentioned.

"The secretary of the treasury," I have just been told by a senator who is very close to McAdoo, "now has in his possession complete proofs of frauds on the income and corporation taxes, which will electrify the country when made public. The secretary is not yet ready to institute the hundreds of suits in which the evidence is now regarded as complete, but I can assure you that he will do so very soon, possibly before the revenue bill passes the senate."

It has now become known that ever since the disclosures made in April, 1915, that the federal treasury was being looted of not less than $320,000,000 a year, agents of the treasury, working in conjunction with secret service men from the department of justice, have been quietly conducting a nationwide probe of tax dodging. In some districts, unknown to the average citizen, they have made a detailed investigation of every person in the community who could be suspected of having an income large enough to be subject to the federal tax. In other districts they have merely investigated those persons whom they had reason to believe were evading all or part of their taxes.

This investigation has been made more comprehensive during the last year by reason of the fact that since the passage of the revenue bill of last autumn all corporations have been required to furnish the treasury with a complete list of all stockholders and the dividends they received.

Although the evidence in hundreds of cases has been complete for months, no suits have been instituted, because it was feared that public action would seal up many of the sources of information on which the revenue agents were relying and result in the destruction of evidence which had not yet come into their possession. It was therefore decided to withhold all action except in minor cases which could be settled out of court until all the important cases were substantially complete.

otic motives, there are sound business reasons. Bond dealers admit they could hardly compete with the government in bond selling, and so might as well turn in and help Uncle Sam. The training of the mass of the people to buy government bonds will eventually get a great new public used to buying sound securities, just as the French peasants have for years bought English and American industrial and municipal bonds.

COAL PRICE FIXING.

(Newcastle Times.)

The fixing of the price of Indiana coal at $1.35 per ton at the mine is a conviction of the mine operators who have been charging much in excess of that amount. Mine run coal is the standard and more used than any other. Lump coal will be 25 cents higher, while slack or screenings will be sold at 25 cents less than mine run, or at $1.70 per ton. These prices are a dollar less than they have been charged to persons without contracts and cuts off more than half the profits the operators have been making. Even at the price of $1.25 a coal mine is a bonanza.

A mine worth $50,000 will produce more than 2,000 tons of coal a week, operating two-thirds of the time, and a price now fixed will make an average profit of 60 to 75 cents a ton. It can be easily calculated that under the present prices the ordinary mine will make more than 100 per cent profit in a year. If this were true in other lines the grocery man would make $10,000 to $20,000 a year profit and so would every other merchant in Newcastle and even smaller towns. The government has been exceedingly liberal in fixing the price of coal at $1.25 at the mines.

This with the 85-cent freight rate to points in eastern Indiana will give a more reasonable price.

REALIZATION PAINFUL.

YOUNG COUPLE GO TO CAMP TAYLOR

MRS. PAUL F. SCHROEDER.

LIEUT. SCHROEDER.

The wedding of Miss Amber Elizabeth Grosjean and Mr. Paul Frederick Schroeder, lieutenant in the officers' reserve corps, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Schroeder, of East Jefferson street, took place on the evening of August 25, at the residence in Archer avenue, of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Grosjean. Rev. A. J. Folsom, pastor of Plymouth church, read the marriage services at 8 o'clock, in the presence of near relatives. The bride and groom entered the living-room to the wedding music from "Lohengrin," which Miss Dorothy Strobel played and the bride party stood in front of the fireplace which was banked with ferns and gladioli on either side and a vase of flowers on the mantel. Miss Velma Grosjean, a cousin to the bride, was bridesmaid and a brother of the bride, Mr. Wade Grosjean, stood with Lieutenant Schroeder. The bride came in with her father and she made a lovely appearance in an embroidered white georgette crepe gown with silver beads and silver lace as well as a dash of silver ribbon forming an elegant trimming. The bridal bouquet was of bride roses. The bridesmaid was gown in a white crepe de chine with silver trimmings and her bouquet was made of pink rosebuds. After the benediction the pianist began the Mendelssohn wedding march and the bride and groom received the congratulations of the company. Refreshments were served in the diningroom and covers were placed for thirty. The bride's table

was decorated with a basket of pink roses and silver candlesticks that were tied with fluffy bows of pink tulle and held white candles. The place cards and nut cases were in one of a novel design and they made pretty souvenirs of the wedding. Vases of garden flowers decorated the smaller tables and pink and white cosmos, gladioli and roses adorned all the rooms. Lieutenant Schroeder and his bride left the night of their wedding for Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., where their stay is to be determined by their orders. If in the future Lieut. Schroeder should go to France, Mrs. Schroeder would return here and remain with her parents. For traveling the bride wore a novelty silk skirt with pale pink georgette blouse, a long silk coat and a new fall hat of black velvet with shoes and gloves of mouse color. Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. George A. Stephan and daughter, Dorothy, of Cleveland; Mr. Frank Wolf, of Indianapolis; Lieut. George Rogers, of Decatur, Ill. The bride is a remarkably pretty girl and her natural ability for drawing and painting is marked and has been cultivated until the instructors at St. Augustine's academy declared she had attained their own degree of advanced skill. The Grosjean home has many evidences of the accomplishment of this only daughter in the way of hand-painted china and many watercolor drawings of a high order. Lieut. Schroeder spent four years of college life at Concorde and then took a position with the Fort Wayne Printing company, which he resigned to enter the army.

Frances Weigant has returned to Wooster, Ohio, after visiting several days with Mr. and Mrs. Al Stentz, of Willowood avenue.

Miss Katherine Kamp, another member of the 1917 high school class of graduates, will accompany Miss Tyker and take the same course of work.

Captain Karl Detzer, who arrived from a ten days' outing at Leland, Mich., with his parents and other relatives, on Monday, left Tuesday for Louisville, Ky. Donald Detzer, who is going to France, was still at the lake with his mother and sister, expecting a call to return to Chicago any moment, when his father, A. J. Detzer, and Captain Detzer left for home.

Mrs. Detzer and Miss Dorothy will remain two weeks longer.

One of the city's most popular and greatly admired young women, Miss Nellie Monroe Witt, is to become the bride in October of Burr Clarke Chamberlain, of New York city. Announcement of the engagement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Ward L. Witt, parents of Miss Witt, who are soon to make their home in Pittsburg, so this city would not be Miss Witt's home many weeks more, even if she were not to be married so soon.

Mr. Chamberlain is connected with the Baked Chemical company, of New York city, where he and his bride will live. A graduate of Yale and a captain of the college football team when a student at the university, Mr. Chamberlain appears to have met with success in all attainment of which the selection of a bride may be considered as one.

Mr. and Mrs. William Frauenfelder,

their husbands to come to dinner which was served at 7 o'clock. There were many blossoms of gladioli in the room and following the dinner a merry time was enjoyed playing games. The guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stogdill were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kowalski, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Feistkorn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Young, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLeish, Mr. and Mrs. George Bornuth, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stahn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meyers.

Oilcloth in Place of Linen for Table Use

There is a saying that in these days of war prices, only the millionaire's wife can afford to wear linenum and use real linen in her dining room. If the latter is the case, then a great many who are tremendously smart are practicing war economy, or is it extravagance, by substituting painted oilcloth or chintz for the accustomed lace and linen luncheon sets. Stunning sets in black enameled oilcloth for the out-of-door English breakfast or porch luncheon are decorated with bunches of brilliant colored fruit. A large center dolly is used, with four each of the medium and small sizes. An ordinary enameled kitchen pie plate painted black and decorated with the same design makes an unique bread or sandwich plate, and a papier mache bowl stained black and decorated with the fruit motif on the outside, filled with luscious grapes and oranges, is the most stunning kind of a centerpiece.

The square luncheon set is rather new, enveloped in tan oilcloth stenciled with field flowers in brilliant blues and reds and yellows. For the more conservative taste, a French gray foundation with a black and white conventional border design is very smart. Delft blue with sprays of small pink flowers or pale green with black and white will make pleasing combinations. Plain white oilcloth decorated in colors and harmonizing with the hangings of the breakfast room or porch cretonnes is effective.

Instead of the conventional center and individual place doilies, two narrow runners crossed at right angles in the center covering four places are particularly good on the small square table. In this case stenciling the ends of the runners, the center of one, and perhaps a narrow border design will be all the decorations necessary.

The individual oblong dolly is very popular in white oilcloth stenciled in a conventional fruit or flower pattern. There is room on each one of these for the individual china and silver and a single flower vase holding a gaudy garden over.

The practical value of using oilcloth as a substitute for table linen is apparent. After the meal, wipe off the cloth, and your work is done. No wear and tear on the linen and no laundry bill to pay.

No so obvious is the practicability of the aid for using handpainted or stenciled chintz in place of the more elaborate luncheon linen. Indeed, the aid is not practical at all, except in so far as it saves laundry, for the chintz can not be washed at all. But there's no denying it's extremely dainty and new, and the height of luxurious extravagance.

The square doilies are finished with broad hems; the round ones with a fine pleat edge. The delicate shades of tan, blue, rose and gray are popular. A very lovely and airy one is stenciled in a royal peacock patterns in brilliant blues and greens.

So you see, there is no telling what today, let alone tomorrow, may bring forth. Perhaps the next thing in luncheon sets will consist of delicately embroidered, Georgette crepe edged with fur. But this is only perhaps!

BABIES LIKE ATTRACTIVE THINGS AS WELL AS ADULTS.

Adults may not always appreciate the fact, but babies like nice, attractive things just as well as grownups. And so it isn't any wonder that some of them refuse to learn to eat properly when they are sentenced to partake of their food from hideous enamel or plated silver trays just because they have not yet learned not to spill things. Of course the tray is a necessary evil, all babies will admit that, but mother, or nurse, or whoever has charge of one's food might at least have the grace to cover it up decently.

The usual things for covering a baby's tray is a plain white tray cloth or napkin. But to be unusual, make one of those new linen sets for your baby or for some other baby you know. They consist of an embroidered tray cloth, a bib and two little napkins to match. The design may be some simple cross-stitch pattern in conventional animals so dear to childhood. Instead of turning under and hemming the edges, draw a couple of threads and crochet a fine pleat edge. The work may be either done in white or colored floss; rose pink edges with black cross-stitch is attractive.

YOU MIGHT TRY THIS WITH YOUR NEW SMOCKS.

If you are very fond of smocks, but object to what some people call the "sloppy" effect of the bellows garment, and yet you don't feel as if you were wearing a real smock if you add a belt, here is a little suggestion which will be of interest to you.

If your smock pattern has the fullness gathered into groups of smocking at both sides of the front and back, simply repeat these groups directly underneath at a rather low waistline. This will confine the fullness sufficiently, and will obviate that undesired effect which a flowing smock sometimes produces.

GIFTS AND MITE BOX HELP RED CROSS FUND

Classes in Home Care of Sick to Be Postponed Until October.

Donations at the Red Cross headquarters Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning reached the sum of $7.67. One of the largest donations of the past week was that of Mrs. Harvey Crane, who gave $5 to the Red Cross cause.

Officials at the Berry street headquarters were surprised Monday evening upon opening the "mite box," the receptacle for spare nickels and dimes of passers-by. The surprise was occasioned not so much from the amount of the contributions, but from the fact that some generous individual had dropped a whole silver dollar into the box. The total donations in the mite box was $1.67. Since last Friday, when the box was stationed in front of the door, the sum of $3.70 has been acquired from this source.

It is announced at headquarters that the classes in the home care of the sick, under Miss Frances Ott, will be dropped for the present, starting again on October 1. In the meantime Miss Ott will take a vacation. Those who wish to enroll in these classes may send in their names at any time.

Headquarters are helping greatly in the gift of the Red Cross work and urge persons to save all their scraps and bring them to the headquarters on East Berry street. The tin foil is rolled together and sold, all the proceeds going to the great fund for humanity. Shipments are coming in every day at the warehouse on Calhoun street. Tuesday morning shipments were received from South Bend, Morocco and Valparaiso. The lot from South Bend was especially large, containing six boxes.

DAUGHTER AND SON OF HERO DOCTOR LOCATED

Friend Recalls Leaving of Dr. J. S. O. Gorrell for the South.

Many telephone calls have followed the publishing on Monday by The Sentinel, of a letter from the Howard association, of Memphis, Tenn., in which the whereabouts of relatives of Dr. J. S. O. Gorrell, were inquired about. There is a daughter and a son of the physician, who gave his life in battling the yellow fever plague in the south, in Fort Wayne.

Elizabeth Gorrell, 533 West Jefferson street, teacher in the Jefferson school, and one of the well known instructors in the city, is a daughter of the man who went to Memphis in September, 1878, and who succumbed to an attack of the fever a few weeks later.

George Gorrell, employed at the plant of the General Electric company, and whose nickname is "Doc," is the son of the physician.

James Nuttle, a member of the county conscription board, was once a pupil of Dr. J. S. O. Gorrell, when the physician once taught school near New Haven.

Dr. Gorrell left Fort Wayne for the south, Washington boulevard east, is a grand-niece of the brave physician, who gave himself for the profession. She is a daughter of Will Gorrell, who was a nephew of the doctor.

Gert Shober, well known Fort Wayne band man, was intimately acquainted with Dr. Gorrell in the few years preceding the departure of the physician for the fever zone.

Dr. Gorrell, both lived at Maples, Allen county, at the time. They both played in the town band, which Shober directed. Dr. Gorrell was just starting his professional life and Shober taught school.

Later the doctor moved to Fort Wayne. He maintained an office above the Ton's drug store, corner of Lafayette and Lewis streets, where the Sulzer block now stands. He had been in practice here for several months when the call for medical help came from the south.

"It is the duty of my profession to make its best efforts in such moments," said Dr. Gorrell, and he insisted in going to Memphis. He had suffered a slight attack of the fever, when in Cuba, a few years before and believed himself immune. He went to the Tennessee city and had been there but a few days before he took the fever. He was one of its many victims.

The letter from the southern city, which was received by Mayor W. J. Hosey on Monday, states that a valuable gold medal had been awarded to the physician for his heroic efforts in fighting the plague. The medal will go to Dr. Gorrell's oldest daughter, Mrs. Charles Merritt, of North Dakota.

FOUR PER CENT GYM BONDS FIND NO BUYER

Law Will Not Allow Higher Rate and Board Gives Up Plan of Building.

Inquiries in bond markets have led the school board of Fort Wayne to believe that there is no ready sale for 4 per cent school bonds and since there has been no buyer for the $40,000 high school gymnasium bonds, it has been found necessary by this body to abandon the plan of building a gymnasium at the present time. The plan will be given up until present building conditions are changed.

It is illegal under the state laws to offer school bonds at a higher rate of interest than 4 per cent. The board did not attempt to fix a date at which time the bonds will be offered for sale again at the meeting held Monday evening.

It was hoped by the board that the gymnasium would be built this fall as it has been the plan of the board and Prof. L. C. Ward to offer a military training course this year in which credits would be given.

The board also discussed the appointment of a successor for Miss Emma L. Armstrong, who has been placed on the retired list. It is said that the board is seeking a man to succeed her.

MAKES DARING ESCAPE FROM VAN WERT JAIL

Edward Fisher, Escaped
Convict, Saws His Way Out at Early Hour.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Van Wert, O., Aug. 28.—Edward Fisher, alias A. J. Musil, arrested here last June for stealing automobile tires from automobiles parked about the city, and who was sentenced last Saturday to thirty days in the Toledo workhouse, escaped from the county jail early this morning.

His partner, Harry Ballard, arrested at the same time, got fastened in the opening of an heavy screen to an outside window, and was held prisoner until the arrival of attaches of the jail.

Fisher had sawed his way out of his cell into the corridor and then cut the heavy screen to an outside window, jumping to the ground below a distance of twenty feet. Ballard succeeded in getting out of his cell as did Fisher, but being a larger man than his companion he could not get through the opening that had been made in the window.

Following Fisher's arrest Sheriff J. H. Gunsett had a photograph taken of him, which appeared in the August number of "The Detective." Warden C. C. McClaughry, of the reformatory at Anamosa, Iowa, immediately wired Sheriff Gunsett that Fisher was wanted for escaping from that institution on December 3, 1915.

Sheriff Gunsett has offered a reward of $50 for the arrest and detention of Fisher in any jail. Fisher is 31 years

AT THE MAJESTIC

"Dew Drop Inn" at Majestic Wednesday. John E. Hazzard has been one of the fortunate authors during the past theatrical year, for in addition to having had two companies playing "Turn to the Right," he also landed a hit in "Dew Drop Inn," the new musical comedy which comes to the Majestic Wednesday evening only.

It was Hazzard's original intention to play the part of "Jack" as a co-star with Percival Knight, who will be seen in the part of "Boney," but former contracts prevented the first named comedian from appearing in "Dew Drop Inn." Percival Knight in addition to being the star of the piece, is also the writer of the lyrics, to which music was set by A. Baldwin Sloane, one of America's foremost composers.

"The 13th Chair" Thursday and Friday. William Harris, Jr., will earn an enthusiastic vote of thanks for himself from local patrons of the theater when he presents "The 13th Chair," by Bayard Veiller, at the Majestic theater Thursday and Friday evenings. No play seen in New York, where "The 13th Chair" ran for one entire year at the Forty-eighth Street theater, ever approached the record for success set by this mystery melodrama.

For its presentation here Mr. Harris has spared nothing to make it the same success it proved to be in New York. A cast led by Annie Russell and including among others Edward Emery, Fred Eric and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Carrington, has been given the various roles to interpret and the production itself is an exact replica of that seen at the Forty-eighth Street theater.

Porter J. White at Palace.

Distinguished Character Actor in Gripping Drama With Comedy.

The distinguished character actor, Porter J. White, is presenting his gripping short story drama, "The Visitor," one of those exceptional bits of abbreviated classic that occasionally pops up and lives forever. In this delightful commingling of laughs and thrills Mr. White has a role, that of the new counsel for the defense, that affords him splendid opportunities for the exploitation of his unusual skill. His every gesture and inflection of his voice, his every facial expression and step is the result of years of careful study of effects on audiences, while the lines themselves are exemplary of the best in English.

William A. Hanton, the king of the chalk face comedians, is presenting a typical Hanton production, "The Railroad Hotel," as the super feature of the evening. In this production Mr. Hanton has revived some of the effective bits of "Superba" and "Fantasma," but has relied for the real punch on some latter day ideas. Wright and Earl Lewis and her juvenile entertainers in songs, dances and chatter; Fisher, Luckie and Gordon, the singing three; and Brit Wood, the harmony harmonist, with a dressing of dancing and singing numbers, rounds out this bill.

Rex Beach Novel is a Strong Film Portrayal.

"The Vengeance of Durand," favorite film feature, reflects all the strength of situation and character that is found in the famous novel by that name, by Rex Beach, from which it is adapted. The novel, admittedly one of the most popular by that author, is favored in being portrayed by six of the greatest screen stars now before the cameras. It is the story of a father training his only daughter from childhood to lure to his death a famous artist held guilty by the parent of having won the love of his wife. The father's quest for vengeance ends in his death in the ruins of his burning chateau and his daughter is saved to become the wife of the artist. Earle Williams and Edith Storey are featured in "The Vengeance of Durand," which will appear in the Grand theatre tomorrow, and which is replete with tense climaxes. Four other screen stars, all of the first magnitude, are in the cast—L. Rogers Lytton, Julia Swayne Gordon, Harry Northrup and E. K. Lincoln.

INSTRUCTIONS ARE LACKING

Local Boards Have Received No Orders as Yet as to First Five Per Cent.

MAY BE SELECTED IS THE BELIEF First District in City to Certify List of Men in a Few Days.

With the certification of the names of soldiers from the second and third district boards of the city, the next problem that confronts the board members will be the selection of the first five per cent of men who are to leave for Camp Taylor Sept. 5. Instructions as to the manner in which this small percentage is to be selected are lacking. According to newspaper dispatches, however, the first five per cent of men will not be taken in their liability order but will be selected by the board from the entire list of men who have been certified.

The belief is that the first five per cent of men from each district will be men who have had some experience in military work, and bakers and cooks.

The first district board of the city will be ready to announce its certified list within the next few days. The country district, however, will not be ready to make the announcement for several days as the board is busy examining and passing on exemption claims.

The Indiana district board still has a stupendous amount of work before them and it will be at least a week or ten days before they will be able to see their way clear. No action has been taken on city claims.

RECEIVES NO ORDERS YET

OFFICERS LEAVE FOR LOUISVILLE

Company B. Signal Corps, Safely Housed in Lincoln School.

No orders have been received for Company B to leave for Fort Benjamin Harrison, according to announcement made Tuesday by Captain Ray McAdams. The announcement was made necessary because of a published report that the company had been ordered to leave at once.

Captain McAdams further emphasized that anyone who possessed a modicum of understanding about troop maneuvers would readily see that it would be impossible for the company to leave today even if orders had been received Monday evening.

He asks that parents of the members of the company to not be alarmed over an announcement of this kind, as he says he will give the official announcement as soon as the orders to report are received. It is his opinion that the orders will be received in a few days and that the company including Company B will be at Fort Harrison by the first of next week.

Newly ordained officers of the officers' training camp left at 1:25 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on a special car over the G. & I. for Louisville, Ky., where they will assume their new duties and prepare for the coming of the first conscript army.

At Lincoln School. Company B, signal corps, is safely housed at the Lincoln school, north of the city and on account of unfavorable weather no reports by means of flag signals could be conveyed to the city Tuesday morning.

Ice Cream Social Postponed. Members of the B. of B. club girls will give an ice cream social for the benefit of the Red Cross on Wednesday evening at Lakeside park, instead of Tuesday evening, on account of the rain.

Ordered to Report. Dr. Willis W. Carey, of 2525 South Calhoun street, has received orders to report for six weeks' training at John Hopkins university at Baltimore, Md. Dr. Carey was commissioned as a lieutenant in the medical reserve corps. The local physician will leave in the next week or ten days.

Sign Pay Roll.

Happy were the members of Company E, Tuesday morning. Their happiness consisted of two things. First, they did not have to drill, due to the unfavorable weather conditions and, secondly, they signed their first month's pay roll. It is not believed, however, that they will be paid in Fort Wayne.

WILL GET TRANSPORTATION.

The local recruiting office of the navy will remain open next Sunday to arrange transportation for men who are here awaiting orders, according to information received Tuesday by A. G. Kaftan, local recruiting officer. The navy is still in need of men contrary to the general opinion, according to Kaftan, and enlistment of men who have not yet been called up in the draft is asked. The services of cooks, bakers and radio men is especially desired.

AMERICAN EXPLORERS IN ANDES STILL SAFE

Having Hard Time and Yet Have Many Difficulties to Overcome.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—Anxiety of friends here for the safety of Daniel M. Wise and Bradley Jones, who were reported in a letter received in San Francisco, Sunday, as being in danger of death in a jungle in South America, has been relieved by a later letter which, though telling of hazardous adventures, expressed the hope that the two men would be able to push through the mountains to Peru to the coast.

Wise and Jones, it was learned today, set out on an expedition to South America on September 30, 1916, and are connected with the department of terrestrial magnetism of Carnegie institute of Washington, D. C., instead of the Carnegie institute of Pittsburgh, as previously reported. The later letter was mailed at Uchiza, Peru, and was written by Wise while they were on the river Quollague, a branch of the Amazon.

At the time of writing the party had not eaten bread for more than three weeks and had been subsisting on green bananas, either boiled or baked. A number of valuable scientific instruments and their entire supply of money was lost a few days before the letter was written when their canoe struck a snag and capsized.

To reach the coast, Wise wrote, they would have to cross two ranges of the Andes and pass through several belts where malignant fevers and diseases are common.

RAIL EQUIPMENT HAS BEEN SAVED FOR WAR SERVICE

Norfolk Va., Aug. 28.—President Harahan, of the Seaboard Air line, and chairman of the southeastern department of the railroads' war board, announced today that the roads in his department up to August 15, had eliminated 116 passenger train schedules as a part of the movement for increased efficiency in handling troops, ammunition, supplies and foodstuffs. This has resulted in releasing 91 locomotives and 426 men for other service, and will result in a coal saving of 233,754 tons a year. Permission has been asked of the corporation commissions of the various states for authority to discontinue thirty additional passenger trains.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Advance payments for supplies for the army and navy as yet undelivered, have been asked by contractors, and the treasury department is considering making such payments to enable the contractors to go ahead with their work. In most instances contractors are operating on insufficient capital to enable them to turn out supplies in the volume needed by the government.

CAN NOT KNT FOR SOLDIERS

Teachers Are Distracted from Institute Work, Says County Agent.

But Not While Sessions Are in Progress—Superintendent Ill.

Knitting socks for soldiers, tatting, or other war relief work pursuing now days, together with Red Cross and other philanthropic enterprises, may be all right in the right places, but they won't do for those attending sessions of the Allen County Teachers' institute, so County Agent A. J. Hutchins, who is substituting for County Superintendent D. O. McComb, told the assemblage Tuesday morning at the high school. The superintendent is ill and unable to attend the sessions of the institute.

The women were told that they would not allow anything to go on in the school room which would distract attention from school work and that it was not proper that anything of the sort should take place in the meetings of the institute, whereupon a small flurry of excitement ensued. One specimen of the work being done was held up for the teachers to view. Mr. Hutchins' idea was objected to strenuously in some quarters as not being in line with the spirit of the day in subordinating everything else to the importance of war work.

The high school auditorium was well filled for the second day's institute program despite the fact that the inclement weather kept many from attending. The rain worked a particular hardship on many who wished to attend from outside the city. Dr. Gordy's subject was "Some Suggestions on Recitation." He dwelt particularly on the importance of putting the personal touch in history teaching in fifth, sixth and seventh grades where it is often a case of mere memorization. He declared that inasmuch as history itself was made of men's lives that a more intimate relationship should be established between the pupils and the subject being studied.

Dean William F. Barr continued his subject of Monday with his talk on "School, Surveys and Their Lessons." Singing by the teachers under the direction of Prof. Stophor was one of the features of the day's program as was a mandolin solo, "Spring Song," from Mendelssohn, by Artemus Higgs.

Doris Sign Smith, daughter of Dr. J. S. Smith, was on the program for a recitation in the afternoon under the direction of Miss Philley, teacher of expression, who gave recitations from Burns.

Wednesday's program follows: Invocation.....Rev. J. A. Nipper "Testing Pupils and Teachers".....Dean Barr Music.....Prof. Stophor Mandolin Solo.....Artemus Higgs "Geography, the Physical Basis of History".....Dr. Gordy Afternoon. RAIN BRINGS SLUMP IN REGISTRATIONS

Less Than Forty Sign for City Vote on Tuesday Morning.

Ardor of citizens who would register for a ballot in the coming city election was dampened by the rainfall Tuesday morning. Less than forty had prepared for their votes at noon. Registering at the drug stores and other business points about the city, on Monday night, was also light in most sections.

Arrangements have been made for registration to be carried on at the following stores on Tuesday evening, between 7 and 9 o'clock:

Joe Hutzell drug store, 1402 West Main street.

Zimmerman drug store, Lewis and Lafayette.

Walke's drug store, 1936 Calhoun.

Otto Peters drug store, 2723 Broadway.

E. W. Brandt drug store, 1322 Broadway.

Geo. F. Miller drug store, 2156 Fairfield.

People's drug store, Clinton and Berry.

F. W. Meinzen drug store, 1394 Anthony boulevard.

Any day or evening:

Brookview Company Donates Strip of Seven Acres.

Seven acres of beautiful park land has been added to the city park property by a gift by the Brookview Realty company. The strip of wooded land extends from the point where Clinton street crosses Spy Run avenue and goes northwesterly through the entire Brookview addition, west of the Centlivre brewery.

The new park property was formally accepted for the city by the board of park commissioners in their Monday afternoon session. Members of the park board later took a tour of inspection over the new city property. They state that they believe it a most valuable addition to the city park system. The land is dotted with large trees and follows the winding course of the Spy Run creek. There are several natural "swimming" holes along the stream and a number of excellent sites for other bathing pools.

Deed for the land will be made within a week. It is stated that a similar gift is expected when the Centlivre park, north of the Brookview addition, is opened next year. If the gift is made the city will have a continuous strip of park ground from Lawton park to Vesey park.

COUNCIL HOPES TO SETTLE ON BUDGET

Garbage Question Will Be Principal Subject for Talk.

Council members hope to settle the matter of the city budget for 1918 at the regular session Tuesday night. The drawback to settling the financial topic for next year is the matter of garbage disposal. Councilmen expect to have a definite report which will allow them to cut down the garbage figures by $7,000.

It is understood by city officials that an efficiency expert on the matter of garbage reduction is on his way to the city and should be at the council session. The man is driving to Fort Wayne from Cleveland by automobile. He is expected in the city in time to meet members of the board of works and to aid in settling the contract between the city and the Fort Wayne Rendering company. If the expert is in the city on Tuesday evening he will probably be called upon to address the council members.

Mayor W. J. Hosey is expected to have something to say to the council. He wishes to urge upon the lawmakers that they should not lose sight of the value of establishing a piggery for curing for city garbage. He wants councilmen to save a part of the money to be gained by the rendering company contract, for the purchase of hogs for stocking a city farm, for using at least a part of the garbage.

Final plans for the approaches to the track elevation at Lafayette and Hanna

streets should be completed within a week, city officials have been told. Arrangements for drawing up the last prints, were discussed by officers of the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads on Monday afternoon, in the local offices of the Pennsylvania company.

Problems of working out plans for arranging network of tracks in the south yards was the main point of discussion. The Wabash and Pennsylvania trucks cross and recross each other many times in making the approach to the Lafayette street region. Simplifying the arrangement of the industrial courses is being prepared by the separate railroad corporations, who hope to have their prints ready within a week.

Timber Ordered. Timbers for the roof of the reservoir have been ordered, the board of works has been told. It is understood that the planks for covering the basin are to come from St. Louis. The lumber will be bought at a figure much above that signed for the original shipment of timbers, which have been taken by the government.

Leaders Return Home and Win Hitting Contest From Chiefs

Siegfried and Glocksion Both Get Credit for Circuit Smashes.

Grand Rapids, Aug. 22.—In a game in which both clubs had the upper hand frequently, Grand Rapids finally won out 9 to 5 and started the series of home games with a victory after being out for a long road trip. It was a contest featured by some heavy hitting on both sides. Siegfried got in some big stick work for the Chiefs, knocking out on circuit smash and at another time a three-base swat.

Faeth had his hands full from the very start, and being hit by three strong, the Chiefs had put over three markers, and it looked like a disastrous proposition for the home outfit. Glocksion booted a costly one, however, which resulted in four runs being scored against the Chiefs which seemed to take the heart out of them, and from that juncture the league leaders had things pretty well in their own hands.

In the second inning Siegfried connected with one of Faeth's offerings for his long one which, with the aid of a strong wind, was carried over the centerfield fence. Kelly tripled to center and scored on Vandagriff's hit.

In one big inning the Michigananders took things into their own hands and did some scoring. Jantzen and the Chiefs to recuperate. Jantzen and the Chiefs to recuperate. Jantzen and the Chiefs to recuperate.

Grand Rapids scored three more runs in the seventh when they hammered out five hits and added by some slow fielding, practically put the game out of reach of the Chiefs. The Fort Wayne score was augmented by one more run in the eighth when Glocksion gave the pill a mighty slash which sent him around the four bags for a circuit drive. As in Siegfried's homer, the ball went over the short fence.

WESTERN METEOR BURNS UP COURTS IN NATIONAL PATRIOTIC TENNIS SINGLES

John R. Strachan, who is burning a meteor-like career across the eastern courts may bring back to California the tennis honors taken from the westerners by R. Norris Williams, national champion of 1916, eliminated from the 1917 championship by N. W. Niles of Boston.

Strachan possesses the bullet speed of Maurice McLoughlin, although he is not so rugged as the great Californian.

The coast star was practically unknown in the east until his invasion this year in which he has been particularly successful.

Hard-Hitting Fort Wayne Boy, Member of Battery D, Passes Examinations for Officers' Reserve and Will Try for the Shoulder Straps.

He will be well remembered by local fight fans.

Corporal Klenke was born on August 21, 1893, and was educated at the Concordia parochial school, International Business college and the International Correspondence school. He enlisted in Battery D, First Indiana Field Artillery, April 9, 1917. He was made corporal on June 8 and has been selected for admission to the second officers' reserve training camp.

Klenke was the only one selected from the Fort Wayne batteries. He passed three examinations, two physical tests and one mental. The first physical examination was very strict. The second was before a colonel, majors, captains and their assistants. The third examination was the same as the first, but by different doctors who checked the first doctor's report.

Klenke has fought in nearly every city in the central states and has a good record as a fighter throughout the country. He was handicapped on account of weight, being too heavy for a lightweight and too small for a middleweight.

Welterweight, the class under which he would come, doesn't pay much money. In order to get in the money, however, Klenke weighing 141 to 145 pounds in condition, has fought several middleweights and has always given a good account of himself. He was never knocked out in his life and has only lost two newspaper decisions, which were against much heavier men than himself. He was never whipped by any man his weight.

Klenke is a lad that realizes that his future depends upon the next three months and he will without a doubt take advantage of this opportunity.

Six Pitchers Used.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 22.—Washington won a heavy hitting contest from Cleveland here yesterday 11 to 9 after each club had used three pitchers. Johnson got credit for the Senators' win after going in to pitch in the fifth inning. Morton's ineffectiveness caused Cleveland's defeat. The score: Washington 0 3 3 0 1 3 0 0—11 Cleveland 1 1 2 0 4 0 0 1—9

Bill Donovan is carrying six pitchers on the road now instead of ten. He probably could do as well with two as he has been doing with ten if they were pitchers.

Joe Bush has kicked himself out of baseball says Mack. "I wouldn't call it baseball," retorts Joe. "Take your choice."

Joe Wood has refused to accept any salary from the Indians. Which, considering everything, is about what he was worth to the club this year.

Detroit is the strongest club in the American league, says a contem. But they pay off to the club which is out there ahead.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The Chicago White Sox pennant stock went up a few points as a result of the defeat of New York here yesterday 3 to 0 and the defeat of the Red Sox at the hands of the Detroit Tigers.

Yesterday's win put the pale hose in the clear by a margin of three games and a few of the fans around the Windy City whose nerves have been at high tension for days are beginning to breathe a little easier. Shawkey's blowup in the eighth round gave the game to the Sox although they had plenty of chances to score earlier in the game had it not been for slow base running. White Sox Have Nerve But Fault is Carelessness

Have Played Best Ball of the Season Without Weaver.

By PAUL PUHMAN.

The White Sox should win the American league pennant.

Predictions at this time are confronted by pitfalls and snares for the unwary and the Red Sox are not out of the race by a whole lot.

But right now the White Sox look like the winning club, the club which will be able to keep out in the lead unless the breaks are too tough to overcome.

I have watched both clubs during the last invasion of the eastern teams and the White Sox have consistently refuted the most serious charge made against them—that they haven't the nerve in the pinch.

I have heard the charge made by ball players on other clubs and then seen the Sox go out and win games against these same players when the odds seemed hopelessly against them.

The most serious charge that can be made against the White Sox is that they are inclined to be careless.

If they lose to Boston it will be on account of this fault.

Twice this season the Sox have been forced out of first place.

Once this occurred when the club was playing away from home and at Boston at that.

If the White Sox had not been a nervy club it would never have pulled out of that hole.

Again they fell behind at home, with the Red Sox looming up as their next adversaries. They won the games they needed and climbed into the lead.

The White Sox have the nerve. They have played the best ball of the season with Duck Weaver, one of the best, if not the best, third basemen in the business, absent from the lineup.

If the Sox did not have nerve the teamwork would have suffered when Weaver broke his finger.

The White Sox have fewer games to play than Boston, otherwise the schedule of one is about as difficult as that of the other.

These two teams must clash once again, the next time at Boston.

It may be that the pennant race will be decided then, but it is more likely that the White Sox will go into that series with a big enough lead that that series will not be considered "crucial."

The Red Sox have been known as an aggregation which would win when it had to win.

While this has been true this year to a certain extent, the White Sox have also been able to win when they had to and have prevented the Red Sox from winning when the games meant the White Sox would skid into second place.

There is no yellow streak in the White Sox; they should win.

IMPROVED CONDITION

IMPROVED CONDITION BRINGS HIGH PRAISE FOR IRONATED HERBS WITH PEPSIN.

People in nearly every line of business are daily praising Ironated Herbs with Pepsin and telling of the great benefit which they have derived from its use. Among those who have made statements in regard to the new preparation is R. L. Brickey, proprietor and manager of the Dooxy Hotel, Anderson, Ind. Mr. Brickey said:

"Ironated Herbs with Pepsin means a great deal to me, for I really believe this new medicine has kept me from being a real sick man. Before I began taking Ironated Herbs, I suffered with severe stomach trouble. In fact, I was all run down and very weak. I hardly felt that I had strength enough to tend to my business at times. My appetite was poor and my food did not seem to give me the proper nourishment. I did not sleep well and when I got up in the morning, I felt just as tired as if I had not been to bed at all.

"I heard about Ironated Herbs through a friend of mine who had taken it for a similar trouble and obtained fine results. Taking my friend's advice, I bought a bottle of Ironated Herbs with Pepsin and began taking it. Now I feel like a new man. My appetite has improved and I seem to feel fresh and ready for a good day's work. I can surely recommend Ironated Herbs to anyone who is suffering as I was and will be glad to tell everyone who asks me, what a great remedy it is."

"Ironated Herbs with Pepsin (liquid form), that did so much to improve the health of Mr. Brickey, is daily bringing new strength and vigor to nervous, run down men and women, puts good red blood in the veins. The organic iron which it contains, bringing strength and vitality, the pepsin aids digestion and the herbs tone up the liver.—Advertisement.

THE ALASKA FASHION MIGHT WORK WITH DEADBEATS FARTHER SOUTH

Chief Sennechart of the Thlinkets.

(Staff Special.)

Sitka, Alaska, Aug. 28.—Here's a hunch from a big Thlinket Indian chief on how to get even with your enemies. The chief and his tribesmen had just finished building a handsome war canoe. Hollowed it from a gigantic log, patiently, laboriously. It had been painted with grotesque designs, indicative of the Thlinkets' prowess in battle, their wisdom and their general excellence over all other folks.

And then Sennechart, the accused southwest wind, came howling in from the Pacific. In a moment it had piled the splendid war canoe up on the rocky beach, smashing it to kindling. A frightful hate lashed the old chief. Terrible vengeance shook him. He would put an everlasting curse upon the southwest wind.

And so he got even by assuming the name Sennechart.

Today when it comes stealing in to spoil man's handiwork, to pile ships on the reef, the wind advertises its own shame. Men jeer at it. Women spit in its teeth. Children do not fear it. For it is a nameless wind.

Do you get the idea? Here's how it works in a human way:

Among the Thlinkets a debt is a sacred obligation. Failure to repay is blackest disgrace.

Occasionally, however, a father cannot discharge an obligation. Then his son assumes it—his son's son, if need be. But even so there are occasions when a debt remains unpaid.

Then the aggrieved Thlinket takes upon himself the name of his creditor, so that all men may know the latter's shame. It is a terrible thing among the tribe thus to lose one's identity.

No wonder the southwest wind yammers unendingly for Sennechart to lift his subtle curse. It can never repay him for his war canoe.

ONE MAN APPEALS TO THE PRESIDENT

C. Guy Crowell, of Whitley County, Claims Exemption on Agricultural Grounds

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, Aug. 28.—The Whitley county exemption board was busy Monday working on the names of those discharged for physical reasons during the draft examinations made last week. Although the local board has received no instructions to the following effect, it is not believed the letter of President Wilson to Secretary of War Baker, regarding exemption of married men with no children will have any effect on the local certification to the district board, in view of the fact that the local board, in certifying married men made allowance for married men whose wives would be thrown upon charity in case their husbands were called. Of the two young men certified to the state conscription agent from Whitley county, so far C. Guy Crowell, who was married last spring, and resides with his father, Henry Crowell, near Raber, has petitioned to the president of the United States to obtain exemption on agricultural grounds. The district board at Fort Wayne recently turned down his petition filed with them.

GARFIELD, COAL HEAD, HAS PUNCH AND WILL NEED IT

He's Square-Jawed, But Coal Baron's Opposition Will Be More Concentrated Than Food Hogs'—Don't Expect Sudden Drop in Prices at Once.

(Staff Special.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—Dr. Harry A. Garfield, who made good as chairman of the president's special wheat price committee and now has taken the reins as federal coal administrator, is a square-jawed man who looks physically able to take care of himself in any sort of scrap.

Further, he radiates personality. Before you have spoken with him you know behind the clear eyes and expressive mouth is a mind as vigorous as his body.

The outstanding impression Garfield leaves is of vigor, decision and fairness. It would be a waste of time to attempt to mislead him. If he didn't already know the facts he would find them out.

These assets will stand Garfield in good stead as coal administrator. For the coal barons' opposition will be more concentrated and hostile than Hoover has found in food administration.

Garfield is 54, but looks like a man in his early forties. He is the eldest son of former President Garfield. Although a lawyer by profession, he has spent most of his life as an educator. He has been professor of law and politics in Western Reserve and Princeton universities, respectively, and president of Williams college since 1908.

Walking and tennis are his two chief recreations, and he sets a fast pace in both.

During the day, while at work, Garfield never smokes. After dinner at night, when he relaxes, he does little else. He smokes a highly vegetarian brand of cigar, guaranteed not to affect the nerves, and burns one after another from dinner-time to bedtime.

In Washington, Garfield is living as one of the official family of Herbert Hoover at Hoover's residence on Sixteenth street. Hoover is a connoisseur of cigars. For several weeks he dogged sampling any of Garfield's cigars, urged upon him almost nightly. Finally he consented to try one.

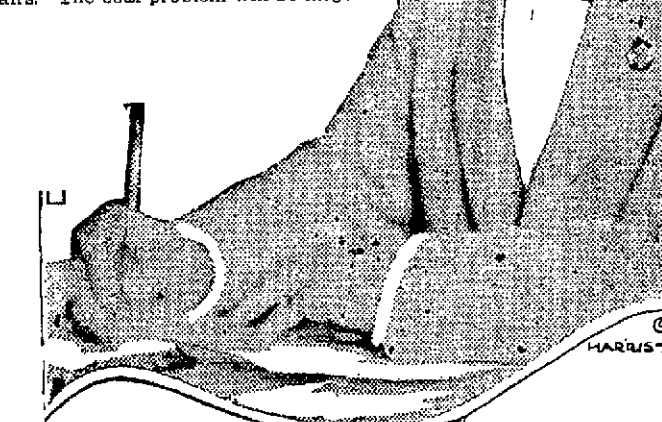

"They won't do you any harm," Garfield urged.

"No; and I doubt they'll do me any good," Hoover said.

He lighted one, took a few puffs and silently withdrew. When he returned he had dropped Garfield's cigar overboard.

Garfield's experience as a lawyer and as the administrative head of a big college has given him a practical as well as theoretical insight into affairs. The coal problem will be largely economic, and economics have been his specialty.

President Wilson has demonstrated that a college head may be a man of action as well as of theories, and Garfield has much the same type of mind.

As coal administrator he will work in close touch with the federal trade commission to give the consumer relief. That is the only program. It is general. The thousand complicated details will be worked out as they are reached.

Judge Lovett's priority board order that all coal in the Ohio and adjacent fields be given right-of-way to the lake ports and up the lakes is an example of the method to be employed.

A lot of people who expect the price on their stove coal to drop from $9 to $2, and even business men who buy in large quantities, will be disappointed in the immediate effects.

The $2 price is intended to affect the floating coal and, by eliminating undue speculation, make it possible for those who have not contracted and buy in small quantities to meet their needs without being lured.

The two-dollar mine price will not necessarily affect the retailer. Many retailers are merely subsidiary corporations controlled by larger corporations which own the mines. The railroads are also interlocked with such coal companies. The two-dollar price is merely a point of departure at which the wholesaler begins to reckon his retail profit, for he is also the retailer.

If the two-dollar mine price becomes extortionate at the stove or furnace of the consumer, there is ample power in the law to find out where the profiteering comes in and check it.

Coal Controller Garfield probably will begin by putting his finger on points of congestion and undertaking their relief. If this does not work, there are other remedies.

CHINA OFFERING LARGE ARMY TO ASSIST ALLIES

Peking, Thursday, Aug. 23.—(Delayed)—Generals Lo Pei-Ching, Lung Chi-Kwang and Ku Chin-Tan, commanding 60,000 troops of Yunnan, Kwei-Chow and Kwang-Tung provinces, have offered forces for service in Europe. The provisional governors of Yunnan and Kwang-Tung have given official recognition of Peking's declaration of war against Germany, apparently having been reconciled to the government of the acting president, Gen. Feng Kow Chang. The hostile movement in the southern provinces is now plainly a fiasco. Eighteen provinces have approved the program for a national council, which probably will be established within a fortnight. The press generally is urging China to present an undivided front to the enemy.

HE ATTACKS FOUR HOSTILE PLANES AND SAVES LIFE

Somewhere on the French Front, Sunday, Aug. 26.—Lieut. Raoul Lufbery, of the Lafayette escadrille, saved his colleague in a patrol fight, Sergt. Robert Soubrian, of South Boston, from probable death today, when Soubrian was suddenly attacked by four German machines of the Albatross type while he was flying at a low altitude. The German machines were over Soubrian, attempting to down him, when Lufbery, seeing his companion's plight, darted at the enemy aviators, scattering them and allowing Soubrian to escape. Lieutenant Lufbery was warmly praised by the officers and men of the command for his bravery in attacking single-handed four enemy machines.

AUTO BANDITS CLEAN UP A LARGE PAYROLL

Chicago Desperadoes Kill Two Men and Get Away With $8,000.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 28.—Two men carrying $8,100, the pay roll of the Winslow Brothers Iron works, were shot to death in front of the plant today by five bandits who escaped with the money in an automobile.

Louis Oesenberg and Barton Allen, the slain pay roll messengers, were returning from a bank in an automobile. As they stopped in front of the entrance of the iron works a car containing the robbers drew up. Three of the bandits leaped from the machine and opened fire with revolvers. Oesenberg and Allen fell with bullets in their heads. The bandits fired more than twenty shots. A score of persons witnessed the killing.

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 28.—The Greek steamship Nea-Ellas, a vessel of 3,517 tons gross register, which left Baltimore May 20 with a cargo of grain for Italy, was sunk June 9 in the Mediterranean by a German submarine, according to William White, a member of the crew who arrived here today on a French steamer. No lives were lost, White said, the ship being sunk by gunfire after the crew had taken to lifeboats. They were picked up by a French cruiser and landed at Saloniki.

SENATE HAS WAR TAX UP

LaFollette Has Amendments for Profits Rate from 76 Per Cent Down.

Senator Weeks Discusses the Tax on Publishing Business.

Washington, Aug. 28.—In resuming consideration today of postage sections of the war tax bill, the senate by a vote of 39 to 29 struck out the provision levying a one cent tax on letters and postcards designed to raise $50,000,000 in revenue. A provision giving American soldiers and sailors abroad the privilege of mailing letters free was retained.

Eight amendments to the war tax bill, providing levies and war profits ranging from 76 down to 48 per cent, were introduced today by Senator LaFollette.

The entire section levying taxes on first class mail was eliminated on motion of Senator Hardwick, of Georgia. The senate then proceeded to the periodical tax provisions.

Senator Smoot announced that he would seek later to reconsider elimination of the letter tax section.

Senator LaFollette said he would first offer the amendment for the highest—76 per cent rate, and if it was rejected would ask consideration of the next in order until one was accepted. The bill as it now stands would make an average tax of 26 per cent.

Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, opened debate on the publishers' tax, advocating their elimination. He charged rejection of the Hardwick and McKellar substitutes.

"Nobody denies that second-class mail is carried at a loss. But whose fault is it? Congress established and maintained the rates. This is a most inopportune time to punish—not tax—the publishers. Having permitted a great business to be developed under this condition is it fair or reasonable to take the time when the industry is laboring under the heaviest possible burdens to commence to change it?"

OFFICERS ARE ASKED TO JOIN IN CHORUS

"Sing Fruit Drying Wherever You Go," They Are Told.

Fort Wayne health officers have been asked to join the crusade for the inducing of housewives to dry fruits and vegetables.

"Sing the song of conversation everywhere you go," requests the bulletin from the United States department of agriculture, which was delivered at the health board office, Monday.

"Whenever you visit a home tell the housewife the following pointers, which she ought to know," instructs the federal bulletin.

The pointers which wives ought to know are as follows:

"There is no difficulty about home drying fruits and vegetables. Sun drying of fruit was a common enough home industry a few years ago.

"A few homemade shallow trays and a little mosquito netting are all you need for sun drying.

"A few trays bent out of coarse wire netting and fitted like removable shelves into a lath frame are all you need to dry over your range or gas stove or before an electric fan.

"Yes. There have been recent improvements in grandmother's successful method. It has been found that currents of air are better than heat in removing surplus water.

"Water is all that is taken out; flavor, texture and food value are not impaired. Soaking and cooking restore the succulent quality so important in the winter diet.

"Dried products can be kept in paper containers."

Hundreds of tons of peach and apricot seeds, which have been thrown away every season heretofore by the canning factories in the great fruit districts of California, are now sold as fuel and bring $2.50 a ton retail. Formerly the seeds were considered too hard for fuel, but recently it was found that when heated in a stove burning hard coal they soon pop open and ignite, after which they burn with an intense glow like that of anthracite, and are practically smokeless, besides holding a fire well.—Popular Mechanic.

entente allies. M. Pachitch had before him the formal pronouncement of this state—a sort of declaration of independence—which had been agreed on after lengthy councils between the various ministers, the president of the Serbian parliament, the king and regent now at Saloniki and all the other elements affected.

What New Nation Will Embrace.

M. Pachitch first took a large map of the Balkans and pointed out the sweep of territory included in this new Slav kingdom.

"It embraces," he said, "the territory over which the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes are distributed through the western Balkans. They are all essentially one race, with one language, which has been kept broken into small groups by the political policy of Austria-Hungary. We now propose to bring these scattered groups together again and give them a democratic government based on the noble principles defined by the United States.

Pointing to the map M. Pachitch drew a large circle to include Serbia, Montenegro, Bosnia, Herzegovina, Dalmatia, Croatia, Slavonia and the eastern part of Istria, back of Trieste, where the Italians are heading.

These together make an imposing area—double or triple Spain or any of the secondary powers of like area of population and approximate size of the great powers. It would be a great sea power as well and the premier pointed with satisfaction to the long sea front on the Adriatic, giving access thence to the Mediterranean, the Atlantic and the commerce of the world.

Now Mass of Rivalries.

This is the country which Austria has long split into little rival communities, trusting that their internal discords would keep them from uniting. "Here we propose to establish a united Slav nation," M. Pachitch went on "with a government having these essential points: A monarchy based on democracy and the rights of the people to be consulted; with a constitutional system; a parliament and a responsible ministry. Elections will be by universal and equal suffrage, secret ballot. All titles of nobility, baron, count, etc., will be abolished. The ancient form of a monarchy is retained in deference to tradition and in recognition of the ancient service of the Karageorgievich dynasty, which will be at the head of the new state. Complete freedom of religion will be guaranteed. While there will be but one king for the united nation, yet each state, Croatia, Dalmatia, etc., will be autonomous and self governing on

ous sections of the socialist and labor parties. The conference is to consult and if possible agree on the policy to be followed in regard to the international socialist conference at Stockholm. If it proves to be impossible to reach an agreement the various sections will put forward their own views at Stockholm.

The chief subject for consideration by the conference, however, is the war aims of the allies. A report on the matter has been drawn up by the executive committee of the British labor party, as well as by the French labor party and an effort will be made to reach an agreement.

The sessions of the conference will be private. Reports of each day's proceedings will be issued.

would be discussed at today's cabinet meeting and that the government has by this time had the advantage of knowing what replies would be made by the entente allies. There is no change, however, in the opinion that Pope Benedict's proposals offer nothing to proceed on while Germany assumes the role of victor.

EMBARGO TO WARD NATION

President Lays Restraint of Universal Kind on Export Trade.

FROM OPERATION

Executive Order Designed to Save All Resources
for the War.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—Sweeping embargo to all the world, designed to give the United States absolute control of its exports for the period of the war has been proclaimed by President Wilson.

The embargo order absolutely prohibits after August 30 the export of all articles of commerce to enemy and neutral countries. It is planned to look after the needs of neutrals by licensed exportations in so far as the United States can do so after caring for its needs and those of its allies at war against the central powers.

A separate list of commodities includes additions to the original embargo order of July 9, which shall be withheld from all nations, allied and friendly countries included, except under licensed shipments. In this list is included fats of all kinds, other foods, construction materials and other articles necessary to the successful prosecution of the war by this government.

Seeks to Conserve Gold.
The problem of conserving the huge store of gold accumulated by the United States since 1914 is believed to have been met in part by the addition of gold, bullion, currency, and evidences of indebtedness to the list of commodities requiring licenses for export to European countries.

Regulations for the licensing will be promulgated by the secretary of the treasury and enforcement probably will be placed in the hands of treasury employees.

The effect of restriction on gold exports, it is believed, will be to depress still further, temporarily at least, the value of the dollar in international exchange, especially in the neutral countries of Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland, Spain and Switzerland, where foreign exchange is against American money.

Low Value Mystifies.
Reasons for the comparatively low value of the dollar in these money markets have not been explained entirely to the satisfaction of officials here by the ordinary balance of trade. In the case of Spain the balance of trade is in favor of the United States, yet the exchange rate is heavily in favor of the Spanish peseta.

While the total gold exported to Spain has not been great, it has been sufficiently large to cause an inquiry by officials into the situation and close scrutiny of all transactions involving the shipment of gold to that country.

British and other allied officials have been working with treasury and federal reserve board heads for some time past to devise a method of conserving the American gold supply. Japan, which is withdrawing gold from this country in large shipments from San Francisco, had not been a party to these conferences in the past, but with the arrival here of the Japanese mission it is understood steps were taken to include its representatives in the informal discussions.

The President's Explanation.
In a statement accompanying the drastic order President Wilson makes it plain that the embargo is not an absolute prohibition against exports. The president says:

"The purpose and effect of this proclamation is not export prohibition but merely export control. It is not the intention to interfere unnecessarily with our foreign trade, but our own domestic needs must be adequately safeguarded and there is the added duty of meeting the necessities of all the nations at war with the imperial German government."

"After these needs are met it is not wish and intention to minister to the needs of the neutral nations as far as our own resources permit. This task will be discharged without other than the very proper qualification that the liberation of our surplus products shall not be made the occasion of benefit to the enemy, either directly or indirectly."

Control All Articles.
"The two lists have been prepared in the interests of facility and expediency. The first list, applicable to the enemy and his allies, and to the neutral countries of Europe, brings under control practically all articles of commerce, while the second list, applicable to all the other countries of the world, makes only a few additions to the list of commodities controlled by the proclamation of July 9, 1917. It is obvious that a closer supervision and control of exports is necessary with respect to these European neutrals within the sphere of hostilities than is required for those countries farther removed."

"The establishment of these distinctions will simplify the administrative processes and enable us to continue our policy of minimizing the interruption of trade."

"No licenses will be necessary for the exportation of coin, bullion, currency and evidences of indebtedness until required by regulations to be promulgated by the secretary of the treasury in his discretion."

MAX RETURN TO STUDIES.
Boston, Aug. 23.—A department of the navy ruling permitting college students who enlisted in the naval reserve to return to their studies in the fall was received at the navy yard today. Upon written request of parents and college authorities these men may be placed on the inactive list, subject, however, to call in case of emergency.

by a group of scientific geniuses who have toiled at it unrelentingly for many months. It is being applied by the allied naval officers and men in the fighting ships, principally destroyers, in a manner which is increasingly effective.

When the history of the greatest of all wars is written, not the least important or thrilling chapter will be the one which will tell how a group of American scientists accepted the challenge of the German admiralty and in the face of obstacles which at times seemed insurmountable won the combat.

It is not permissible, for reasons that are obvious, to go into details as to the character of the anti-submarine device which has been developed and which is very rapidly attaining greater and greater perfection. It may be said, however, that its development is beyond the theory or laboratory stage, and that it is being tested and its effectiveness proved every day in the great submarine hunt which has now spread over every sea where the submarines operate.

No submarine, submerged or on the surface, can approach within striking distance of any ship outfitted with this apparatus without its presence and location being known. It is only the question of a short time when every naval vessel engaged in the submarine hunt will be so outfitted.

This does not mean that from now on the submarine will not continue to take a great toll of shipping, or that at any time in the near future the torpedoing of ships will absolutely stop. In other words, the apparatus or device or method, or whatever name we call it, will never be 100 per cent effective.

But even the least scientific or strategically minded layman can understand what a long step has been taken toward eliminating the submarine as a vital factor in the war when he realizes that once a destroyer "gets in touch" with a submarine it can keep in "touch" until the submarine rises. And every submarine must rise at intervals to change its electric batteries.

No submarine is a match for a destroyer in a surface fight.

There have been more surface fights between destroyers and submarines during the past month than in any month since the submarine war started. And there are certain to be more and more of these fights, the number increasing in direct proportion to the number of destroyers fitted with the "ears" that not only will enable them to hear the submarines, but to know exactly where they are.

By no possibility can the Germans build enough submarines or build them powerful enough to keep on equal terms with the great and powerful allied destroyer fleets now on the oceans, under construction or projected.

It would not be permissible even to hint at the size of these destroyer fleets, if we had the figures; but it may be said that if the war continues for another year, the submarine zones, so-called, will be covered with powerfully armed destroyers capable of express train speed, against which the submarine's ability to submerge will be a defense only while it is submerged.

When it rises to "breathe," as it must sooner or later, it will in most cases be in range of a five-inch destroyer gun. Behind these guns will be the best naval marksmen in the world, all specially trained to "get" submarines.

Unless every naval officer who has studied the submarine problem is absolutely wrong in his calculations, long before another year rolls around the American, British, French and Japanese destroyers will have taken such a terrible toll of German submarines that the loss of tonnage by torpedoing will have been reduced to a point where it will not equal the new tonnage built.

When that point is reached the submarine, while it may continue to be an annoyance or even a danger, will cease to be such a menace as to jeopardize the cause of the allies.

The knowledge that a device and a method of defeating the submarines have been worked out has greatly heartened all allied statesmen and military leaders.

It has spurred them on to greater activity in the building of both destroyers and merchant ships. They realize that the German autocrats' control over the German people has depended latterly upon the seeming success of the submarine.

Starving England with the submarines has been the great and last hope of the German people. This is the hope that has sustained them through all the bitter trials of the past six months.

The sooner it is proven to them that the submarine is doomed the sooner they will break under the terrific strain and sooner they will admit defeat and make possible the ending of the war which can end in no other way.

RUMANIAN EITHER HURT OR GOOD ACTOR

Police Alarmed by State of Man Attacked by Countrymen.

John Glizer, 40, either suffers excruciating pains from injuries inflicted by his fellow Rumanians, or he is a talented actor. His manner lead the police to think that he was dying Tuesday morning, and he was rushed from the city jail to the St. Joseph hospital.

Dr. Frank Dinnen, in charge of the case insists that the man is not hurt beyond severe bruises and that his action is probably to escape incarceration. The physician states that the man will cry from pain when one part of his anatomy is touched at times, and will later shift the seat of pain to another part of his body.

Glizer speaks eleven languages, namely Hungarian, Rumanian, Slavic, Serbian, Bulgarian, Dalmatian, Bohemian, Croatian, Polish, English and German. He states that he was attacked by four Rumanians when he was in his room on Holman street, Monday night. He says the men knocked him down and kicked him. He was apparently in a weakened state when the police entered his room in answer to a call from the landlord of the house.

The man was taken to the hospital where Dr. Dinnen ordered him locked in jail on a drunk charge. Glizer was unable to be seated when brought from his cell in the city jail, Tuesday morning, and his attitude lead the police to think that he was about to die. He was returned to the hospital where the physician again announced that his injuries are not serious.

NO LICENSE HERE.

Fay Albert Buchanan and Bessie Schlegel Probably in Michigan.

Relatives have received no word from Miss Bessie Schlegel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Cloud, 1441 Hevustis avenue, and Fay Albert Buchanan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Buchanan, 639 Anderson avenue, whom it is thought have gone to Michigan, where they were married. The parents have not been advised of their marriage, however.

The license was not issued here because of the bride's age. She had been employed at the plant of the General Electric company until a few weeks ago and Mr. Buchanan holds an option with the Rustetter Manufacturing company. Stories printed in Fort Wayne newspapers of their marriage in Fort Wayne last Saturday are not true, the newspapers having been imposed upon.

—Are either hip length or longer, the skirts scater in fullness, and add but little, if any, in length. Most of the models for early fall wear are made without fur, although the more elaborate ones are fur-trimmed.

The materials most used are Silverton, a deep pile fabric with a silver thread commingling with the dark colors; reindeer, a wonderfully soft, smooth weave, and suede cloth, a woolen well described by its name. The most popular of the season's colors are beetroot and Pekin blue, closely followed by lovely browns, such as clove, rose taupe, beaver, nutria and army brown.

—Starting at $22.95, prices range upward to $200.00.

THE NEW COATS

—In the new Coats one finds fullness without flare, richness in fabric and color and as to line—a return to a sort of Moyer age or diametrically opposite a short bodice line. One may choose a straight loose model, or select a style made swaggy by its belt.

The materials are wonderful bolivias, new suede cloth, chamois cloth and exquisitely soft velours in beautiful tones.

The New Dresses

—Serge, satin and debarmeuse are the "rule of three" by which leading designers interpret the fashion in early Fall street dresses.

Manifold rows of flat, shiny braid are much in favor, and one particularly clever frock is of navy serge, crossed with half-inch silk braid over the entire garment.

White satin vests and collars serve to relieve the sombre navy and black in many instances.

Vari-colored embroidery is as popular as ever, and applied in many unique ways. Skirts are straight and simple—or pleated and draped as one may choose.

Starting at $20.00 prices range upward to $100.00.
